AMERICA.

We have not yet received any authentic account of the steps taken by the legislature of America with respect to Spain, France, or Great-Britain, but we entertain little doubt of the amicable adjustment of the present differences between our ancient colonies and the parent state. The illustrious statesmen we have now at the helm of affairs, have taken the most effectual steps to accomplish this happy end. An order, as we stated in our last, is said to have been issued to discharge all American subjects from our ships. This measure is in the true spirit of an enlightened and dignified policy; and we cannot doubt, but those ministers who have thus promptly done away the injustice and oppression complained of by the Americans, will maintain with becoming firmness, the maratime rights of their own countrymen. Mr. Monroe, the American minister at our court, has already had several conferences with the new administration, relative to the matters in dispute between the two countries, which connected with the above mentioned order, and the appointment of the earl of Selkirk, as ambassador to the United States, leaves no room to doubt of the speedy establishment of perfect harmony between the two nations, on the solid basis of mutual interest, sound policy, and renovated friendship.

ARRIVAL OF A FLAG OF TRUCE.

COURIER OFFICE, Three o'clock.

We stop the press to communicate the following letter, which we have just received by express from Dover:

"Dover, half past eight A. M. Wednesday.

"This morning about six o'clock, a French boat appeared in sight, as a flag of truce.

"There was so little wind that she could not fetch in, and a frigate coming round the Foreland, apparently for the purpose, the galley put off from her with a French naval officer and two other gentlemen; They rowed on board the frigate, and are gone to the admiral in the Downs. They are supposed to be bearers of a pacific proposal to our government."

The French have suddenly taken possession of Nuremberg.

The Austrian ambassador at Petersburg, has been ordered to declare, that the treaty of Presburg contains no secret articles.

The king of Sweden has been formally released by Great-Britain and Russia, from his engagements to occupy the country of Lauenberg.

An article from Wesel, March 8, states, "According to a plan mentioned in a Prussian Journal, printed in Franconia, Swedish Pomerania, Brunswick, of Lunenburg, and Hanover, are to be ceded to Prussia. As an indemnification to the duke of Brunswick, he is to receive a considerable part of Westphalia; and the remainder is to go to Hesse Darmstadt, in exchange for his possessions on the Main. Two princes, it is added, and the prince of Orange Fulda, are to be made sovereign electors; and the elector of Hesse, in consideration for 8,000,000, is to receive a very considerable increase of territory, and the title of king, &c."

Dispatches were received this morning from lord Collingwood and admiral Thornborough. They were both well. The Rochefort squadron remains in port, but is quite ready for sea.

MUNICH, February 25.

Every thing here is in a state of the most active vigilance, and important events are expected. Probably the destiny of Wurtzburg will be again changed.

HANAU, March 1.

General Lamarque, and other French generals, are ordered from Germany, to join the expedition against Sicily.

STRASBURG, Feb. 28.

Yesterday the Electoral prince of Baden passed through this city, accompanied by the state referendary Kluder and colonel Roder, on his way to Paris, where he is to be married to the adopted daughter of the emperor Napoleon.

It is said the minister Talleyrand will be advanced to the dignity of a prince.

VENICE, Fed. 15.

By a decree of our viceroy, Istria will in future form the 8th province of the Venetian state. A hundred thousand livers have been assigned for draining the marshes near Capo d'Istria. It has been reported at Genoa, that a part of the Brest fleet has arrived at Carthagena.

HAGUA, March 1.

Since the restoration of peace on the continent our government has been required by the emperor Napoleon, to co-operate with all its force in carrying on the maritime war, and admiral Verhuel is to concert with his imperial majesty, measures necessary for that purpose. The mission of that admiral has likewise a relation to several other important objects, as the indemnities promised to our republic, &c.

Rear-admiral Dekker, who was condemned to death, has been pardoned with respect to his life, but some other punishment will be inflicted by the council of war.

PLYMOUTH, March 15.

Sailed this morning, the Hibernia, of 110 guns, admiral earl St. Vincent, and the Ville de Paris, of 110 guns. His lordship is to take command of the Channel fleet.

CHARLESTON, April 25.

GEN. MIRANDA.

Captain Edes, arrived this morning from Barbados, informs us, that an express-boat from Trinidad, brought accounts two days before he sailed, that general Miranda had effected a landing at Barcelona, on the Spanish Main. It was further stated, that he had been joined by two British frigates. This intelligence had excited considerable interest at Barbados. Reports fixed Miranda's force from three to five hundred men.

The British outward-bound Jamaica fleet, consisting of eighty-four sail, under convoy, had touched at Barbados, and sailed again, several days before capt. Edes left that port. The British admiral had called in all the armed vessels on that station; his reasons were not known.

April 26.

Capt. Fuller, of the Betsy and Sally, arrived last evening in 49 days from Bordeaux, has politely favored us with a file of the "Journal du Commerce," to the 2d March, printed at Bordeaux.

To capt. Clark, (late of the ship Three Sisters, of this port) who is a passenger on board the Betsy and Sally, we are indebted for a file of the Paris "Argus.

These papers furnish us with nothing of importance. Extracts shall be given on Monday.

The Argus of the 22d February, concludes some speculations on the existing situation of Europe, in the following manner:—"If the war be still protracted between France and England, it will not be ascribed to the dispotism of that power who, always attacked the first, always victorious, has left monarchies so powerful, which she might have subjected to whatever laws she pleased; who has so loudly declared that she was determined to restore to all nations the liberty of the seas, their common property; the enjoyment of their neutral substance; the developement of their industry, and the equality of commercial rights. The emperor of the French can no longer acknowledge the maritime dominion which they still strive to represent as necessary to the existence; and hence the natural right, of England. It would be he who would undergo an abject submission; if after so much labor and glory, he should be unable to accomplish the solemn promise he has made to his people."

