

assembled, before they arrived at the Chickasaw Bluffs? A. I did not overtake them before they got to Cole's creek. Mr. Burr. You said that they were to go to the Ouachita and to New Orleans: were they to go in any event? A. They were to go to the Ouachita; but the articles did not specify what business they were to follow. The only service which was mentioned, was, that they were to work the boats down. Mr. Baker objected to this kind of evidence. He contended that the best sort of evidence ought in every case to be produced; and that no paper ought to be mentioned, which was not exhibited in court. The objection was overruled, when Mr. Hay asked the witness whether he was certain they were to go to New Orleans first? A. I am. I recollect the articles were read after we got into the boat. Mr. A. Roe. And they were to serve 6 months? A. They were.

SATURDAY, Sept. 19.

Examination of Jacob Dunbaugh.

Mr. Hay. Will you describe the situation of the party at the mouth of Cumberland river? Witness. Am I to be confined to the Cumberland river? Mr. Hay. You may go down to the Chickasaw Bluffs. Mr. Batts. Go down to the Mississippi river; and whether you are to go further the court will instruct you. Some desultory conversation here ensued on this point, after which the witness proceeded.

On the 26th December, 1806, very early in the morning, a small skiff with four men and a Mr. Hopkins, arrived at Fort Massac. Some time after the arrival of this skiff, captain Bissell, commander at the fort, detained me for command, to go to the mouth of Cumberland river, to purchase a beef for him. Q. What were you? A. I was and am still sergeant in the army of the United States. He told me I was to call on colonel Burr with his compliments; and if colonel Burr wanted my assistance, and that I was to furnish it. Captain Bissell told me this Mr. Hopkins, who came in the skiff with 4 men, was going up with me. When we got half way up to the Cumberland, we stopped, and I asked Mr. Hopkins his business at Fort Massac; and he said it was to ask captain Bissell whether he would oppose colonel Burr's passing by the fort. I got to the mouth of Cumberland about half an hour before sunset, on the 26th December, and landed; col. B. was then encamped on Cumberland Island. After I had crossed over to the island, I saw colonel Burr, and delivered captain Bissell's message. Colonel Burr said he was much obliged to him; and that captain Bissell was very good. Colonel B. asked me, "Is not this my old friend?" I had seen him before. He said he believed I drank no brandy, and asked me if I would not have a glass of wine. When I drank, I said here's success to colonel Burr and his undertaking; and Mr. Blannerhassett (this was the first time ever saw him) stamped his foot and said "Amen." Colonel Burr told me I must take breakfast with him next morning; I replied that I would. On the 27th I saw colonel Burr, and told him I was going to the garrison. He told me to bear his compliments to captain Bissell, and asked me if I could take a barrel of apples to him. I told him I would. Whilst they were getting the apples on board, the wind sprung up very fresh, and I was not able to start. In the course of that day, I crossed him several times over to the Kentucky shore, and several of his men. During the day, col. Burr asked me how I would like to go down the river with him. I replied, very well if I could obtain the consent of my general. He said that that would make no odds. He would fix it without. This was on the 27th, and on the 28th I called on colonel B. and told him I was going to Fort Massac. He sent his compliments to captain Bissell, but said he expected he would get there before me. I told him that he might man his barge as well as he could. I would arrive there before him. I arrived at the garrison sometime in the afternoon.

Mr. Batts. There you may stop. It is impossible to progress without running into some impropriety, unless we ascertain the limits within which the witnesses are to be confined. Mr. Hay observed that he did not mean to prove any act at Fort Massac. After some conversation the examination proceeded: Mr. Hay. Did you see any military parade? A. I saw the men drawn up at the mouth of Cumberland. Q. How many men? A. I did not count them; but I suppose there were about 100. Q. What kind of men? A. Generally young men.—Mr. Wirt. Did they look like hard labourers? A. The principal part did not. Q. How drawn up? were they drawn up in a line? A. No: they were drawn up in three wings. Q. What do you mean by three wings? divisions? The witness here described their position, by drawing a figure on the floor with his foot. They described three sides of a square. Col. Burr was introduced by col. Tyler, beginning at the left. The party gradually fell in and formed a circle. Mr. Hay. How introduced? A. He went around and shook hands with every man. Mr. Hay. Did you not see some chests of arms? Mr. Burr objected to this manner of putting the question. Mr. Hay admitted that he had put the question inadvertently; he merely wished Mr. Dunbaugh to state what he knew of the chests of arms. Mr. Batts. State what you know of any chests of arms within the United States. Witness. I did not see more than a few rifles at the mouth of Cumberland. Mr. Hay. I think the court yesterday decided, that we were at liberty to state any circumstances out of the United States which were explanatory of the acts done within the U. S.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6.

The president of the United States arrived in the city this morning, at 11 o'clock, from Monticello. The heads of departments are all expected in the course of to-morrow and Monday. [Wash. Fed.]

Extract of a letter from an officer at Fort Michilmackinac, to his brother in Hollowell dated July 24.

We are now much on the alert, expecting an attack from the United tribes of Indians north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi. A great prophet, (impersonator somewhat similar in his conduct hitherto to Mahomet) who pretends he is revived from the dead by the breath of Manitou (Great Spirit) to reform and unite his red children (the Indian) and to restore them to their ancient energy, customs and independence. It is true that the Indians who hold any intercourse with the whites, readily imbibe all the vices of society, without one of the virtues, and sink into the most degrading debauchery and indolence their ancient energy and innocence. If their reformation was the real object of the new prophet's zeal, it would need be laudable. But if I only had time to incline you a copy of a talk in circulation in their councils of chiefs (very artfully obtained from an Indian woman who is attached to a trader in our interest) you would know that war, energetic war on our frontiers, is the sole object.—The poor deluded natives are neglecting their hunting, fishing and planting, and thronging to the scene of inspired legislation with an enthusiasm that is truly astonishing. But the United States are not alone in possession of demagogues under foreign influence or pay. There are Lidian demagogues in Spanish, that is to say, Bonaparte's pay; and a few of them paid their homage to him at St. Cloud last summer.

A Mr. Nolan, a respectable trader at the Falls of St. Mary (the outlet of Lake Superior) has assured us, that he accidentally saw in the possession of an Indian Chief and Missionary, who got intoxicated at his house, a red war club and black wampum belt (never failing forerunners of a war) carefully wrapped in a French flag, and precisely similar to those circulated immediately previous to the attacks of the celebrated Pontiac. (see Carver's Travels.) I hope that it will all blow over; but letters and information has poured in sufficient to convince us that something serious is brewing. [Baton paper.]

Married on Thursday evening last, at Hampton by the Rev. George Dashiell, CHARLES W. HANSON, Esq., to MISS REBECCA RIDGELY, daughter of Gen. Charles Ridgely.

Communication.
Departed this life, on the 1st instant, in the fifty seventh year of her age, Mrs. SARAH HAGERTY, wife of John Hagerty, after an affliction of upwards of seventeen years, a large part of which time she was confined to room and bed.

She was one of the excellent of the earth. Having embraced religion in the bloom of life, she adorned her profession in the church and in her family for upwards of thirty-five years.

She was a firm friend—her attachments were not soon formed, but, when made, were lasting and even—A gentle, but firm instructor and reprover, for the discharge of which duties she was well qualified, by a sound understanding, a calm mind, and a habitual sense of the presence of G. d.—Notwithstanding her long and severe afflictions, she retained all her mental faculties unimpaired to the last. She was supported by grace to the end; and said, among many other things, "I am going to glory," and died like a lamp burning out.
