Attention! Artillerists.

Proprietor of a work entitled THE AMERICAN ARTILLERIST'S COMPANION.

To be printed by subscription, and offered to the patronage of the Federal Government, the people of the United States and the Artillerists of the Army, Navy and Militia. B. LEWIS TOWNSARD.

This work was commenced in the year '96, at the desire of General George Washington, then president of the United States.—The day has been favorable to the work, as during a visit to France, from the inquiries he made, and the communication he received from officers of the best experience and information, the author was enabled to make corrections and considerable additions.

The materials are extracted from the best Swedish, German, English, French, Italian, and other authors, who have written on that science. It contains:

All that is relative to the disposition, construction and service of different batteries, to ordinance in general, the invention, proportion, casting & of boring Guns; construction and preparation of their different carriages and appendages; use and service of Mortars and Howitzers; method and experiments on the same. Principles of Gunnery; Tables on the ranges of shot and canister shot; projection of shells; methods and experiments on the same; also general maxims on the manner of serving different batteries; history & use of Field Artillery, with the improvements which have been made in that service by the brilliant powers, chiefly by the invention of the flying, more properly denominated, Horse Artillery; observations on point blank shot, and the method of pointing guns in the field; experiments and maxims on the same and application to their training. Exercise of battering and garrison cannon; of guns mounted on rampart, traveling and sea-coast carriages. Exercise of mortars and howitzers; of field and horse artillery, as practised in the revolutionary war by the American, and at present by the French and English Artillerists. All these exercises are rendered clear by the words of command & their explanation; plates for the same. Exercise of cannon on board a ship of war. Saps. The several bridges and pontoons used in war. Tables of construction for battering cannon, mortars, howitzers, and field pieces; and for all kinds of carriages and other artillery waggon. A treatise on gun powder and its invention, entering into details on the substances it is composed of, the different methods of its fabrication, desiccation, graining, proving, and storing in magazines, with observations and experiments on the same. On the casting of brass guns & the formation of moulds in sand, &c. On the manner and instruments used in proving guns, &c. A description of Gover's patent gun carriage for the navy, its application to garrison use, and advantages over common carriages; and many other interesting subjects which it would be too long to enumerate. The whole terminated with a table of matters composed so as to serve as an artillery vocabulary.

The work will be illustrated by upwards of thirty-six plates, handsomely executed, with the explanations to the same, which will leave no ambiguity to the reader.

The work is now in the press, and will be published in five numbers of from 120 to 150 pages each, with as much dispatch as attention to the correctness of typography and engravings will permit; each number being accompanied with six or seven plates.

A Stolen Horse.

The subscriber on the 11th day of June last, swooped a Horse, with a certain person who called himself James Wilson, who appeared to be about 30 years of age, slender made, with only one arm, dressed in a blue coat and narkeen pantaloons. His anxiety to get rid of the Horse, induced me to suspect he was stolen, of which I mentioned to him, and in consequence of which he absconded, and has never since returned; but left me in possession of both Horses; I do therefore give this public notice, for the benefit of the owner, and request that he may come, prove his horse, pay the charges and take him away. The horse is a bay, about 16 hands high, with a small blench in one eye, and a few white hairs in his forehead, trots, gallops, and appears to be about 8 years old. The different editors throughout the continent are requested to insert this above a few times in their papers. WM. W. WANN, On the Great Falls of Gunpowder, twelve miles north from Baltimore. An Infallible Cure for the Tooth Ache.

I know that various opinions exist concerning my advising the price of curing the Tooth Ache—some say I am joking with the public, others say I had really discovered a cure for that tormenting malady I ought for the sake of humanity, to make it public, and support the fact by all necessary and convincing evidence: I have taken the advice, and therefore—

1st. Declare that I have given my newly discovered Essence of Sulphur, I think to near one hundred different persons who were afflicted with the pain arising from hollow or decayed teeth, and I do not know of one instance where it has failed in producing a cure nor do I believe it ever will, if used according to my directions; for I am persuaded from a knowledge of its nature and effects, that this Essence has power to remove the pain of hollow or decayed teeth, to as great a certainty as water has power to extinguish fire.

2d. I do know that it has no tendency to destroy the Enamel of the Teeth, or injure the gums, but on the contrary believe it will prevent the scurry in the gums, and preserve the teeth from decay.

3d. It may be taken inwardly with safety; I have swallowed it often, and will at any time drink it, to remove the scruples of the timidous.

4th. If ever the above mentioned Essence should fail in producing the desired effect & the tooth or teeth for which it was taken to cure, should at any future period be extracted, all money received by me for such cures shall be returned and double the sum if required.

FRANCIS GUY, Baltimore county, August 10, 1807.

Personally appeared Francis Guy, before me the subscriber, one of the justices of the peace for the county aforesaid, and made oath on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, that the facts stated above relative to the tooth ache, is just and true to the best of his knowledge and belief. Sworn before JOHN AINSWORTH.

Baltimore, 7th August, 1807. Certificate of Samuel Vincent, Esq. Justice of the Peace.

Some time in the Spring of the present year, I was very much troubled with the tooth ache. I had thoughts of having it drawn; I by chance happened in conversation with Mr. Guy, to whom I related my intention. He advised me to avoid extracting the tooth, as he presumed he had a specific, and requested me to make a trial; when he mentioned this to me, I recollected that I was told by some person that he had cured him of the tooth ache; I determined to give it a trial, and made use of his solution, perhaps three or four times, and have not had any return of it.

About three months since a colored girl of mine was also afflicted with the same pain—I sent her to Mr. Guy, who also furnished her with I presume, the same solution, and after three or four washings, the pain was removed, and no complaint since.

SAMUEL VINCENT. Certificate of the Rev. Alexander McCaine.

