Three Tickets in St. Thomas' Parish Lottery and one dollar and twenty cents change or two tickets in the Charitable Marine Society Lottery and twenty cents change will be given for Twelve dollar prizes in St. Mary's College Lottery.

The former of these Lotteries, St. Thomas', commences drawing the 23d May next, at Mr. George Beam's tavern; the latter, the Charitable Marine, early in the month of August---AND BOTH BEFORE ANY OTHER LOTTERY IN BALTIMORE.

☞ To those of our friends who have so repeatedly urged us to procure and sell tickets in the NEW YORK LOTTERY, we hereby inform them, that the practice is in direct violation of the LAW---By an act of the state, a penalty of TEN POUNDS is inflicted, and by an ordinance of this city, the fine is TEN DOLLARS for every such ticket sold; so that besides our respect for the laws, we have too much RESPECT FOR OUR POCKTS to be subject to daily contributions from informers, who we understand are intitled to half the BOOTY. Besides we think motives of Patriotism should induce us to give a preference to Lottery Institutions, intended to benefit our own city, particularly when we have so great a choice of Schemes.

Baltimore, April 4, 1808.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Lest inferences unfavorable to my reputation may be drawn by those who have seen the false representation published by Benjamin Chastellier, in the E. Post of the second inst. of an affair between him and myself, and who are unacquainted with my character, I am induced to submit the following correct statement of facts to the public.

Having, whlie at Washington, heard various reports injurious to the character and honor of a brother, which when traced to their origin, I found proceeded from this same Chastellier—Immediately on my return to this city, I waited on him and demanded an explanation—the result of which was an avowal of some of those reports, and of his intention to call my brother out, an intention which had been avowed as I learned, for more than two months before, but it had been delayed by him on the most frivolous pretences. At this interview, I urged him to name the day when my brother might expect to meet him. He appointed the following Thursday, the 17th of March, assuring me in the most positive manner the affair should then be settled.

On Thursday morning my brother not having heard from him according to his promise and boastful threats. I waited on him again. The conversation which then took place will be ascertained by the following certificate.

Baltimore, (Thursday) 17th March.

WE the subscribers who were present give the following as a correct statement, in substance of a conversation which took place this day about two o'clock, between Mr. Lawrence Keene and Mr. B. Chastellier.

Mr Keene commenced the conversation by demanding of Mr. Chastellier his reasons for not challenging his brother agreeably to his repeated threats, and boasts through the city. Mr. Keene informed him a civil officer had been to arrest him, and that from very good authority he supposed that Mr. Chastellier had given information of the affair of his brother, on purpose to prevent the meeting---Mr. Chastellier replied, whoever is your informer is a liar. Warm language then passed on both sides. Mr. Keene asked Mr. Chastellier if he intended calling his brother out---he answered yes, and pledged his word that he would call his brother out the ensuing morning. Mr. Keene told him there was no dependance to be placed on any declaration of his, as he had already forfeited his word, and desired he would signify his intentions in writing, which Mr. Chastellier refused, but said I repeat it before these witnesses, Mr. Atherton and Mr. Nicholson. Mr. Keene replied, you have so repeatedly put off this affair, Mr. C. on the most frivolous pretence, that he did not believe Mr. C. had any intention of fighting, and that he considered him as great a coward as there was in the state. Mr. Chastellier replied I will make you prove this sir, and we fight you or your brother. Mr. Keene answered, thare are two brace of pistols in the room—here are friends---and I will see you immediately across this table. You will make me break the peace, said Mr. Chastellier, and forfeit 3,000 dollars. I am bound to keep the peace. Mr. Keene repeated his challenge. Mr. Chastellier declined, alledging the same excuse. Mr. Thompson then entered and it was agreed that all parties should communicate through friends. Mr. C. proposed meeting Mr Lawrence Keene out of the state the following morning to which Mr. Keene replied—first fulfil your engagements with my brother; and clear your character if you can, (which I most damnably doubt); you have already refused fighting me, and till then I cannot meet you.

(Signed) A. W. ATHERTON,
J. J. NICHOLSON,
U. S. Navy.

The evening of the same day, I had an interview with Mr John Thompson, unaccompanied by any person, but the substance thereof was, that in case my brother refused meeting Chastallier, I then should feel myself constrained to meet him, and, in that case, " after a proper communication had been made to my brother" should proceed immediately to Washington. The ensuing morning, I received from the bar of the Globe Hotel, a note, without date or signature, informing me.

" Mr. Chastellier will be at Steel's Hotel to-morrow evening."

The public will be so good as to receive my assurance—that, in the mean time no application had been made by Chastelliier to my brother, to meet him—nor had my brother refused to meet him—nor had any communication been made by Chastellier to my brother on the occasion. The inconsistency of this conduct, and his ungentlemanly treatment towards my brother, more strongly confirmed my mind in the suspicion I had entertatned and expressed relative to his honor and courage; and I feel myself convinced, that had I, under existing circumstances proceeded to Washington, with s view of meeting that man, I should not only have meritted reprehension but disgrace

Reprehension—for making myself the principal, when my brother was not only competent, but willing to settle the affair if he had been called on. And disgrace, for having entered the lists of honor and with a man who to speak the least of him, had treated this brother with equivocation, duplicity and meanness.

The answer I gave to Chastellier's challenge, delivered by lieut. Nicholson, was in the words following:

In answer to your communication of the 21st inst. by Lieut. Nicholson, I have only to repeat my observation made to you a few days previous to your leaving this city, that " until your character and honor stood fair as regarded your conduct to a young gentleman of this place, it would be highly dishonorable and improper on my part to meet you."

United S

This answer must, of itself, con person, that if ever Lieut Nichols the certificate which Chastellier h ed, he must have greatly misunde How could I possibly assure him th ed Chastellier to be an honorable man, directly in contradiction of what I had delivered to him in writing, signed with my name—and directly in opposition to the sentiments which I had antecedently expressed to Chastellier himself!—as a further proof that there must be something wrong in this business of the certificate—I have to inform the public, that Chastellier, four days afterwards, challenged me again, to meet him near Bladensburg, whereas if I had declared to his friend Lieut. Nicholson " that I believed him to be a brave and honorable man," this surely would have been thought by every man of honor a retraction of my former expressions, and there could be no remaining ground which could justify him, " as a man of honor," to prosecute the affair further.

I shall now conclude by requesting the indulgence of my fellow-citizens for having taken up so much of their time in explaining an affair, which they may not think very interesting to themselves. They, however, will find my excuse, in my solicitude for their good opinion.

LAURENCE KEENE,
United States Navy.
