

INDEPENDENCE.

Anniversary celebration by the citizens of Baltimore.

ON SATURDAY LAST,

In commemoration of the fourth day of July, the glorious era of American independence, a number of gentlemen, to the amount of two hundred and upwards, assembled at Mr. Peck's, at Bellevue near this city, where an excellent repast was provided for their entertainment. After dinner, the honorable Joseph H. Nicholson, esq., was chosen president, and colonel William Lowry, capt. Thorndick Chase, and George Barryman, esq., vice presidents. The declaration of independence was read by Theodorick Bland, esq., and the following toasts drank:

1. The day—The proudest in the patriot's calendar, the jubilee of a nation's birth; every honest American will keep it holy. Yankee Doodle—3 guns—3 cheers.

2. The American people—They will not seek the battle, nor shun it when it comes. Washington's March—3 guns—3 cheers.

3. The United States—Their chain of union too bright and too strong to be tarnished or broken by traitors or lawless invaders. Stony Point—3 guns—3 cheers.

4. The president of the United States—his promptitude against a domestic foe, is an earnest of his energy when it shall be necessary to oppose a foreign enemy. Jefferson's March—3 guns—3 cheers.

5. The vice president of the United States—The hero of 1776, and the spirit of the times in which he fought. Wayne's march—3 guns—3 cheers.

6. The congress of the United States—may it in every crisis prove firm, virtuous, and truly American. Hail Columbia—6 guns—9 cheers.

7. The judiciary of the United States—Not only pure but unsuspected—Independent, but not irresponsible. Life let us cherish—one gun—3 cheers.

8. The militia—The first and safest defence of a free nation. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

9. The heroes who achieved our liberties—May their spirit animate their surviving countrymen never to subside till we have ample vengeance for our wrongs. The Indian Chief—9 guns—9 cheers.

10. The memory of Washington and Franklin—immortalized by their virtues. Roslin Castle—1 gun—solemn pause.

11. The author of the declaration of our independence. President's march—6 guns—9 cheers.

12. The memory of our fellow-citizens, murdered by the robbers of the ocean—Their blood cries to heaven, and millions of free-men are impatient to avenge it. By the gods of our fathers we swear—17 guns—9 cheers.

13. Whitty and Humphreys—Halters for the cowards, tar and feathers for their friends. Rogues March—general hissing.

14. The union of sentiment now prevalent among the American people—May it be perpetual. We brethren that are—3 guns 9 cheers.

15. Our fellow-citizens of Norfolk and Hampton—They have deserved well of their country. A grand march—3 guns—3 cheers.

16. The resolutions of Richmond—May the spirit which dictated them be infused into every American bosom. Ye Patriot Sons—3 guns—3 cheers.

17. The real sovereigns of America, the American Fair. Come to the wedding—3 guns—9 cheers.

VOLUNTEERS.

By Col. Lowry. The patriotic gen. Wilkinson, and a penitentiary to all traitors.

By J. H. McCulloh. The people of the U. States: Plenty in their fields, and peace in their dwellings. May they who hate them come to bow before them.

By the President. Old times and bright guns.

By Capt. Chase. The heroes of '76.

By G. Barryman, esq. Sharp shooting. After the president retired—By captain Chase—Joseph H. Nicholson, the firm advocate of republican principles.

When the celebration of the day was drawing to a close, the company, with Mr. Small and the American flag at their head, marched into the city in the greatest good order, and proceeded to Fell's Point, in compliment to their brethren in that quarter of the city. The utmost hilarity and sociability prevailed throughout the day.

Saturday last being the anniversary of American Independence, a party of friends to the freedom of their country, met at the Wash Spring, to celebrate the return of that auspicious day, when we ceased to be the dupes of tyranny and assumed a rank among nations. At noon a salute of seventeen guns was fired in honor of the day; after which the company partook of a dinner provided for the occasion, when the following toasts were drank:

1. The Day. May the celebration of its annual return never cease, until the liberties of the American people no longer exist—3 guns.

2. The 4th July, '76, the political birth day of our nation—a lesson for Tyrants—May it teach them to respect the rights of man—3 guns.