Arrived, ship Comet, Hart, Baltimore, 10 days; British ship George, Irvin, Angola, 53, J. Watson & Co. 253 slaves; brig Commerce, Sisson, Barbados, 27, master, 103 new negroes; brig Betsy and Sally, Fuller, Bordeaux, 49; sch's Jane, Bell, New-York, 13; Valentine, Edes, Barbados, 13; Olive Branch, Drinkwater, Baltimore, 19; sloop Nancy and Susan, Gardner, Antigua, 24.

Cleared, ships Hamilton, Moore, M'Cobb, London; Independence, Ingraham, Nantz; Sachem, Hatch, Liverpool.

Captain Fuller left at Bordeaux, ship Baltic, Messroon, for this port, to sail in ten days. Left in the river, brig Hope, Fisher, of this port, for the isle of Rhe, to take in a cargo for Baltimore. Passed in the river, ship Aurora, ——, from New-Orleans; brig ——, Skiddy, from New-York; and brig Betsy, Walter, from Baltimore. Sailed in co. with ship Ulysses, Simons, of N. Orleans for New-York; ships Philipsburg, Leffingwell, for New-Orleans.

The ship Comet, captain Hart, is a regular packet between Baltimore and New-Orleans, but has touched at this port for a market.

Captain Gardner left at Antigua, schooner Wilmot, Rice, of this port; ship Angenoria, Monroe, from the coast, for this port, with 170 prime slaves, sent in by a British cruizer, under pretence of being engaged in an illegal trade.

Captain Irvin informs, that the French squadron left Angola, on their return home, about 10 days before he arrived, having completely scoured the coast; not a single British vessel having escaped; they had captured fifteen sail.

Captain Edes left at Barbados, brig Lion, Olden, of Portland, to sail in 4 days for Martinique; sch'r Fair Lady, Caldwell, of Portland, for Martinique. Brig ——, Dennison, 17 days from Portland, touched at Barbados and sailed again for St. Vincents. Brig ——, Simonton, of Portland, to sail in 8 days for Martinique.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7.

The ship Olive-Branch, Glenn, of Philadelphia, sailed from Bristol, on the 7th of March, for this port.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Pinckneyville, dated April 3, 1806, to his friend in this city.

"The port of New-Orleans has this season been crouded with shipping. Cotton has kept up, and is brisk, while the produce of the western country, say flour, pork, &c. has been a mere drug, and will at this moment not sell at any price.

"This country has been long on the tip-toe of expectation, believing the government of the United States fraught with resources, would assume a dignified deportment, and not suffer any longer the violations on our commerce and our rights in other places to go unpunished. Perhaps, as I have myself been a great sufferer, I feel the violation too sensibly, and wish what I ought not.

"A few months since, I was compelled by the governor of West-Florida, to abandon an establishment I had in that territory, which I do assure you has in a very sensible manner injured me.

"An officer at Fort Adams, yesterday received a letter from another at Natchitoches, stating, that captain Johnson, with sixty-five men, had gone towards the Sabine river, to meet a party of four hundred Spanish cavalry, who were coming to take possession of and re-occupy a post near the Nachitoches, from which they have been recently driven by an officer and party of American troops, on the principle of its being within the American limits. It is confidently believed a fight will ensue, and be assured that no one wishes it more than I do."

Letters from England, of the 20th of March, state, that Upland cotton, which had been down to 14d. had been lately sold for 17d. per lb. [Phil. pap.]

The impression made by the debates and resolutions in congress on the manufacturers of Great-Britain, have been such as to occasion some of them to forbid the shipment of goods, which had been sent to the seaport towns for the United States. [Ibid.]

Bonaparte has announced his readiness to make peace with Great-Britain, on the basis of the treaty of Amiens. This declaration had not made a very deep impression in England. It occasioned a trifling rise of stocks. But Mr. Fox did not seem eager to embrace the offer—Mr. Eox, the minister, appears quite an altered man from the Mr. Fox, when in the minority. [N. Y. Gazette.]

MARBLEHEAD, April 28.

Captain Francis, while at Bordeaux, received the following letter from capt. Perkin Salter, dated

"Rochefort, Feb. 11.

"SIR,

"I have taken the liberty to inform you of our situation at present and our distresses since we left America.—I was from New-York, where I at present belong, having command of the brig Minerva, bound to Bordeaux—I was taken in the bay, within two days sail of Bordeaux, and, vessel and cargo burned, besides lossing all my clothes—Was on board of the French squadron 4 months, in a most deplorable situation—For me to give you a particular detail, it would take a quire of paper. I can only say, if they had burned me with the brig, it would not have been much worse. The other captains, J. Tuck, Jun. of Manchester, captain Solomon Pinick, of N. York, and your friend and fellow-townsman, captain Francis Sargant, who departed this life on the 9th Feb. at the hospital marine at Rochefort, have all been treated the same. We are still in a bad situation. From what we can learn, they don't mean to pay us any thing, and expect soon to be liberated to seek a passage to America, after being so barbarously treated."

Married at Annapolis, on Thursday, the 1st instant, by the Right Rev. Bishop Carroll, Robert Patterson, esquire, of Baltimore, to the amiable and accomplished Miss Mary Ann Caton, daughter of Richard Caton, esq. of Brookland Wood.

Married at Elkton, on Thursday last, by the Rev. Francis Hindman, Mr. James Partridge, merchant of this city, to the truly amiable Miss Hannah Hollingsworth, of the former place.
