LONDON, April 21.

Of Spain and Portugal.

The letters brought by the Lisbon mail were delivered this morning. A general apprehension appears to prevail in Portugal that some attempt against the independence of that country will be made by Spain. The emperor of the French, it was reported, had determined to annex part of the Spanish territory to his dominions, for the loss of which Spain is to be indemnified by the acquisition of a considerable part, if not the whole, of Portugal. The Spanish provinces which Bonaparte is desirous of obtaining, are those of Biscay and Gallicia, within which are comprized the ports of Bilboa, St. Sebastian, Ferrol, Corunna and Vigo. When the packet left Lisbon, Spanish troops were expected there, and it was reported that all these ports were shut against neutrals. The Portuguese government was to be transferred to the Brazils.

That Bonaparte should be anxious to possess the whole of the territories which skirt the bay of Biscay, is natural enough, and, fatal as such an arrangement may prove to Spain, we fear there is neither energy nor disposition in her government to resist it. We are sure that if Biscay and Gallicia are surrendered to France, the Spanish monarchy will not outlive their formal occupation half a year; or, if it should, the authority of the king will not be greater in his captial than that actually enjoyed by the Pope at Rome.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7.

We recommend to the perusal of our readers, the luminous and comprehensive view of European politics commenced in this day's Gazette. To say that they are attributed to the masterly pen of Fisher Ames, esq. is to give the reader an anticipation of a rich repast, where he will have the rare felicity of rising from the banquet with as little satiety as when he sat down.

A gentleman informed us this morning, that the same destructive species of the Caterpillar, as that which has committed such ravages to the southward, has made its appearance, in countless numbers, on Elk-Ridge, in a field of wheat belonging to him. He is of opinion, that if they attack the stalk or head of the wheat, with the same rapacity they have the blade, that out of 600 bushels with which he was tantalized with the prospect, he will not be able to cut a single bushel. It has also made its appearance in other neighboring fields, but the extent of the actual or probable mischief, is not yet ascertained.

We saw and discoursed with two gentlemen last evening from the Eastern-Shore, who gave us the most distressing account of the ravages committed upon the young wheat, corn, "and every other green thing," common white clover excepted, by a species of the caterpillar, whose numbers are numberless, and whose depredations are incalculable. The industrious farmer beholds the labors of the season rendered, in many instances, abortive by the events of a single night.

These insects are represented as being so numerous, that, in many places, it is impossible to walk without crushing thousands of them to death. The ground is literally covered with them. When and where the calamity will terminate no man knoweth.

EASTON, Maryland, June 3.

Caterpillar, or striped Worm.

During the last week, an insect resembling that of the Caterpiliar, though smooth, have made their appearance in numbers to exceed any thing in the remembrance of our oldest inhabitants—they were first discovered on lots of wheat in the neighborhood of this town, some of which they have stripped almost entirely of its blades, and have attacked the head, which is yet soft; and some alarming specimens of their partial, and entire destruction of the clover, have been witnessed—the grass, so far as they have advanced, has been entirely destroyed—corn does not escape them, the most vulnerable part (the bud) is their immediate resort, which has induced some farmers to lay off their ground and re plant. In different parts of the county, we are informed, whole farms are laid under contribution by them. They retire from the head of the wheat during the heat of the day, but return when the sun is obscured. Their size vary from one quarter to an inch and an half in length.

Captain Pratt, arrived at New-York, from St. Thomas, informs, that two days before he sailed information was received of four French frigates having taken possession of Porto-Rico. They had been lying there some time, and took a favorable opportunity of making themselves masters of the place, and hoisting the tri-colored flag.

Captain Lowth, of the schooner Sukey and Peggy, arrived at Philadelphia, in 17 days from Curracoa, says it was reported at that place, that the persons captured by the Spaniards in Miranda's schooners, had been executed.

Miranda.—Letters received in town render it no longer questionable that Miranda has been met with by a very considerable Spanish force, and suffered a partial defeat. The force sent against him consisted of two brigs of 16 guns each, and from ten to 14 gun-boats, well manned. After a severe engagement of three hours, the two schooners which Miranda had with him, were obliged to strike their colors. The crews are now in prison at Carraccas. What their fate will be is uncertain. The Leander, commanded by captain Lewis, and in which Miranda was himself, succeeded in beating the enemy off: After which she made her way to Bonaire. It is expected Miranda, before this time, will have fallen in with the frigate sent to his assistance by admiral Cochrane; that they will rendezvous at Trinidad, and then proceed on their contemplated expedition.

