The excessive rains of Tuesday night and Wednesday last, produced a greater fresh in the Rappahannock than has been known for more than 20 years; and we fear the destruction occasioned thereby, in the upper country, is great indeed. In this town and neighborhood, several individuals have been severe sufferers, particularly Mr. Robert Dunbar, in the loss of his valuable bridge at Falmouth, the wood-work of which was entirely swept away by the destructive torrent; together with the almost entire demolition of the extensive canal which conveyed the water to the mills of Mr. Dunbar and Mr. Richards. The canal on this side the river, which conveyed the water to the mill of Messrs. Cooch and Hollingsworth, was greatly injured, and the wood-work at the head destroyed. The house on Johnston and Young's wharf, occupied by Mr. Donaldson, and another occupied by Mr. MacWilliams have been carried off. A small vessel, loaded with oyster shells, broke her fasts and was dashed to pieces against Gaffel's wharf—several other small vessels parted their cables and have gone down with the current. The meadows of Messrs. Williams, Minor, Mortimer, Lewis, &c. were entirely overflowed, and great losses sustained in hay, corn, &c. The water continued to rise at ten o'clock last night. Two northern mails and one southern are now due.

NORFOLK, August 13.

MONDAY, AUGUST 17.

Ship William Taylor, Hitchcock, of Baltimore, arrived at Amsterdam June 16.
June 14, lat. 16, N. long. 22, W. was spoke ship William Bingham, 23 days from Baltimore for Canton, all well.

Private letters from Liverpool, of so late a date as June 24th, are silent on the subject of a rupture between the United States and Great-Britain; and, far from expressing any apprehensions of such an event, they state that the shipments of the present season to this country, would be quite as great as heretofore. [Jackson.]

LOYD'S LIST.

June 26—Arrived at Gravesend, Globe, Bailly, from Baltimore; Cora, Mooney, do. Rolly, Graves, Virginia; Hamilton, Moore, Charleston. At Tonnington, Flora, Abeona, and Belfast, from Charleston; Cynthia, Andrew, Salem; Elenor, Virginia. At Rotterdam, Ariadne, N. Y. At Gluckstadt, Friendship, Charleston.

Every body has known so much, and we are all so apt to talk of, the case of Colonel Burr, that to find a jury, all of whom are entirely free from having expressed opinions against the accused, is likely to be found no very easy matter.

PORTLAND (Main) August 10.

Lieut. Laurence, of the Navy, who is now stationed here to superintend the departure of the gun-boats who were ordered in the first instance to enlist his men for two months, has, the last week, received new orders to enlist them for two years.

The following article, extracted from an English paper of the 21st of June, certainly evinces no premeditated hostility on the part of that government towards this country. [U. S. Gazette.]

"Capt. Love's Letter, upon which we animadverted last week, has, as was reasonably to be expected, excited a very strong sensation in America: It was sent express to the president, and some strong measures it is supposed will be restored to by the government on the occasion.—The promptitude of this country in protesting against capt. Love's conduct, will it is hoped, convince to the Americans the sense of the nation upon this man's puerile folly, and contumacious impudence."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Richmond, dated August 15.

"Colonel Burr's trial is now proceeding; out of forty-eight Veniemen, four only were received; the rest objected to, per cause given, or suspended; the propriety of their serving was argued all day yesterday. The judgment of the court was, that they were not proper jurors, as having prejudged the case—a new panel is ordered for this day."

TRIAL OF AARON BURR.

(Continued by adjournment and held at the capitol in the hall of the house of Delegates.) for high treason against the United States.

Friday, August 7.

The following new witnesses appeared this day: Lieut. Swaringen, William McFarlane and Lewis Kerr.

Mr. Hay, observed, that he had nothing more to submit to the court; and that he hoped all the material witnesses would be present on Monday, and enable him to prosecute the trial.

Monday, August 10.

Herman Blannerhasset was this day brought into court.

