WASHINGTON CITY, March 4.

We state, upon respectable authority, that a conversation, reported in some of the public prints, as having passed betwen Mr. Madison and Mr. Rose, respecting the President's Proclamation, did not take place.

[MR. GARDENIER'S WOUND.]

We are happy to say that the surgeons have ascertained it to be only a flesh wound, and not likely to be attended by any dangerous consequences. The gentlemen, we understand, both behaved with greart bravery and coolness on the ground.

IN SENATE, March 3.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the application of Mr. Smith's counsel for farther time.

Whereupon, on motion of Mr. Adams, the consideration of the Report of the Committee in this case was postponed to the 15th inst. and liberty given to Mr. Smith's counsel in the mean time to inspect the papers received by the Senate.

A letter from Detroit, of the 13th Feb. states, that "Col. Close, a British officer has arrived at Malden (an English fortress about 18 miles from Detroit) and a large Council of Indians is shortly to be held. They are arriving daily; and I presume there are not less than fifteen hundred men, women and children, already collected at that place.

[New-York paper.]

The Frankfort, (Kentucky) Argus, of the 4th ultimo, says, "This evening, after a very lengthy debate on the resolution recommending to the general government an inquiry into the conduct of Hon. Judge Innes, it was passed by a large majority."

Letters from London so late as Jan. 12th have been received by the Packet. These letters, from most intelligent sources, concur in the opinion, that a negociation for peace is certainly about to commence between England and France. [Phil. Gazette.]

POST-OFFICE,

NEW-YORK, 29th February.

It has probably been observed, that part of the letters by the British Packet, which arrived here yesterday, were delivered and distributed this morning and the residue this afternoon. Although they were delivered as they were received, at two distinct periods of time; yet it may be due to the public to explain the cause of this double delivery. On investigation, the following circumstances appear to have occasioned the mistake. The Packet touched at Bermuda to deliver a mail there; the persons employed to select the letters for that port, opened all the bags containing the mails for their delivery and distribution, as well as those for Canada and New Providence, and after taking out the letters for Bermuda, returned the remaining contents promiscuously into the mail bag. On the arrival of the packet in this port, the agent for the packets, not apprised of the above circumstances, as usual, sent the bags supposed to contain all the letters and papers for the United States to this office. On examining the Bermuda and New Providence mails a short time afterwards, he discovered the error, and immediately rectified it, by selecting and forwarding to the post-office the remainder of the letters for their delivery and distribution.

The mail for New Providence is commonly made up previously to its coming to the hands of the agent, it is a fortunate circumstance therefore on this occasion that the agent took the precaution of examining it prior to its being dispatched.

THEODORUS BAILEY,
Post-Master.

Extract of a letter from Dr. Louis Valentin, a physician of high respectability, in Marseilles, to one of the editors of the Charleston Courier, dated October 31st 1807.

"Notwithstanding all our exertions for exterminating the Small-Pox, yet there are many who fall victims to it in several of the large cities of the empire, as Paris, Lyons, Nancy, Chambery, &c. Marseilles is free from it, in consequence of two vaccine institutions, where the people are daily vaccinated. If the Small Pox should, perchance, be introduced by foreigners or travellers, it is not propagated for want of subjects.—The Vaccine Society at Paris will hold a general and publick meeting in January, in which the central committee will make a report, to the minister of the interior, of the progress of vaccination, throughout the empire, during 1806 and 1807.

"A friend of mine has informed me of a very extraordinary fact which took place at Metz, in the department of Mozelle, and to which he was a witness. An apethecary and botanist of Metz, vaccinated a child between four and five years of age, by two punctures in each arm. The pustule did not appear until one year after the vaccination, when the punctures assumed their usual appearance, and went through their regular course. I do not recollect to have heard that the vaccine virus had lain dormant in the system for so great a length of time.—There is no doubt of the fact in this case."

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

March 4.

Proceedings this day.

When the house met it was mentioned by one of the members, that the speaker was unable to attend on account of ill health.

Mr. Blount proposed that the house adjourn until tomorrow, and if the speaker did not attend at that time, the house could proceed to elect a speaker pro tem.

Mr. G. W. Campbell and Mr. W. Alston contended that neither the clerk nor any other person had authority to put a question to adjourn the house.

Several of the members were for appointing a speaker pro tem. immediately; others were for "dispersing until to-morrow."

Mr. Quincy contended, that according to the words of the constitution, the house was supposed to exist before the election of a speaker; and that as to the person who should put the question for adjournment it was mere matter of form.

The clerk then put the question and it was carried, Ayes 66. So the house adjourned until to-morrow.

Lace Manufactory,

No. 6, WATER-STREET.

H. DUON, Lace-Maker from Europe,

Respectfully informs his friends & the public in general that he has established in this city, a Lace Manufactory superior to the one he had in Philadelphia. Merchants, Miliner's, Taylors, Upholsterers, Carriage-makers, may be supplied according to their demands and attended to with the utmost punctuality. There will always be on hand, a supply of Military decorations, Gold and Silver Epaulets of every description, Silk, Cotton and Wool, etc. Embroidery of every kind will be undertaken, such as Ladies' Shoes, Gowns, Shirts, etc. or any works of that line.

H. DUON flatters himself to merit the approbation and patronage of a generous public having already given proof in Philadelphia, of his abilities in the above business.

Merchants will be treated with liberality.