3. The Citizens of the United States—May those sentiments which impelled them to resist a tyrant's will, still vibrate in each patriotic breast when their independence is assailed by the ruthless hands of foreign incendiaries—8 guns.

4. The American Constitution—"the world's best hope." May its enemies have a speedy passage to where they can enjoy the blessings of the most stupendous fabric of human invention—8 guns.

5. The Government of the United States—May the flame of liberty kindled in '76, never be permitted to expire for want of vigilance and energy—8 guns.

6. The President of the United States—The early patriot and steady republican—3 guns.

7. The Vice-President of the United States—The revolutionary soldier and statesman—3 guns.

8. The immortal memory of Washington—His name will live while freedom shall have a votary, while patriotism glows in the human heart—Silence.

9. The memory of those patriots who died in defending the liberty and independence of our country—May the soil secured to us by their blood, ever prove too slippery for the advocates of Monarchy to rest on. 8 guns.

10. The soldiers of the revolution, they conquered the enemy, and submitted to the laws of their country—May their example be our imitation, and their virtues our inheritance. 8 guns.

11. The army of the United States—The defenders of a free soil; nerve to the arm, fortitude to the heart, and triumph to the soul when struggling for the rights of man. 3 guns.

12. The navy of the United States—May it grow with the strength of the nation, until the Ocean becomes a free highway and not the receptacle of Pirates. 8 guns.

13. The Governor and state of Maryland. 3 guns.

14. Agriculture, commerce, and Manufactures—They furnish our wealth and comforts; let them receive equal encouragement and support. 3 guns.

15. Our friends throughout the world—May perpetual peace, happiness, and plenty attend them. 3 guns.

16. Domestic traitors who would war for power and gold—May their necks be encircled with a collar of hemp and a speedy end to their existence. 3 groans.

17. The royal assassins of Britain, Whitty and Humphreys—Worthy servants of a worthy master—May the gallows prove their end, and the execution of a free people their epitaph. 3 groans.

On Saturday last in commemoration of the anniversary of American Independence, a number of citizens, amounting to upwards of sixty, dined together at Mr. James Wharf's tavern, this city—aspirited representation of the wanted attack made by the British ship Leopard on the United States frigate Chesapeake, painted for the purpose by Mr. Francis Guy, and elegantly framed by Mr. George Smith, ornamented the upper end of the piazza, where the company dined. William H. Winder, esq., was appointed president, and captain John Shrim, vice-president of the day. After partaking of an elegant and plentiful dinner, the following toasts were drank:

The Day we celebrate—The spirit which gave birth to our independence, still animates us to defend it against foreign insult and aggression. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

The People of the United States—The nation that dares to insult them wantonly, shall soon be convinced that in defence of their government they are all republicans—all federalists. 2 guns, 6 cheers.

The President of the United States—May he direct with wisdom & enforce with energy measures in unison with the wishes of our fellow citizens to procure just & honorable retribution for the insult and outrage committed on our national safety and dignity. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

The Memory of general Washington—Let us not forget his advice, that the best way to preserve peace is to be prepared for war.

The Departed Heroes of our Revolution—In preservation of the boon they have bequeathed us, may we emulate the glorious exploits by which it was won.

The Citizens of Norfolk, exposed, yet fearless of danger, they have not hesitated to speak the indignant language of an injured nation. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

All the Foreign Nations of the Globe—"Enemies in war, in peace friends." We exist by the favor of none, nor will we submit to the insults of any. 1 gun.

The energies of Americans—They have cleared the Indian hunting ground of wild beasts and peopled the desert with freemen—a sure pledge that they can free the great hunting ground of nations of Leopards. 2 guns, 5 cheers.

The Chesapeake, with catarracts of fire, may she purge away the foul, though bloody stain, through her cast on the injured honor of our flag.

The American Navy; in its infancy it has proved an Hercules; in manhood it shall thunder like Jove. 3 guns, 5 cheers.

The brave Tars of Columbia; They ask but the sanction of government to avenge their wrongs. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

The Federal Union; Palsied be the head which can conceive, and withered be the arm which can attempt a separation of the states. 2 guns, 8 cheers.

Our Constitution and Laws; when treason or tyranny taints the age, every honest patriot will rally round these sacred palladia of our civil and political rights. 3 guns, 9 cheers.

