

she was sent in, being detained by the well known Leopard, of 60 guns, being bound from the Havana for this port, where having a trial for the vessel and another for the cargo, and not being able to find a flaw, they (the British) were so condescending as to permit her to depart, after robbing the captain of 1500 dollars, under the idea of expenses. Captain F. left at Halifax, ship Jane Sammis, from Bordeaux bound to New York trial to come on the 11th instant; ship Acmon, Nye, of New Bedford, from do. bound to Baltimore, libelled; brig Fair American, captain Brown, from Guadeloupe, vessel cleared, waiting further proof for cargo, bound to Baltimore; brig Henry, Warren, from Havana, bound to New York, vessel and part of the cargo cleared, discharging the remainder for further proof; schooner Felicity, Snowden, from Cartagena, bound to Baltimore; libelled—run her on shore coming in the harbor, and had to discharge part of the cargo, and after beating her keel off and two or three holes in her garboard streak, was jolite enough to offer the vessel and cargo to the captain to take her as she was, and to pay all expenses and proceed home. In the Margaret K. Baily came four seamen, three of whom belonged to the schr. Messenger, White, of Baltimore, carried in and condemned, for the sins of a former voyage; the other an American pressed out of the Diana. These four were part of the 18 Americans discharged by order of the admiral from the British ship of war Bellona, part of which were pressed men, the others taken out of detained vessels.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22.

VOLUNTEERS.

On the 10th instant, the First Regiment Maryland Militia (Charles county) commanded by Colonel Hawkins, were addressed in an eloquent and patriotic manner by Brigadier-General Caleb Hawkins, and by John Campbell, Esquire, member of congress preparatory to the expected draft; when seventy volunteered their services as part of the quota of this state. It is expected that Gen. H's brigade will furnish their number without a draft.

By captain Conklin, in 13 days from Hayti, we learn that the war between Pétion and Christophe continued with varied success, but it was expected Christophe would finally prevail.

There are very strong reasons for believing that the yellow fever rages at present in the city of Charleston. From the information we have received we should conceive it highly proper in our board of health to keep a vigilant eye on vessels arriving from this port. [Phil paper.]

All the taxes which were levied during the ancient regime in France, have been revived and augmented in that country. That on salt is loudly complained of. The revenue from this one article, is computed at 800,000,000 of francs. [Boston Gazette.]

Extract of a letter to the editor, dated Providence, R. I. Sept. 15, 1807.

I cannot resist my inclination to inform you of the flourishing state of the cotton manufactory in this quarter of the union; that is, to furnish you with the number merely of the buildings erected, and of the spindles now completed and in motion, and of those about to be finished and set in motion in the same buildings.

There are seventeen buildings erected upon the streams in this neighbourhood, in which are, already, six thousand and ninety spindles in operation, and in which there will shortly be, an addition of fourteen thousand and twenty six, making in the whole 20,116 spindles. These manufactories are all within thirty miles of this town, and seven-eighths the property of citizens of this state. [Aurora.]

From Cobbe's Political Register of August 1. "If the house of commons do yield (the principle on which the deserters were taken) our navy will not be long-lived.—Mead, I do not pretend to say that we may not in this instance have been in the wrong; because there is nothing authentic on the subject; nor am I prepared to say that our right of search, in all cases, extends to ships of war; but of this I am certain, that if the laws of nations do not allow you to search for deserters in friend's territory, neither do they allow that friend to inveigle away your troops or your seamen, to do which, is an act of hostility, and I ask for no better proof of inveigling than the enlisting and refusing to give up such troops or seamen. The fault of our officers on that station has been excessive forbearance. The insults and injuries they have endured were disgraceful. I can form a very accurate conception of the rage of the people at Norfolk, and of the noisy town meeting; and their burning of the water casks of the Melampus is perfectly in character. I would not commit an act of injustice to America; I would only denounce and insist upon the rights of England; and above all things I would insist upon it that America should not be permitted to destroy the British navy. We are not to judge of the feelings of the people of America, properly so called, by what we read in their base and ignorant newspapers, &c. I venture to predict that when time has been allowed to cool men's minds, the voice of our friends and the friends of justice will prevail. They will not go to war with us. In dismissing the subject for the present, I beg leave just to add, that, if we permit the Americans to inveigle and detain our seamen, we CANNOT HAVE A NAVY."

The following extract is said to be from an intelligent merchant in London, who is on terms of confidence with the American ministers there. [Phil. p. per.]

"August 1, 1807. "I have the pleasure to state, that it is understood there to be a friendly discussion between our government and your ministers respecting the unfortunate business of the Leopard and the American frigate, and measures taken accordingly.

"I trust that the powers and instructions, with which they are now invested, will cement the union between the two countries and provide for those casualties, that may occasionally, or accidentally arise to interrupt it."

Departed this life on Saturday morning last, in the twenty-fifth year of her age, Miss LYDIA DORSEY, daughter of the late Nicholas Dorsey, Esquire, of Elk-Ridge.—The many good qualities possessed by this young lady, justly endeared her to all those with whom she was in habits of intimacy; and it may be truly said, in her death they have lost a sincere and valuable friend; during a long and tedious illness, she exhibited an uncommon degree of fortitude; and a few moments before her dissolution, gave comforting proofs of an assurance of future happiness.

Baltimore County, 24th August, 1807

The great and good effects of the two Camp-Meetings, held on Mr. Goagh's land between Perry Hall and the Long Calm, near the Philadelphia Road, have induced a number of the Preachers of the Gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, to hold a third meeting on the same spot; to begin on Thursday, the first of October next, and continue until Tuesday the sixth. It will be well for those who bring waggons to the camp ground to take a little more straw than they will want for their own use, that they may have the pleasure of giving to those that have none.

Ran away from the subscriber on the evening of the 30th ultimo, a Mulatto Man named TOBI. He is about 25 or 26 years of age, about 5 feet 2 or 10 inches high, pleasant countenance—speaks mild and plausible; his hair is thick and grows lower down his forehead than common, thick beard, and full of small pimples, particularly below his chin, about his neck, small eyes, rather dull and heavy, and is naturally left handed, when he went away his feet were sore on the insteps. I purchased him last fall, of Mr. Robert Oliver, of Baltimore, in whose service he was a considerable time in the capacity of a coachman, and is well known in Baltimore, where I suspect he is harbored; since I have had him he has been generally employed in driving one of my mill waggons.