I hereby certify that I was afflicted with the tooth ache from about the first of last March to the beginning of June; at which period I was on my way to the Dentist, when I met with a friend, who understanding where I was going, advised me to go to Mr. Guy, and he would cure me. With much persuasion I agreed to make the trial not believing, however, that I derive much advantage (if any) from it. But to my great surprize and satisfaction, I was perfectly cured, by applying his tooth water only twice, since which I have been as free of the tooth ache as I have been at any period of my life.

ALEXANDER MCCAINE. Fell's-Point, August 7th, 1807.

Baltimore, August 7, 1807. Certificate of Eli Hewitt.

This is to certify, that about four months past, I had a severe tooth ache, for three nights and days without intermission, and by washing my mouth with what Mr. Guy calls his Essence of Sulphur, I obtained immediate relief, and have experienced no return of pain from that time to the present. ELI HEWITT, Market street.

We the subscribers, having in both our families, experienced the beneficial effects of Mr. Francis Guy's Essence of Sulphur, as a cure for the tooth ache, feel bound to declare, (judging from what we have witnessed) that we believe it possesses every virtue which the inventor ascribes to it, and that it is a sovereign remedy for this tormenting complaint. NILES & FRAILY, Editors of the Evening Post. Baltimore, August 10, 1807.

The respectable names above render it quite unnecessary to incur the expence of publishing more certificates. (7) The price of cure, one dollar and fifty cents unless the circumstances of the applicant should induce the proprietor to make a deduction. F. G. 212, Market-street, nearly opposite the Indian Queen August 12. 2aw4t

PROPOSALS,

By EZRA SARGEANT, No. 39, Wall-street, New-York, For publishing by subscription, A NEW CYCLOPEDIA, OR, Dictionary of Arts & Sciences.

BY G. GREGORY, D. D. Author of Essays Historical and Moral, the Economy of Nature, &c. &c. To be completed in twelve months from the time it is put to press. In Twelve Parts. Price two dollars and seventy-five cents each.

This literary Quackery which prompts the publisher of every new work to endeavor to magnify the merits of his own intended publication by depreciating the merit of all other similar productions, is, at once, both useless and despicable; because nothing human can rise into esteem and honor, merely upon the ruins of another's reputation; without some intrinsic excellence of its own. The Publisher of Gregory's Cyclopaedia, therefore, will leave it to others to discover and declare, that the generality of Books called Encyclopaedias are, in their very constitution and form, too expensive and too cumbersome, to be either extensively circulated, or generally useful; and will content himself with briefly stating the claims and pretensions of the Book which he hereby proposes to offer to the public.

First, It comprises the most valuable information in all the important departments of Knowledge, collected and arranged by some of the best scholars, and the most comprehensively scientific men, this day existing in Britain. Secondly, This information is comprised in a small compass, and conveyed in language at once perspicuous and elegant; so that the reader may, in a short space of time, with ease and pleasure to himself, obtain that real acquaintance with the moral, literary, political, and philosophical world, which otherwise could not be acquired from the larger works in which the sources of these streams of knowledge are contained, but by a whole life devoted to severe and unremitting labour.

In order to render the work worthy of the patronage of the American public, the Publisher has engaged all the best American Artists to engrave the Copper-Plates, of which 138 will be given in the course of the work; and has also secured the assistance of Editors of acknowledged talents and information.

It is with the blended emotions of confidence and delight, that the Publisher announces his intention of offering to his numerous patrons and supporters, a work which combines eloquence with economy, and practicable utility with splendor.

That the Patrons and Subscribers of this intended Publication, may be thoroughly assured of not having their patronage and protection abused by any defect in the execution of the work itself, or any want of punctuality in its appearance, at the stated and appointed times, the page given as a specimen of the style in which the publisher solemnly pledges himself the whole shall be executed, may be seen at the office of the Federal Gazette.

On account of the great abundance of matter and the number of Engravings which the work will contain, and in consequence of the vast expence necessarily attending the prosecution of such a plan, the publisher is compelled to solicit the aid of a sufficient number of subscribers, to enable him to carry his purpose into full effect, before he puts any part of the intended Publication into the hands of the Engraver or the Printer.

The acknowledged and intrinsic merits of the work are such as to ensure it a very general and extensive circulation; wherefore it only remains to the Publisher to ensure to his subscribers that the whole of the execution, as to the accuracy and elegance of the engravings, paper, and type, shall be such, as in every respect to correspond with the high value of the work. As to the engravings, as yet no specimen can be given; but the Publisher pledges himself that they shall be at least equal, and many superior to those in the London edition.

That there may be no possibility of disappointment to the patrons of literature as to this work, the subscriptions are proposed to be received on the following

CONDITIONS:

1st. The whole shall be comprised in Twelve parts, one of which shall be published monthly. Each part shall contain about 150 quarto pages, neatly done up in colored paper, at the price of Two Dollars and Seventy-five Cents, which is to be paid for on the delivery of each part—the whole twelve parts when completed will make two volumes in quarto, containing 238 Copper-Plate Engravings, which alone are worth the price of the whole work. It will contain more than double the matter of any similar work that has ever been published in this country.

2dly. One Dollar shall be paid at the time of subscribing, and to be deducted on the delivery of the twelfth part.

3dly. If the work be not executed in every respect equal to the engagement hereby made the subscribers shall, on returning the volumes, receive back the amount of their subscription money which has been advanced.

4thly. The price of each part will be raised to Three Dollars, the moment that the work is put to press; and even then, the whole expence of a work which contains the substance of all that is known on every subject, literary and scientific, will be only 36 Dollars.

Subscription received by GEORGE HILL, No. 104, Baltimore street. New-York, May, 1807. June 1. d
