NUISANCE.

IS it possible that health-officers can pass along Sharpe-street, without noticing that abominable Nuisance on the west side of said street, between Conway and Barré-streets? It is the opinion of the people who live in that part of the city, that it is not possible for any of these gentlemen to pass along without noticing it; for it requires no spectacles, nor even natural eyes, if the nose be sound, to discover the Nuisance alluded to—And it is further believed, that if there were such a Nuisance adjacent to the dwellings of the health-officers, it would soon be removed; for it is reasonable to suppose, that they have more feeling for themselves and families than what they have for their fellow-citizens, as they have in vain been applied to for redress. It is true those gentlemen called health officers have ordered a few persons of lower circumstances to fill in their lots, so as to carry the water out into the street, and which was immediately complied with; but why not those of more wealth, where there is ten times more necessity, which if not done shortly, must inevitably destroy the health of a number of families in that part of the city.
