The schooner Hero, captain Smith, arrived at Savannah on the 29th ult. from Bal-timore ; was boarded on his passage by a lientenant from the British frigate Melampus, who pressed one of his men, but released him at the intercession of the ladies on board.

Last week there was a heavy gale along the coast ; several vessels were seen ashore at and near the Capes of Virginia ; among which was a large ship in Lynhaven Bay.

COMMUNICATED.

We are very happy to find from an adver-tisement in the different papers, that the proprietors of the Dancing Assembly Rooms, at their late meeting, have taken into consideration and appropriated a part of that valuable Building to the Education of the Youth of our city, and that they have been pleased to tender the preference thereof to Mr. P. L. Duport, who intends to open his School, for Dancing there, on Tuesday, the 17th instant. To a majority of the first frmilies here, mr. D. is well known, and to say any thing as to the abilities of such a master, his unremitted attention and success in business, would be needless. The fruit of his practice is visible as soon as his scholar takes the floor. We understand that mr. D. has, to meet the wishes and expectations of his patrons here, relinquished an extensive, popular and profitable establishment in New-York, profferred to him last spring for the present season and we sincerely hope, that such

Me. Alston thought the reasoning of the committee of elections more conclusive than that contained in the substitute offered by the gentleman (Mr. M.) He could see no objection, if gentlemen believed Mr. M.Cree-ry entitled to a seat in this house, to voting for the resolution as it now stood. By voting for that, the house did not adopt the report of the committe. That was distinct. The house might vote for the resolution, to the exclusion of the reasoning of the committee. He did not believe that the legislature of Maryland, or any other, had a right to add one single qualification to those enumerated in the constitution of the United States. Several of the states, had indeed passed laws on the subject. The state he had the honor to represent (North Carolina) had enacted, that each district of the state should have a right to send one member, and that that member should have resided for 12 months in a particular district : yet he did not believe but that if the people should think proper to elect a man duly qualified, who might reside in another part of the state, he would be entitled to a seat in this house. He never had a doubt on the subject. The state of Virginia, too, had prescribed that no person should be eligible unless he possessed a free hold estate : if they had a right to do this, they might as well say, that he should possess one or two thousand acres of land. They might go further : they might prescribe the porticular quality of the land. Mr. A. then spoke of the case of Mr. Meade of Georgia, in which case the house had decided contrary to the law of Georgia. This, he said, was a strong case ; much stronger than the one now presented to view. He concluded by observing, that if a candidate possessed the qualifications required by the constitution, the house could go no further, any regulation of a state to the contrary notwithstanding. After some further debate, Mr. Montgomery withdrew his proposition. Mr Randolph then moved, that the committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again. This motion occasioned a debate of con." siderable length and interest. The principal point agitated, was, the constitutionality of the law of Maryland, declaring that one of the members for Baltimore shall reside in the city. At about 40 minutes after 8, the question and it was taken on Mr. Randolph's motion, and it was agreed to; yeas 78; and then the house adjourned until Monday morning, 11 o'clock. [Mr MacCreery retired from the house as soon as the business was taken up.]

the whole be discharged from the further consideration of the said petition. After some few observations from Messrs. Alston and Williams against the motion, it was

Mr. Bibb inquired whether it would be in order to move to strike out all that part of the report which precedes the resolution ? The chairman decided that it would not. Mr. Bibb then moved to amend the resolution so as to declare that W. Mac Creery was duly elected, according to the laws of Maryland. He said that the law of Maryland of 1802, which declared that one of the candidates shall reside in Baltimore county and the other in the city, did not here is the candidates shall reside in Baltimore county and the other in the city, did not declare how long a candidate should reside in either. He believed it had been admitted on all hands that Mr. Mac Creery had resided in the city some days previous to the election : he therefore thought him entitled to a seat in the house. Mr. Montgomery offered a substitute to in which station he continued until ast tled to his seat.
