BY THIS DAY'S MAILS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.
We perceive in one of our Paris papers, under the head of Haze, March 1, a deplorable representation of the effects of the gale in the Texel, of the 18th February, which it seems was followed by one nearly as destructive on the 26th of the same month.
The sittings of the Grand Sanhedrim at Paris, were finished on the 9th of March, and a copy of their proceedings has been transmitted to the emperor.

On the 18th February, the French took possession of the small town of Naugarten.
In this affair they lost but three men killed and twenty-two wounded. The Russians lost their cannon, one hundred men killed, and 138 taken prisoners.
Arrived, ship Bramin, Singleton, Calcutta, 103 days; Sally, Ainsley, St. Thomas, —Susannah, Rely, Havana, 12; brig New-Jersey, Wade, Liverpool, 44; British brig Betsy, Batmin, Liverpool, 43.
Cleared, ship Gleaner, Taylor, Madras and Calcutta; brig Gorham, Foster, Charleston; sch'r Philip, Williams, do.; Mercury, Swift, do.; Triumph, Fallin, Ha-vanna; Jason, Ellis, Curacao; Democrat, Ebe-ridge, North Carolina; Nancy, Lock, Boston; sloop Astrea, Harber, Richmond.
The ship Lewis, William, O'Brien, from New-Orleans, for this port, was lost, vessel and cargo, 23d March, upon the Coleradoes, passengers and all the crew saved, and arrived at Havana.

Yesterday arrived, brig New-Jersey, Wade, from Liverpool, which place he left 10th March, had 98 days from land to land.— Spoke, in lat. 44, 00, long. 36, ship Julius Cesar, of Duxbury, from Liverpool, bound to Charleston, on 15 days, all well. March 26, spoke ship Ceres, of Newport. R. Island, bound to Amsterdam, on 20 days, all well.
April 23, spoke ship United States, from Liverpool, bound to Petersburg, Virg. out 45 days, all well.

Same day arrived, the armed English brig Betsy, capt. Batmin, 44 days from Liverpool. On the 16th April, he fell in with the sch'r. Hannah, captain Eldridge, of Sandwich, from Wilmington N. C. for this port.
Captain Eldridge, on the 1st of April, met with a heavy gale of wind, in which he lost all his sails, and sprung leaks, which so far gained on them, that when they fell in with the Betsy, being then out 35 days, they were glad to get on board her to save their lives.

Yesterday arrived, ship Bramin, Singleton, 103 days from Calcutta. Sailed 6th of Jan. and left there, the Elizabeth, Thompson, of Baltimore, for the coast. Spoke in the Ganges, bound up, ship Oliver Ellsworth, from New-York; and ship Comandant, Davy, from Philadelphia, last from Pegu.

Off Madagascar, spoke ship Orient, West, from Mocha, for Baltimore, had lost his foremast, bowsprit, &c. intended to put into the Cape of Good Hope; also spoke off C. G.
Hope, ship Montezuma, from Calcutta, for Baltimore, last from the Isle of France, 20 days, where she had put in in distress. The ship Baltimore, ——— for Baltimore, sailed from Calcutta the 31st December.
April 15, lat. 31, 7, N. long. —, W. spoke ship Alexander Hamilton, Sutton, of and for Baltimore, from the Isle of May, out 31 days. April 22, lat. 26, 20, N. long. 69, 30, W. spoke ship America, from London, bound to Baltimore, all well.

WASHINGTON, April 27.
On Friday the W. A. S. P. sailed from the Eastern Branch for England. Mr. Purviance is a passenger.
We have received late London prints, containing in great detail the trial of Sir Home Popham for an alleged breach of orders in leaving the Cape of Good Hope, on the expedition which issued in the capture of Buenos Ayres. Although in a high degree interesting, it is too long for insertion entire in our columns. There is, however, one part of it of which we shall republish all the material circumstances, that port which proves that Miranda's expedition was sanctioned by the existing British administration, and particularly by Mr. Pitt.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.
TUESDAY, APRIL 28.

Arrived, Ship Amity, Sampson, 51 days from St. Ubes—Salt—Jacob Adams

Daniel Diffenderfer, esq. is elected in the sixth ward, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Christian Meyer, esq. as elector of the mayor and members of the second branch of the city council.

The Letter-Bag of the ship Abena, for Liverpool, will be taken from the coffeehouse to-morrow evening.

Extract of a letter from a commercial house in Liverpool, to another in Philadelphia, dated 20th March.
"We have the pleasure to advise you that official dispatches have been received by our government from St. Petersburg, with the information of an important battle having been fought between the Russians and the French, on the 7th and 8th of February, at Eylau, in which the latter were defeated, with the loss of about 15,000 men, 12 stand of colors and several pieces of cannon.

"In consequence of this favorable intelligence, about 5000 bags of cotton have been sold in this market at an advance of from 1-2d. to three farthings per lb. upon former prices—a similar advance has also taken place in London; and as the market is now bare of good cotton, the holders are expecting a further advance which is likely to take place, unless the arrivals during this and the ensuing month should be unusually heavy.

