THE DOCUMENTS.—Hoping that, by great exertions, & the aid of small type, we could in a few days have presented the whole of these important papers to our readers, we did so intend; but our Correspondent supposes they will ex end to upwards of 700 pages——near 200 columns of a news-paper.

IMPORTANT—IF TRUE. Our correspondent at Washington, under date of last evening, writes, "It is said the president has lately received dispatches of a favourable nature from Mr. Pinkney at London."

Mr. Gardenier has taken his seat.

The ship Oliver Elsworth, brings London dates to February 22, brings nothing of moment.

The Ship Nanking, from Liverpool, sailed 23d of February and brought a London paper of the 18th, contains nothing new. Left at Liverpool, ship John Adams, for Baltimore in 4 days; ship Ceres, for Charleston in do. and others. The brig Minerva had arrived at Liverpool after having been ordered off Bordeaux by the blockading squadron. In lat. 18, lat. 52, was boarded by the British Packet from St. Croix with the Danish Governor on board.

We have been informed, that letters from England, under date of February 23, state, that a treaty offensive and defensive has been concluded between Great-Britain & Sweden, by which Great-Britain is to furnish 15 sail of the line and 10,000 troops, to join in some great expedition yet unknown; and 100,000 pounds per month. Perhaps this force is only intended to defend Sweden against the expected attack from France and Russia.

Letters from Madrid state, that according to reports current in that city, the King of SPAIN is to cede Navarre and Catalonia to France for part of Portugal, and that the Queen of ETRURIA is to have the remainder of the latter kingdom.—Copenhagen Gazette, Jan. 12.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

March 28.

Proceedings this day.

Messers. Sawyer, Kenan, Mumford, Kelly, and Cutts, obtained leave of absence for the remainder of the session.

Mr. Milnor moved that the order passed on Wednesday last for printing 5000 copies of the documents be rescinded. Independent of the cost, which would be about 6000 dollars, the printer had informed him that it would be impossible to print that number under six or eight weeks, before which time the session would probably be closed. Mr. M. thought 1500 copies would be sufficient, and the printer was now waiting for the decision of the house, as, in case they adhered to the original number, he intended immediately to go to Baltimore for the purpose of procuring more hands.

On the suggestion of Mr. Randolph, the motion was ordered to lie on the table until the documents were all read. The house then resumed the reading of them, which they continued until they adjourned.

[Several petitions of a private nature were referred.]

The late failure of Mr. Wm. Lees of Liverpool, obliges me to take the benefit of the Insolvent act. Every one of you are aware that I have offered to discharge my duty by making an assignment of my estate for the benefit of the whole, and from the acquiescence of the majority, I indulged the hope of being relieved from a measure very oppressive to my feelings, but am greatly disappointed by two vexatious and unreasonable lawsuits.

(CIRCULAR.)

SIR,

The contemplated arrangement for resuming my operations, as advised in Circular, dated 25th August, having been defeated by the legal impediment therein referred to, although at a very full meeting of my Creditors held on the day mentioned, there was not one objection or dissenting voice to my proposal of paying, on every claim that could be brought against me, even including those due at remote periods, 14s. in the pound, prompt payment, (instead of 15s. as at first intended, some of the assetts, though insured, not having arrived) with notes bearing interest for the remainder, at such dates as might be considered reasonable for drawing home those funds, the privation whereof induced the measure I so hastily adopted. It has become my painful duty to inform you I have been reluctantly compelled to yield to the operation of the Commission that was so much desired by all, should have been superseded.

I have also, with regret to inform you, that at present, I am unable to form a correct opinion as to the probable result of this procedure, for in addition to the litigations likely to arise out of clashing interests on this side the water, and the injury likely to result from attachments on yours, on the part of those very bill-holders who defeated the supersedeas, contribute so effectually to lock up, not only the funds on your side, (as well as those on this, now exceeding £90 000 sterling,) but must be productive of such delay as, I very much fear, will add to the inconvenience of the interested parties, and the prejudice of the estate also:—to counteract, however, as much as possible, such a tendency, the Commissioners have ordered that no dividend shall be paid on any foreign bills, until the fate of all foreign attachments are correctly ascertained, and the propriety of this measure must be very obvious, when it is known that in some cases, proofs under the Commission have actually been made here, on a foreign bill, and attachments issued with you on its protest, and in some cases, even without protest or acceptance. But untoward as these circumstances may at present appear, my confidence in the ultimate issue does not vary from the first impression, that with due management on the part of those to whom the business is now committed, and a disposition on the part of those to do justice who have experienced my confidence with such liberality, my self alone will be the sacrifice, & in any case where your concerns are interwoven with mine, you may safely confide in this calculation

I beg further to observe, and to request, that in having allowed so long an interval to elapse between the present and preceding communication, without adverting either to my own concerns or yours which may have required it, you will not impute it to inattention, having been, I can assure you, from the first moment of the suspension of my operations to the present, constantly devoted to their adjustment, neither shall I relax, until this object is completely accomplished, notwithstanding the kind interference of those friends who are most interested in my concerns, have, without a single personal application on my part, (more than two months ago) procured my certificate, which not only releases me from every claim, but from this duty also: and being obtained so long before a dividend was even mentioned, though the payment of one or more are invariably considered a necessary preliminary, is the strongest testimony I can offer in proof of the good opinion entertained by those who have had the best opportunities of estimating the principles and proceedings which have governed my private and mercantile character, and is, I believe I may safely assert, in an estate of equal magnitude, without a precedent in the commercial history of this kingdom.

Thus circumstanced, and encircled by many valuable friends at home, and those on your side I hope not diminished in number or sincerity, I should certainly be encouraged to look again to your Continent for a renewal of that friendship and preference I have so long and so eminently experienced, and to enable me to do this with those pretentions, necessary to inspire that confidence, so essential in foreign enterprize, (and more especially after recent occurrences) I have been induced to accede to the overtures of persons whose rank in society, established mercantile reputation, and competent capital, will embrace every requisite for that purpose; the arrangements for which are now so far actually matured, that by this conveyance you would have been addressed in circular, under the firm of this association, had not the advices just arrived, of the measures adopted by your government, induced an apprehension our commercial intercourse would be of very short duration. Should, however, our political relations assume a more pacific aspect, I shall take a very early opportunity of waiting upon you with the circular above referred to, and as nothing could prove so grateful to my feelings as a continuance to this connection, of that preference and patronage I have so long experienced individually, allow me to assure you the most zealous endeavours will be united and exerted to deserve and to secure it.

Being with very great regard, Sir,
Your obliged and ob't. serv't.