Political Parties; may the only contest be, who shall best act as the defender of his country. 1 gun, 5 cheers.

The American Manufactures; may they rapidly increase and remove the only obligation we are under to any foreign nation. 1 gun, 8 cheers.

The American People; Soldiers yet Freemen. 3 guns, 5 cheers.

The American Fair; may we be conquered by them only. 3 guns. Glee, "Here's a health to all good lasses."

VOLUNTEERS.

By the President. The city of Baltimore; may the free and warlike spirit of its citizens, keep pace with, regulate and protect its rapid progress in population and commercial enterprise. 3 guns.

By the Vice-President. The state of Maryland; may she dress by the centre and move by the union. 8 guns.

By William Gwynn, esq. Our wharves on the Basin, may free commerce fill, And liberal comers fill Wharfe's on the hill. By Mr. Matthew Brown. An energetic Executive. 1 gun, 8 cheers.

By S. Vincent, esq. A sufficient quantity of tar and feathers, for those who vindicate the conduct of the British, in the outrage committed by the ship Leopard on the frigate Chesapeake.

By Mr. F. Guy. May honesty preside in all Cabinets, despotism fall throughout the world, and no nation possess more freedom than they know how to use.

We have been informed that a gentleman of taste has since purchased this picture for a hundred dollars.

The Anniversary of our Independence was celebrated by a number of gentlemen, at a point of land situated on the western branch of the Patuxent, nearly surrounded by the water, and commanding a view at once extensive and picturesque.

The spot was judiciously selected, and the company composed of gentlemen of different political opinions; but minor considerations were not permitted to disturb the well-tempered hilarity which prevailed throughout the day. The recent insult on our flag was felt, as Americans, on such an occasion, ought to feel; but the consequences, which in all probability it will eventually lead to, though deprecated, were not dreaded.

On that subject there was but one sentiment, and that, we are convinced, reigns from Maine to Georgia: "War before dishonor." General Ridgely (of Hampton) acted as president, and Judge Dorsey, as vice-president. After dinner, the following Toasts and a number of volunteers were drank; and the company did not separate till about 11 o'clock.

1. The Day, and all who celebrate it. Yankee Doodle.

2. The Congress of '76—A band of patriots, who rescued our country from a colonial situation, and gave us a rank among nations. The Congress March.

3. The Memory of the illustrious Washington—the successful asserter of our rights, and founder of our liberties. Hail Columbia.

4. The Officers and Soldiers of the Revolutionary Army—May their patriotism and services never be forgotten. Washington's March.

5. The President of the United States—Firm in defending the rights of which he has so eloquently proclaimed the violation. Jefferson's March.

6. The Navy of the United States, except the Chesapeake—May the gallant Decatur, aided by the brave Gordon and officers of the warroom, avenge the insult offered to her flag, and restore her to a rank in the navy. The Son of Almonac.

7. The Army of the United States—brave and virtuous—In the exercise of military power, they will respect the civil authority. The Lad with the White Cockade.

8. The Congress of the United States—Depositaries of the national honor, they must preserve it pure and unsullied.

9. The Militia of our country—The day of trial will prove a day of glory. 9 cheers, and Yankee Doodle.

10. The Rights of Neutral Nations—war before insult. The Battle of Prague.

11. The United States—Thirteen stripes to their enemies. Stony Point.

12. Our Ministers at the Court of St. James's—Redress or defiance, without delay.

13. Our fellow-citizens of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Hampton—who have indignantly felt and gallantly resented the violated rights of our country. 9 cheers.

14. The American Fair. 16 cheers.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, JULY 7.

THE TUNE CHANGED.

We have seen an entry on the Coffee-house books, which states that a letter has been received in town, informing that the English Commodore, Douglas, has arrived at Washington; from the respectability of the gentleman, who it is said received this letter, we fully believe the report. We have been further informed, that Mr. Erskine, the British Minister, passed hastily through town this morning, on his way to the seat of government. Thus the prospect brightens: we firmly believe these gentlemen are convinced of the necessity of offering atonement to an indignant people, for the murderous outrage lately committed.

