Cleared, ship General Hamilton, Page, Charleston.

NEW-YORK, March 4.

By the Aldebaran, in a very short passage from Leghorn, we learn, that during the two first weeks in January, about 30 sail of American vessels, bound to the dependencies of Napoleon had arrived at Gibraltar, having been boarded by cruizers, in compliance with the Order in Council of the 11th of November. See ship news.

The ship Calliope, bound from N. York to Bordeaux, was boarded at the entrance of the Garonne by the English blockading squadron and ordered off. She afterwards put into L'Orient, where she was under sequestration in conformity to the Milan decree. A letter from Nantz, says that steps had been taken at Paris to place the ship and cargo at the disposal of the consignees; and it was HOPED, that the Imperial decree would not be put into execution against American vessels that had not received notice of it previous to their sailing.

General MOREAU arrived at N. Orleans on the 22d of January, and was to take passage from thence in a few days for Charleston. His lady, according to accounts received by the Pamptico, was detained at Bordeaux, without being permitted to proceed to Paris to make the family arrangements which her mother's death had rendered indispensable. Accordingly, she was settling her affairs at Bordeaux as well as circumstances would allow her to do, and she intended to take passage in one of the first vessels for N. york.

Doctor Demoville passenger in the British ship Medway from Philadelphia, died at Madeira, shortly after his arrival.

We understand that a packet of letters destined for England, from Copenhagen, was intercepted and fell into the hands of the Crown Prince, by which an immense property in Denmark, belonging to British subjects, and covered with neutral names, has been made known to him, and he has acted upon it with the vigorous spirit of retaliation.

A manufactory is in operation in Waterbury (Con.) which turns out Gilt Buttons, equal in elegance and durability, to those imported. The proprietors, Abel Porter & Co. have employed a gilder from London, and advertised for patronage to this branch of American manufactures.

FEDERAL GAZETTE

AND BALTIMORE DAILY ADVERTISER.

MONDAY, MARCH 7.

From Washington.

Not a sufficient number of members attending, nothing was done on Saturday. The Speaker of the House of Representatives is yet unable to take the chair; he is recovering.

Mr. Gardenier was better; being able to sit up without assistance. He still remains at Bladensburg. HIS WOUND.—The ball entered under the axilla, struck against a rib and passed under the scapula; was extracted from near the spine.

Our readers will find some interesting items under the head of "Official Documents," in this evening's Gazette; by the publication of which we endeavor to compensate for the scarcity of news. It will be well to preserve these documents; that at a future day, we may have the satisfaction of seeing what we once were. It will be seen by the paper headed "Exports" that Maryland is fourth in amount. Accompanying Mr. Randolph's bill for the punishment of conspiracies (presented last Thursday) is an interesting communication from the Attorney-General.
