As an attempt to produce an undue bias in the ensuing election of President & Vice-President, and virtually to transfer the appointment of those officers from the people, to a majority of the two Houses of Congress.

And we do in the same manner protest against the nomination of James Madison, as we believe him to be unfit to fill the office of President in the present juncture of our affairs.

February 27th, 1808.

THIS DAY's MAILS.

SALEM, March 1.

Arrived, barque Active, Richardson, with an English prize master on board CREW IN IRONS. The Active sailed hence for Malaga the 12th of December. On the 2d Jan. in lat. 27, 15, long 17, 20, was boarded by an English cruizer, by whom his papers were endorsed against entering any but a British port; the voyage thus frustrated, captain R. altered his course to return to America; but two days after he was taken possession of by a British letter of marque, under pretence that returning home was going contrary to the order in the indorsement; all, except himself, the steward, cook, & 1 seaman, were taken out, and a prizemaster, mate, and five hands put on board with orders to proceed to Nevis. Within about 36 hours sail of port, they lost sight of the letter marque, when captain R with the steward and cook, took an opportunity to seize upon the arms, and with them recovered possession of the vessel, and putting their captors in irons proceeded home.

This vessel was once before recovered from her captors, in the Indian ocean, by capt. Bryant, who then commanded her.

AMMERICAN CITIZENS vs AURORA.—The following is extracted from the answer which the editor of the N. Y. Citizen (a democrat) has given to mr. Duane's paragraph republished by us yesterday, beginning "To your tents O Israel."

"It does not however appear that negociation is broken off, nor that our government has called "Israel to its tetnts." although we were so told and so summoned 5 weeks ago; and the summons is now repeated by a man whose malignity has no bounds—whose egotism is disgusting—whose ignorance is well known to those who know him—who to gratify his barbarian passions, would, cause or no cause, involve millions in all the horrors of war, and who, in all probability would be the first runaway from the approach of the very enemy he would provoke. I repeat it—five weeks ago we were told with consummate assurance by that man that the negociation was at an end, and those who were unacquainted with his imposture, felt alarmed. Now was it at an end? Was he not guilty of a deliberate, and considering the occasion, most wicked falsehood. We all know, little as we are permitted to know of our public affairs, that the negociation was not then broken off; nor is it, we are assured by the conduct of our government even now. And yet with the confidence of a mountebank blowing out his flame and spinning out his ropes, "Israel" was then as now, called to its "tents." Whenever the negociation shall have been broken off in consequence of the insolent demands, or unjust refusals of England, we may be assured that our government will communicate the facts sufficiently early and prepare us for the event.

"But I have no wish to pursue the falshoods and ravings of the madman. When negociation shall have failed, we shall be officially informed of it, and when congress, upon that failure, shall have decided upon an appeal to arms, the war grounded on justice will be supported with vigor. In the mean time it may be well for good men to be UPON THEIR GUARD against the fell designs of incendiares. They may be assured that there are amongst us men who by exagerations everlastingly repeated, if not falsehoods, would get by the ears two nations on whose peace depends the liberty of the world.

NEXT PRESIDENT?

Randolph has recovered; and a stand is taken against Mr. Bradley's president. See the protest in preceding page. The Democratic members of the Delaware legislature, "as private citizens," have determined to adhere to the caucus nomination. The "Democratic Press," declares New-York & Pennsylvania unanimous in favour of Clinton for president.

By information from Georgia, we learn that the four representatives in congress from that state (Messrs. Crawford, Bibb, Cobb and Smelt) who voted against the embargo have become extremely popular in consequence of that vote. The law is in that state universally condemned.

[U. S. Gaz.]

The following recommendation of the Farmer's and Mariner's Medical Companion was not received when we first published the advertisement of Messrs KID and THOMAS, publishers of the work.

Dear Sir,

I have carefully perused your Medical Companion," and have much pleasure in asserting that it abounds with excellent observations, well calculated to convey valuable instruction to all who are possessed of regular information on the subjects of which it treats. It is easy of comprehension, and has an important advantage in being short, whilst it leaves little that is essential unnoticed Heads of families will find it a useful guide on many interesting occasions. Were indeed, men in general to give more attention to the principles of diseases, and the means of remedying them, their ravages might be much more extensively mitigated. With my best wishes for your success in your endeavors to lessen the sum of human evils, I beg you to be assured, that I am, Doar Sir, yours with sincere regard.