PARISIAN RUMORS.

At the grand Fete ordered by our emperor for the 2d of next May, sixteen new princes of our grand military and political functionaries are to be proclaimed, in the presence of six princes exalted into kings by his imperial majesty. The hereditary ranks and titles will at the same time be restored to all those of the former nobility whose names are not still found upon the list of emigrants. Several generals, senators, counsellors of state, prefects, legislators, tribunes, judges, &c. will also be created and hailed on that day as marquisses, counts, viscounts, and barons; and every member of the legion of honor, will have a right to stile himself a chevalier. A new order of knighthood, that of the empress's, called "Honorable Fidelty," will then be announced.

The queens of Spain, Prussia, Bavaria, and Etruria, are said to be among its grand officers; and 400 other foreign and French ladies of rank and fashion are mentioned as its principal members. The ornaments of these female knights, are stars, worn on the left side of their bosom, and aigrettes worn on the right side of their head dress. Among the ladies already nominated to this distinction, the name of madames Genlis, Stael, Recamier, Talleyrand, Remufat, Seraut, Segur, Le Brunn, Courtin, Duroc, Lauriston, La Grange Savary, Lucchesni, Montcelas, Hallaud, and Miss Williams, are mentioned. Four ladies in waiting of the queens of Spain, Prussia, Bavaria, and Eutruria, two maids of honor of the electresses of Hesse and Baden, with several German and Italian princesses, countesess and Baronesses, are also among our female chevalirs in petto.

The expences for the Fete of the 2d of May, are calculated at 18,000,000 of livres; of which the ci-devant elector of Bavaria has paid 10,000,000, and the ci-devant elector of Hesse 8,000,000. The value of the presents to be distributed on the same occasion is said to be 6,000,000 of livres, taken from the privy purse of our emperor and empress. Besides all the commanders and principal chiefs of the last compaign in Germany, several deputies of each regiment are to be present. It is reported here, but with what foundation cannot be determined, that the kings of Spain and Prussia, and their queens, together with the kings and queens of Bavaria, Wirtemberg and Hesse, have been invited to this splendid fete; and that few, if any of them, dare decline the invitation.

The French journals (says the Norfolk Ledger) are very severe on the Batavian government, on account of the capture of the Cape of Good-Hope, which they do not hesitate to impute to treachery or imbecility, but chiefly to the former, the more so as the Moniteur asserts, that the emperor offered to send some French troops to garrison the town and dafend the settlement, which the Batavian government declined to accept. The general to whom the Batavian government entrusted this important settlement, (say these French journals) was a partizan in the house of Orange, and was wounded in the commencement of the revolution fighting against France.

Died lately at Chicksville, in Cæcil county, Mr. Peregrine Chick, a respectable inhabitant of that place. In our renolutionary struggle, he was, at an early age, found in the ranks with his countrymen, and as a soldier participated of the laurels of those days. If benevolence of heart, sobriety and truth, are qualities which claim the meed of eulogium, to the memory of this deceased it is eminently due.

About a fortnight before the Henry sailed, there was a general massacre of all the remaining whites that could be found in the island. This was occasioned by a few having been discovered making their escape. It was supposed that not less than 100 men, women and children, fell at the Cape.

Mr. Rodrigues,

FRENCH PHYSICIAN,

18, Wilkes-street, Fell's-Point,

RECENTLY arrived in this city, takes this method of acquainting the public, that he composes various medicines for the cure of Venerial affections, Cancers, Ulcers, Itch, Scurvy, Ringworm, Gout, Fevers, Consumption and Dropsy. These medicines are innocent, not impairing the constitution, and no ways disagreeable to the taste; as they are capable of being kept a long time at sea, without losing their virtues, they are very convenient for sea-faring men. The ingredients he employs in his compounds are roots and herbs, without any mixture whatever of Mercury.—From his experience of the mode of treating the Yellow-Fever in the West-Indies, he flatters himself, that he can effect a cure when seasonably informed of the symptoms indicative of that disorder.—He composes also, a liquid to destroy bed-bugs or chintzes, which is already known by several families of this city. This truly useful liquid may be had of Mr. Alexis Remain, 147, Market-street, and at the physician's abode. June 7. 1aw3t†