The following gentlemen appeared and were recognized: Return J. Meigs, Maurice P. Bellnap, Charles Duval, James Taylor, Tunis Dils, Bennett Cook, Hezekiah Lewis, and G. B. Vanhorne.

Mr. Witt moved the court to discharge Dr. Wardlaw, one of the venire. His wife was in extreme danger, and required the assistance of a sea-voyage. The vessel would sail to-morrow. C. Justice.—is the court to understand that there is no objection to this measure? Mr. Burr.—If the remark be addressed to me, Sir, I can only say, that I shall remain passive during the transaction. Dr. Wardlaw was then dismissed.

Mr. McRae also moved the discharge of Mr. Randolph Harrison, whose extreme indisposition was attested by a certificate from Dr. Adams.

Mr. H. was accordingly dismissed in the same manner.

Mr. Hoy moved, that H. Blannerhasset be arraigned for high treason; which Mr. Botts opposed, on the ground that he had not been furnished with a copy of the indictment for three days. After some desultory conversation on this circumstance, Mr. Botts requested that Mr. B. might be re-conducted to the penitentiary, as he was extremely indisposed, and the heat nearly overpowered him. No opposition was made, and Mr. B. was accordingly re-conducted to his prison.

At Mr. Hay's request, the panel of the jury was called over by the deputy-marshal, and also at Mr. Burr's request, the list of the witnesses whom he had subpoenaed for the purpose of investigating the qualification of some of the Venire.

Mr. Hay read a certificate from Dr. Upshaw, stating that Mr. James Henderson is sick of a bilious fever, and incapable of attending.

Mr. McRae then read a certificate from Dr. Greenhow, shewing that David Bullock, Esq. one of the Venire, was prevented by indisposition from discharging his duties.

The clerk informed Mr. Burr, that he was at liberty to challenge such of the Venire as he might object to. Mr. Burr begged leave to inform the jurors, who were within hearing, that a great number of them may have formed and expressed opinions about him, which might disqualify them from serving on this occasion: He expected that as they came up, they would discharge the duties of conscientious men, and candidly state all these objections.

[The deputy-marshal then proceeded to summon the witnesses. After the calling of most of whom much conversation and argument ensued; as this was generally, not very interesting, we deem it unnecessary to detain the press to-day for much detail.]

On Tuesday, the 11th, some of the counsel indulged in warm and improper remarks. Chief Justice demanded that the government be not treated with disrespect. Mr. Martin, speaking of the counsel for the prosecution wishing, as they professed, to save time, observed, "He talks, sir, of economy of time. And is this the way to economy when here on a former occasion. Yes, sir, I well know these gentlemen would save our time. They would, if they could, deprive colonel Burr's counsel of an opportunity of defending him, that they might as soon as possible hang up their victim, to gratify the government, &c."

Mr. M'Bas replied, "That is a most unprincipled and unfounded assertion; I say it, sir, to his face!"

Mr. Burr declared that no improper allusions or reflections had ever, or would ever, be countenanced by him; he wished a fair and impartial trial on charges preferred.

The following is the last proceedings as given in the Enquirer. We will to-morrow proceed with the detail.]

Thursday, August 13.

Mr. Burr observed, that just before coming into court he had received a copy of the panel awarded yesterday. It was deficient in not having the places of residence affixed to the name of the jurors. He should perhaps require till the day after to-morrow to examine it. After some conversation, the court determined to adjourn till Saturday 11 o'clock.

Some conversation then ensued respecting the Subpena Duces Tecum, when Mr. Hay stated that he had found gen. Eaton's letter, among certain papers transmitted by Mr. Rodney, & had filed it with the clerk. As to gen. Wilkinson's letter of the 21st October, he had not found it among those papers; but would seek for it again.

Married on the 13th instant, in Harford county, by the rev. Samuel Martin, Mr. Thomas Prater, of Baltimore, to Miss Elizabeth Hakins, of that place.
