It follows there fore, that the consumption will be less -but we trust the reduction will not be so great as the enemy expects. It is we fear, too much to attempt to prove, that our trade will not suffer at all:

CONGRESS. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. [TAKEN for the FEDERAL GAZETTE.] Washington, December 15.

Proceedings this day. Mr. Milner moved that the memorial from the merchants and traders of the city of Philadelphia. (presented a few weeks ago) be referred to the committee of the whole to whom was yesterday referred, the memorial of the merchants of Boston (presented yesterday) on the same subject. He also cailed for the ayes and noes on this mo-

The motion was opposed by Mr. Lvon and Mr. Chandler, and supported Mr. Upham and Mr. Chittenden.

Mr. Gardenier moved that the previous question be taken (viz: "shall the main question be now put?") Mr. Milner called for the ayes and noes on this motion also. They were taken, and Mr.G's motion was carried, ayes 64, noes 52. Some conversation took place whether this decision precluded any further debate on the original motion. The speaker declared that it did. Mr. Randolph appealed from this decision, and called for the ayes & noes, which were about to be taken (after some discussion) when Mr. Pitkin moved that the decision of the question be postponed until to-morrow. Mr. Randolph called for the ayes and noes on this motion. They were taken, and the motion was lost, ayes 48, noes 69. The question was then taken by ayes and noes, on the correctness of the speaker's decision; and there were against it, 106-for it 14; so it was decided to be incorrect, and that debate could be had in the house after the previous question was taken.

The original motion was therefore before the house, viz: the reference of the memorial as above mentioned. Mr. Ely spoke in favour of the motion.

Mr. Blount moved that the further consideration of the motion be postponed till next Monday week. Mr. Milner opposed this motion & urged that of referring the memorial. He said that the merchants of Philadelphia had at present nearly eight millions of dollars worth of property affeat in the India trade, a great part of which would probably be implicated under the operation of the non importation law as it now stood; and he hoped the house would not suffer these merchants to incur so great a loss.

Mr. Gardenier and Mr. Dana also spoke against Mr. Blount's motion, and in favor of referring the petition; and Mr. Sawyer and Fisk, and others. against referring it.

Mr. Milner called for the ayes and noes on the motion for postponement. They were ordered to be taken. Mr. Kelly spoke in favor of referring the mem rial; when the question was taken by ayes and noes on postponing, & lost, ayes 44, noes 60. The question was then taken by ayes and noes on referring the memorial, and it was lost, ayes 44, n es 56. And then the house adjourned.