"There have been some inquiries for coffee within these few days; and better prices have been obtained for such small parcels as have been sold, but the holders are looking for a further advance, and are not disposed to sell at present.

"Several purchases have been made in tobaccos for the Russian and Danish markets, and prices of the low kinds have been improved a little.
"Large sales of American wheat have been made to speculators at advanced prices.
"A proclamation has been issued by our government, stating, that in consequence of the present situation of the enemy upon the continent, which enables him to command the navigation of the rivers Elbe, Weser and Elms, it is judged expedient to re-establish the most rigorous blockade at the entrance of these rivers."

GOVERNOR PENN.
This respectable old gentleman, a few days since, arrived in the United States, for the purpose, as we understand, of transacting some private business. No sooner is this known, than he is assailed in the most wanton and scurrilous manner in the Aurora.
It is said that "the old Tories have actually commenced a canvass in favor of their old governor, who they insist came out on purpose to succeed his present majesty of the clothoppers." "The old Tories are rubbing up their affirmations and calumnies, preparatory to renewing to governor Penn their allegiance to George III." "Governor Penn's leaves will resemble a bishop's confirmation, or the pope's granting absolution." &c. The editor of the Aurora was not in this country until long since our revolution; but he has probably heard that when our opposition commenced to the unconstitutional exactions of the British government, governor Penn was associated with the venerable patriots of the day, in laying the foundation for an independent government of laws in America.
He was appointed by congress to convey to the king the last remonstrance which was made against the oppressive measures adopted by the British court. Upon his arrival in England, he used all his influence there to promote the cause in which Washington, and Adams, and Hamilton, and King, and Pinckney, and the other old Tories who attached our revolution, were laboring here.
To have kept such company, and to have enjoyed the esteem and respect of such men, is a sufficient reason for his being assailed by the Aurora. [U. S. Gaz.]

One Mr. Jackson, "who was an eminent cannon founder in Ireland, and brought with him several hundred thousand dollars to the United States" has procured an "original letter, with Mr. King's own proper signature affixed"—and the Citizen has given us a copy.

If any thing were wanting to heighten the esteem of the American people, for their long-ried servant at home, and faithful representative abroad, this letter might be hailed as supplying it. Standing as Mr.
King does, it only affords fresh argument for his title to our respect; but, even this, at a moment in which he is reviled, can be no unacceptance auxiliary. We have all reason to believe, that Mr. Jackson and the rest, for their act, if not for their motive. This is the letter, which it appears from its terms, is an answer to a request from this man that Mr. King would not oppose his coming to America.

From the New-York Evening Post.
"Brighton, August 28, 1797.
"Sir,
"I ought to inform you, that I really have no authority to give or refuse permission to you or any other foreigner to go to the U.
States; the admission and residence of strangers in that country being a matter that by a late law exclusively belongs to the president. It is true that the government of this country, in the course of last year, in consequence of my interference, gave me an assurance, that a particular description of persons in Ireland, who it was understood were going to the United States, should not proceed without our consent. This restraint would doubtless be withdrawn in favor of individuals against whose emigration I should not object; and I conclude, that it is upon this supposition that you have taken the trouble to communicate to me your desire to settle and reside in the United States. Without presuming to form an opinion on the subject of the late disturbances in Ireland, I entertain a distinct one in relation to the political situation of my own country. In common with others, we have felt the influence of the changes that have successively taken place in France, and unfortunately a portion of our inhabitants has erroneously supposed that our political institutions, as well as our national policy, might be improved by a close imitation of the models of France. This opinion, the propagation of which was made the duty and became the chief employment of the French agents resident among us, created a more considerable division among our people, and required a greater watchfulness and activity from the government than could beforehand have been apprehended. I am sorry to make the remark, and shall stand in need of your candor in doing so, that a large proportion of the emigrants from Ireland, and especially in our middle states, has upon this occasion, arranged itself on the side of the malcontents.
I ought to except from this remark most of the enlightened and well-educated Irishmen who reside among us, and with a few exceptions I might confine it to the ignorant and illiterate, who, entertaining an attachment to freedom, are unable justly to appreciate those salutary restraints without which it degenerates into anarchy. It would be injunctive to say that the Irish emigrants are more national than those of other countries, yet being a numerous though a very minor portion of our population, they are capable, from causes it is needless now to explain, of being generally brought to act in concert, and under artificial leaders may be, as they have been, enlisted in mischievous combinations against our government. This view leads me to state to you without reserve the hesitation that I have felt in your case: on the one hand, we cannot object to the acquisition of inhabitants from abroad, possessing capital and skill in a branch of business that with due caution, may without risk or difficulty, be established among us: but on the other hand, if the opinions of such inhabitants are likely to throw them into the mass of malcontents, their fortune, skill and consequent influence would make them tenfold more dangerous, and they might become a disadvantage instead of a benefit to our country. You must be sensible that I possess no sufficient means of forming an opinion respecting your sentiments; but the motives which led me to interfere with your government to restrain the emigration of the persons above alluded to, oblige me to observe a due caution on the present occasion: at the same time I desire not to act with illiberality, and should be unwilling to bring upon my country the slightest imputation of inhospitality. What Mr. Wilson has written, so far as it goes, is satisfactory; and on the whole I have concluded, after this unreserved communication, which I hope will be received with the same candor as it is made, to inform you, authorizing you to make use of the information, that I withdraw every objection that may be supposed to stand in the way of your being permitted to go to the United States; adding only my earnest wish that you may carry with you, an unbias'd mind, may find the state of the country, as I believe you will, favorable to your views of business, and its government deserving your attachment.

