OFFICIAL ACCOUNT
Of the recapture of Buenos Ayres.

From the LONDON GAZETTE, January 27.

[Concluded.]
I inclose a copy of the capitulation, and, I trust the high and independent language in which it is couched, and the terms dictated by general Beresford, to an officer at the head of myriads of people, will do him infinite honor in England and obtain for him his majesty's most gracious approbation of his conduct.

I have received, and annex a return of the killed, wounded, and missing, by which it appears, that there are two officers, two sergeants, one drummer, forty-three rank and file, killed; eight officers, seven sergeants, ninety-two rank and file wounded; and nine missing; making a total of 165; and scarce any of those misfortunes were occasioned except from the inhabitants on the tops of the houses and the churches.

The enemy confess to have lost about 700 killed and wounded, in the short conflict in the streets; and if it had not been for the inhabitants, I have little doubt that the Spanish troops would have been completely defeated, although seven times the number of the British forces.

Nothing is more difficult than to give their lordships an idea of the number of men in arms; but from the best accounts we can obtain, it is thought Pusridon, and the other principal people engaged in this plot, had collected from eight to 10,000 men in the country; that Limiers may have brought over from 800 to 1,000; and the town furnished, though armed in various ways, about 10,000, under the secret arrangement of the magistrats.

When every vessel that could escape from Buenos Ayres had joined, I proceeded towards Euseada, to retire the detachment with a prisoner, and lieutenant Burgh, of the Reasonable, with Mr. Ramsay, a midshipman and seven men, who were in the settee, as her boats could not hold them. Lieutenant Herrick, in the Dolores, the other armed schooner, worked out in a manner which, coupled with his conduct on the whole of this business, does him great credit.

On the 13th, in the morning, the detachment of marines, under the command of lieutenant Swale, was embarked from Euseada, and his two Spanish field pieces spiked and thrown into the river.
On the 14th, I sailed for this anchorage, where I arrived the following day, and immediately addressed the governor of Monte-Video on the subject of our troops.

On the 16th, in consequence of receiving by colonel Linier's aid-de-camp, a letter from general Beresford, I dispatched two of the transports to Buenos-Ayres, where one arrived on the 17th, but from the prevarication of the governor of Monte-Video, in the first instance, and his subsequent dishonorable conduct, no troops have yet been embarked.

Whilst I had the honor of being on board the Leda I had every reason to be satisfied with the zealous attention of captain Honyman, his officers and ship's company; and I cannot but express my extreme approbation of the conduct of all the officers and seamen who were constantly employed in the small vessels, and being under almost every privation, in the very severe and trying weather, which we experienced the last ten days.

I most sincerely regret, however, that my situation has imposed on me the painful duty of making this report to their lordships, especially as it is done principally by materials collected from different people, which they probably, in many instances, deduced from vague and uncertain conclusions; if, however, it should hereafter appear that I have failed in any instance to do ample justice to the conduct, energy and prowess of general Beresford, and the officers & soldiers under his command, it has been owing to the limited scale of my communications since the 13th, from the extreme jealousy of the enemy, and not from any indisposition to appreciate their merits in the most liberal manner; a sentiment which I have held on every occasion, and publicly marked it in all my former dispatches.

I have the honor to be, &c.
H. POPHAM.

Diadem, Rio de la Plata, Oct. 9.
Sir, on the 5th instant, off Lobos, we fell in with the Rolla, having a detachment of the 28th on board; she sailed from the Cape, in company with the Melancho, which was to the westward of her. I took the troops out of the Rolla, and sent her to Rio Grande, for the purpose of purchasing any flour or biscuit, and ascertaining whether any quantity of the latter could be baked there.

On the 6th we returned to this anchorage, where we found the Protector, with the Adamant and Columbine transports, having on board detachments, of the 38th, and the Diadem victualer. I lost no time in ordering all the men of war to complete their provisions for three months, for fear of any accident happening to the victualer.