A NEW AND GREATLY IMPROVED

FAMILY PHYSICIAN,

Entitled

THE PLANTER'S AND MARINER'S

MEDICAL COMPANION.

BY JAMES EWELL, PHYSICIAN IN SAVANNAH.

RECOMMENDATIONS

In testimony of the merits of this work, the following certificates presented by some of the most distinguished Medical characters, of the U. States, are inserted.

Philadelphia, December 31, 1807.

Sir,

I have read your book entitled "The Planter's and Mariner's Medical Companion" with pleasure, and think it worthy the attention of the citizens of the Unites

W. SHIPPEN, M. D.
Professor of Anatomy.

Philadelphia, December 31, 1807.

Dear Sir,

I have carefully perused your work just printed, entitled "The Planter's and Mariner's Medical Companion." I take much pleasure in expressing my entire approbation of the plan of the work, and of the utility with which you have conducted your inquiries Your book cannot fail to be a very acceptable present to the public in general, and especially of our own Countrymen. I really am of opinion, that you are entiled to much praise for the pains which you have taken in furnishing us with a work, such as the "Medical Companion," the want of which, has long been experienced among us.

With sincere wishes for your health and happiness, and for the continuance of your usefulness,

I remain, my dear Sir,
Your friend, &c.
B. S BARTON, M. D

Professor of Materia Medica, Natural History, and Botany.

Dr. James Ewell.

December 28th, 1807.

I have read "The Planter's and Mariner's Medical Companion," by Dr. James Ewell of the State of Georgia, with pleasure and satisfaction. It is a book containing a variety of matter in a small compass. The practice which he recommends in diseases, is modern and judicious, and the work cannot fail of being extremely useful, in all families in the U. States.

JAMES WOODHOUSE, M. D.
Professor of Chemistry, in the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. James Ewell.

Philadelphia, December 26th, 1807.

Dear Sir,

I have looked over "The Planter's and Mariner's Medical Companion" with great pleasure, and not a little instruction. I find it an excellent remembrancer of much that I have already learnt from other works, and from professional experience. Being better adapted to the general circumstances of the people of the United States than any other production of the kind hitherto published, it cannot fail to prove an invaluable "Companion" to those remote from medical aid. That all your views in the publication of it may be more than realized, is the sincere wish of

Your friend and
Obedient Servant,
CHARLES CALDWELL, M. D.

Dr. James Ewell.

Philadelphia, December 29, 1807.

Dear Sir,

The work entitled, "The Planter's and Mariner'o Medical Companion," which you were good enough to submit to my examination, I have read very attentively, and I consider it the most useful popular treatise on medicine, hitherto published.

The writings of Tissot, Buchan, and Reece on this subject, have deservedly acquired reputation; but their practice is adapted rather to the diseases of the Countries in which they lived, than to those of our own

A well digested work, in a style plain and familiar, which should inculcate a practice suited to the diseases of the United States has been long required. You have now supplied the want. I trust that your very valuable book may be widely circulated. It is certainly calculated to do much good. Every family should purchase and carefully read it.

N. CHAPMAN, M. D.
Lecturer on Midwifery, and the diseases of Women and Children.

Dr. James Ewell.

DEAR SIR,

I have looked over your "Medical Companion" with pleasure and satisfaction, and approve of the design. The arrangement of the various parts is judicious, the language is plain and perspicuous, and the sentiments happily condesned—the modes of treatment grow out of the most improved state of our science, and may serve not only as a safe and useful guide to the "Planter & Mariner," but are well calculated, from their intrinsic merit, to suggest valuable hints to the medical practitioner.

Every family, cut off from the regular services of able physicians, would, in my opinion, with advantage, possess one of your volumes. Accept the homage of my regard.

JOHN B. DAVIDGE, M. D.
Professor of Anatomy, Surgery, &c. in the College of Medicine of Maryland.

Baltimore, Feb. 19th, 1808.

Baltimore, March 3d, 1808.

DEAR SIR,

We have read over your publication entitled the "Planters and Mariner's Medical Companion" with much satisfaction, and consider it as meriting esteem for the concise and accurate history which it gives of the various diseases of the human body, (few if any of which, we believe are omitted) and the method of cure, which is both rational and agreeable to our experience We are happy that you have made use of the new facts that have occured in medicine, in that plain and easy manner which renders them easy comprehended and acted upon by persons of moderate knowledge in disease. We can recommend it, with propriety, to that class of citizens who have not an opportunity or means of procuring regular medical advice, and consider it as fully answering the intention of your benevolence to people of these states, in its compilation.

We are your well wishers,
LITTLEJOHN & DONALDSON.

Dr. James Ewell.

DEAR SIR,

We have perused you book, entitled the "Planter's & Mariner's Medical Companion," with much satisfaction, and strongly recommend it to the attention of those families who cannot, with convenience, procure medical aid. We think it the best publication we have ever read, on the domestic treatment of diseases, more especially as it regards those of our climate.

We are,
Very respectfully,
Sir,
Your most obd't servants,
BROWN & MACKENZIE.

Dr. James Ewell.

Baltimore, 4th March, 1808.

SIR,

I have read your work on Domestic Medicine, with pleasure. The practice recommended in it is, I think, judicious, and I have no doubt that the solitary planter and the voyager, secluded from medical aid, will often be under great obligations to you. Your work is the first that has been written for family use in this country, and being from the pen of a native physician, has great advantages over the publications of Buchan and Tissot If its dissemination shall prove equal to what it merits, you will soon have a call for another edition.

I am, with respect,