Since the above was in type, we have been obligingly furnished with the following extract from the letter in question. It does not mention what commodore.

"George-town, July 6."

"This day the British Commodore has arrived here."

Our attentive correspondent at New-York has again enabled us to furnish the patrons of the Gazette with interesting marine news: under which head the reader will find it stated, that the British frigate Peble is very kindly guarding the port of New-York: that Sir Charles Cockburn has been appointed Governor of Curacao, and is hourly expected there; and that the British commanders in our Bay are not a little anxious to see the newspapers. We wish them all the pleasure an enemy may be supposed to derive from perusing them at this time.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

"New-York, July 5."

"ARRIVED."

"The brig Ceres, Wood, 27 days from Kingston, Jamaica. Left schr. Enterprise, Burr, for New-York, in 4 days, and others. Extract of a letter from the American Consul in Leghorn.

"I am in hourly expectation that the vessels arrested by the French Privateers will be liberated, and that similar evils will not again be renewed; and I ground this belief on the letter which I have received from Mr. Armstrong at Paris, a copy of which I now enclose to you."

COPY.

PARIS, March 10.

SW, I have received the several letters you have done me the honor to write me, in relation to certain American vessels destined to Leghorn, and captured off that port. These captures appear to have been made under a misapprehension of the true meaning of the Imperial decree of the 21st of November last, which the government assures me was not intended to alter in any way the commercial relations of France and the U. States, as regulated by their treaty of 1800.

A decision of the court of prize, which I expect every moment, and which cannot but conform itself to these assurances, will not only remedy the evils that have happened, but prevent the occurrence of others of a similar character.

I am, &c.

(Signed) JOHN ARMSTRONG, Appletun, Esq. Consul for the United States of America, at Leghorn.

Communication.

In a Critique on Mr. Nenniger's Concert which appeared in the Federal Gazette of 27th June, signed C., was a remark, that the Cymbals made use of that night were imported from Europe by Mr. Carr. In the Observer also of Saturday last, containing an answer to the former, where the writer speaking of the Battle Drums and Cymbals in terms of disapprobation, says, "Completely to confound me, he gives the genealogical history of the Battle Drum."

They were made in Germany itself (says he) and brought here by Mr. Carr. Again. But all these learned researches do not render these bad instruments better." In reply to both, neither the Cymbals nor the Battle Drums made use of at the Concert, were imported by me.

TRAVELLER'S ANECDOTE.

To prove the exorbitant garrulity of some of our modern juvenile travellers, we are enabled to state the following fact:—A young man, some short time back, arrived at a certain inn, and after alighting from his horse, went into the traveller's room, where he walked backwards and forwards for a few minutes, displaying the utmost self-importance.

"Length he rang the bell, and upon the waiter's appearance, gave him an order nearly as follows:—"Waiter! the waiter replied, "Sir! I am a man of few words, and don't like to be continually ringing the bell and disturbing the House."

"I'll thank you to pay attention to what I say." The waiter again replied, "Yes Sir."

"In the first place bring me in a glass of brandy and water, cold, with a little sugar, and also a tea spoon; wipe down this table, throw some coals on the fire, and sweep up the hearth; bring me a couple of candles, pen, ink, and paper, some wafers a little sucking wax; and let me know what time the post goes out.—Tell the hostler to take care of my horse, dress him well, stop his feet, let me know when he is ready to feed. Order the chambermaid to prepare me a good bed, take care that the sheets are well aired, a clean night cap, and a glass of water in the room.—Send the boots with a pair of slippers that I can walk to the stable in; tell him I must have my boots clean'd and bro't into this room to-night, and that I shall want to be called at 5 in the morning. Ask your mistress what I can have for supper; tell her I should like a roast duck, or something of that sort; desire your master to send in; I want to ask him a few questions about the drapers of this town."—The waiter answered, "Yes Sir," and then went to the Landlady, and told him a gentleman in the parlour wanted a great many things, and amongst the rest he wanted him; and that was all he could recollect.

Mr. Billings.

The Traveller's Anecdote, which appeared in one of your former papers, brought to my recollection the following occurrence, which may be relied on as a fact, having frequently heard it related by one of the party, the late Mr. H. of Bolton.