[TAKEN for the FEDERAL GAZETTE.]

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

March 7.

Proceedings this day.

Mr. Porter presented a petition from sundry proprietors of PATENT RIGHTS, in the city of Philadelphia, praying to be allowed a further extension of their patents. Ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Boyle, from the committee on PUBLIC LANDS, reported "a bill supplementary to the act regulating the grants of land in the territory of Michigan." Referred to a committee of the whole on Wednesday.

Mr. G. W. Campbell, from the committee of ways and means, reported "a bill to amend the act to regulate and fix the compensations of clerks, and to authorise the laying out of certain public roads, and for other purposes." Referred to a committee of the whole on Thursday.

A message in writing was received from the president of the United States, accompanying sundry documents relative to the lands called the BATTURE, at New-Orleans. [It will be recollected that some conflicting claims to this land lately occasioned considerable agitation at New-Orleans, one party contending they were private, the other that they were public property.] The message and documents were referred to the committee on public lands.

A message was received from the senate, transmitting an address and resolutions from the legislature of Kentucky, to the president and congress of the United States, (which were forwarded to their senators in congress) expressive of their confidence in the national government, and of their indignation at the attack on the Ceesapeake, &c.

Mr. Newton, from the committee of commerce and manafactures, to whom was referred the bill from the senate "for erecting a LIGHT HOUSE and placing buoys at the places therein mentioned, reported the same with amendments. Referred to a committee of the whole to-morrow.

Mr. J. Clay, from the select committee, reported "a bill for the encouragement of learning and the promotion of the USEFUL ARTS," which was referred to a committee of the whole on Friday.

Mr. Clopton submitted the following resolution: Resolved, That a committee be appointed to inquire into the expediency of continuing in force for a further time the act for the more effectual preservation of peace in the ports and harbors of the United States and in the waters under their jurisdiction, and that they have leave to report by bill or otherwise. Agreed to.

The house went into committee of the whole on the bill concerning COURTS MARTIAL and courts of inquiry; the motion to strike out the first section being undecided; the question was taken on it, and it was lost, yeas 86, nays 62. The committee rose, and reported the bill with one or two small amendments, which were immediately taken up and agreed to by the house. The quastion was then taken by ayes and noes on engrossing the bill for a third reading and it was carried. ayes 65, noes 43.

The house proceeded to consider the amendments made in committee of the whole some days ago to the "bill authorising the sale of public ARMS."

Mr. Bibb, offered an amendment to authorise those states who were creditors of the United States to receive arms in payment.

This amendment was opposed by mr. Quincey, on the ground that those states would immediately realize money which was not payable for a great length of time; and also that it would empower the secretary at war to favor particular states.

Mr. Nelson supported the amendment, contending that no states would apply for these arms, unless they wanted them.

Mr. Bacon offered an amendment to the amendment, providing that these arms should only be sold to states to whom money was now actually due. This amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Taylor moved to reconsider this vote—Agreed to, ayes 37—nays 35.

A considerable debate then took place on Mr. Bacon's amendment. It was opposed by Mr. Bibb on the ground that it would entirely destroy the object of his amendment. Whence, he asked, came the opposition to his amendment?—Did it come from those who represented the agricultural interest of the country? No—We were about to go to war (he said) for the protection of commerce, and yet those who represented the commercial interest refused to furnish the militia with arms.

Mr. Bacon replied, that as far as respected himself, he did represent the agricultural interest; and he would add further, that he represented thirty thousand FREEMEN.

[The object of Mr. Bibb's amendment is to authorise the Secretary at War to sell arms to the state of Georgia on account of monies which may hereafter become due from the U. States to that state, for land purchased of her.]

Messrs. Quincey and Ely also spoke in favor of Mr. Bacon's amendment; & Messrs. Troup, Taylor, Rhea and Alston against it—when the question was taken on it, and it was lost, ayes 14.

The question was taken on Mr. Bibb's amendment, and it was found that there was not a quoram.

Mr. Ely moved to adjourn.

Mr. Dawson called for the ayes & noes on this motion; both motions were lost.

The question was again taken on Mr. Bibb's amendment, and it was agreed to—ayes 62.

The bill was then ordered to be read a third time to-morrow.

Adjourned.