On the 7th, in the evening, the Medusa joined, with four of the Lancaster's convoy; and capt. Bouverie reported, that the Lancaster was to the eastward with the remaining two ships, having the preceding night parted their cables. The Leda joined the same evening, and captain Honyman reported, that he had obtained a Danish ship, bound to Monte Video, having on board the governor of Valdivia.

I intended to have dispatched the Wellington this evening, but colonel Vassel particularly requested I would detain her till the arrival of the Lancaster, as colonel Buckhouse was a senior lieutenant colonel to himself, and succeeding adventitiously to the command of the army, he would naturally be desirous of making a report to the Duke of York of the state of his force, and the arrangements he had made.

The weather was so hazy, and the current so strong to the southward, that the Lancaster did not join till the 12th in the evening. On the following day, as it appeared to me that the commanding officer of the troops intended to make his first attempt on Monte Video, and was anxious to see that place, I directed captain Rawley to take all the transports to Flores Bay, and proceeded on the 14th off Monte Video, and then to Flores, where we arrived on the 15th, in the morning.

From the 10th to the 27th, it blew so hard, that nothing could be attempted. On the 28th, in the morning, the wind was easterly, and every circumstance as favorable as possible, to try the experiment; and as the pilots assured us a flat ran off from the rocks of the town for a mile making precisely the same water along side of them as at that distance, I ordered captain Edwards, who very handsomely requested to remain till the experiment was tried, and to command the leading transport, not to attend to the ostensible orders in leading down in three fathom water, but to haul in till he had small quarter less three, to ascertain whether the flat really ran off as described, or not. Captain Edmonds will explain the circumstance fully to their lordships: he anchored as near the shore as he could for the safety of the frigates, and then was only within random shot, and therefore I would not let the Leda go down a second time; for unless the ships could have got well within point-blank shot, there was no chance of making a breach for the army to land in town. Although the enemy fired for more than an hour on our ships in consequence of their being but little wind I am happy to inform you that only one man was wounded.

I now saw it was impossible to get close enough in to make any breach in the south wall with men of war, I proposed to colonel Buckhouse to take Maldonado, which I should have attempted early in the winter if the marines had not been left at Buenos Ayres.

Maldonado is an excellent harbor, where the fleet can water, and get bullocks, which now really become very necessary to recruit our men.

The island Goretty, which forms the harbor Maldonado, is very strong, and after the troops are landed to take the village, and the batteries on the sea coast in reverse, I shall propose to take the island by the navy, provided it does not surrender to my summons.

I have the honor to be, &c.
HOME POPHAM.

Diadem, Maldonado, harbor, Rio de la Plata, Oct. 30, 1806.

Sir, I consider it right to take possession of the harbor of Maldonado, as a safe anchorage for the ships now in the river, and those expected to arrive independent of the supplies which that district could so abundantly furnish us with.

I therefore request that you will inform my lords commissioners of the admiralty, that the moment I satisfied brigadier-general Backhouse of the expediency of the measure, no time was lost in moving part of the 38th regiment so the Leda and Medusa, when they accompanied the Diadem to this place.

The frigates anchored about 5 o'clock yesterday evening, to the westward of the westernmost battery; and captain Honyman informed me by the telegraph, that the beach was smooth, and that the debarkation could be easily covered.

At six the troops from the Diadem assembled along side the Leda, and a landing was immediately effected, without any opposition; but as I thought it possible that the enemy might have a greater force than he shewed on the hills, and as the nearest transport was yet some distance from the roads, I ordered the marines of the Medusa, and a company of blues, from each ship to be landed to support the army, who entered, and took possession of the village of Maldonado before eight o'clock.

This morning I sent a summons to the fortified island of Goretty, which forms this harbor, and I enclose, for their lordships' information, a copy of it, with the commandant's answer, and my reply, which was accompanied by an assurance, through Lieut. Wiseman, of the Diadem, who was employed on this service, that I would not hold any further communication with him until his majesty's colors, which