"I must beg your excuse for the great delay that has occurred in sending you this answer, which I assure you has arisen from other causes than the want of due respect to your letters.
"With great consideration,
"I have the honor to be, sir,
"Your most obedient servant,
"RUFUS KING."

LONDON, March 17.
Letters have been received from a person of consideration at St. Petersburg, which contain some further particulars of the battle of Eylau than have yet been published in this country. Bonaparte's guards, it is known, were amongst the troops that attacked the centre of the Russians. They went into battle about 1200 strong, and only one officer and sixteen men remained after the action. The French reserve was ordered to advance to the attack of the Russian centre: they refused and were ordered to be fired upon by one of the French divisions.
They returned the fire, and several were killed on both sides.

Extract of a letter from Centre county, Pennsylvania, dated April 13, 1807.
On the night of the 30th and the forenoon of the 31st March fell in this county the greatest quantity of snow remembered by the oldest persons here. It appears by actual measurement in different parts of Nattany valley, that toward the evening of 31st, the snow was, on an average, from three feet to three feet six inches deep in the valley, and on the mountains it is certainly twice that depth. It continued to freeze and blow very keen until the 5th of this month; since then it has been a gradual thaw. From the quantity of snow on the ground, we apprehended a sweeping flood, but Providence has ordered it otherwise.
Our waters are in a fine state; a great number of arks have sailed out of Bald Eagle Creek, laden chiefly with wheat flour, pig iron and bar iron. There are yet many to sail. It is scarcely credible the increased quantities of provisions which are every year sent from this part of the country; but this year exceeds all former years to a vast extent. This is the most backward spring remembered. Yesterday it snowed all the afternoon.

From a New-York paper.
The Rev. GUDON BLACKBURN, of the state of Tennessee, is now in this city, with the view of soliciting donations for carrying on a plan of instruction and civilization among the Cherokee Indians. He has been for several years engaged in pursuing this important object; and the talents, piety, seli-ciousness and zeal which he has manifested in the pursuit, have commanded the attention and gained the esteem, not only of his immediate acquaintances, but also of a large portion of the southern country. He has established two flourishing Indian schools in the Cherokee nation, containing 60 scholars, who are all fed, clothed and instructed by his exertions. The expense has been supported principally by charitable contributions, solicited by himself, and most faithfully and economically applied. The governor of Tennessee, and other gentlemen of influence in that state, from whom Mr. Blackburn brings the most ample testimonials, fully concur with him in opinion, that these schools may be greatly extended, and others of a similar kind established, if the funds necessary for the purpose can be obtained. The progress of the Indian children already exceeds the most sanguine expectations of the friends of the undertaking; and, in the opinion of good judges on the spot, there is now a better prospect than was ever before presented, if Mr. Blackburn should be enabled to extend and execute his plan, that the Cherokee Indians will become, in a few years, a civilized and Christian nation. Under these impressions, we the subscribers do heartily recommend Mr. Blackburn's applications for recumbent aid to the attention and encouragement of all charitable and well-disposed persons to whom they may be made.

JOHN RODGERS,
JOHN MCKNIGHT,
SAMUEL MILLER,
R. MILLEDOLER.
New York, April 2, 1807.

ADVANTAGES OF CHARRING WATER CASKS, &c.
"Captain Krucatorn, who commanded the Russian squadron in 1806, has sent as account home of his having proved in the most satisfactory manner, the great efficacy which the operation of charring has to preserve water perfectly sweet at sea. He had 60 charred, more deeply than usual, before he sailed, and, during his stay at the Brazils, had the greatest part of his casks burned in the inside; the water in them was constantly found to be good during the whole of the passage to the Isle of Washington: At Japan he again burned the inside of the casks, which preserved the water quite pure during a seven weeks passage from thence to Kamschatka. The captain declares, that, by this means, the water was "constantly pure, and as good as that from the best springs." He also took care that the casks should never be filled with sea water, as is usual, to save the trouble of shifting the ballast, because this tends to hasten the corruption of the fresh water afterward put into them.

"The charring operates both by the antiseptic properties of the charcoal, and in preventing the solution of the attractive part of the wood."
"Charring is recommended for wine casks also, and casks which are to contain liquors."
