WASHINGTON, November 27.

CITY ADDRESS TO GEN. JACKSON.

Maj. Gen. Andrew Jackson,

SIR—

The Mayor, Aldermen & Common Council, Constituted by the inhabitants of the City of Washington, have, by an unanimous resolve, enjoined on us the pleasing duty of greeting with a sincere welcome, to the Metropolis of the Union, a fellow-citizen, who has borne so distinguished a part in a time that tried the souls and characters of men. They congratulate themselves and their country, that your life has been preserved through three arduous and dangerous campaigns, to receive that tribute of their respect which they now offer.

During the late eventful period, many of our fellow-citizens have merited the richest rewards their country and approving consciences can bestow. Some have by the wisdom of their counsels added to the measure of their country's honor; others have by valorous achievment on land and sea won for themselves an imperishable fame. It was your good fortune, sir, by an union of wisdom in Council, and vigor in the Field, to foil the arms and arts of veteran generals, to snatch from the grasp of a superior foe the palm of Victory, to save a most important city from ravage and a territory from desolation.

After the high testimonials of public approbation you have every where received, we add the tribute of our applause not to gratify your feelings, but to express our own. We should illy represent the sentiments of our constituents, did we omit to say, that they have seen, felt, and admired the importance of those services you have so gloriously rendered to your country. They have traced your steps from the comforts of domestic life into the trackless regions of the South, in search of the treacherous savage foe, who felt in his fastnesses the vigor of your well-directed arm. In your movement on Pensacola, the harbo & retreat of our enemies, our regards were with you. When the defence of Louisiana, with which you were honored, suddenly called you to New Orleans on the eve of an alarming invasion, we saw, in the discretion of your preparatory measures, an evidence of the fortunate selection the government had made. From day to day we watched the progress of events with breathless anxiety.——Distance separated us, but our hearts were with you. The night of the 23d of December was the critical moment, when we feared for you most.——That night over, we waited the result with more cofidence, but not less anxiety. At length the 8th of January arrived, a day forever glorious in the American Calendar. The disciplined legions of the foe were led by chiefs whose fame had filled all Christendom. He advanced with firmness in his step and courage in his heart. These availed him not.—The Genius of America threw her Ægis over her sons, at the same time that she nerved their arms for the encounter.—The enemy was swept from the soil by thousands. Your flag floated in glorious triumph over the land you defended; and long

"May the star-spangled banner in triumph still wave,
"O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

We felicitate you, sir, on the opportunity you have had of earning the noblest reward decreed to man on earth, the unanimous approbation of a grateful country.

We congratulate ourselves, in being made the organ for conveying to you the best wishes of our fellow citizens, and our earnest prayers for the continuation of your health and happiness.

Committee on behalf of the Corporation of the City of Washington.

Washington, Nov. 25.

To the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of Washington.

GENTLEMEN,

The flattering welcome you offer me to your City, is received with emotions which I dare not undertake to describe:—You will do me the justice to believe that I feel all that I should feel, on such an occasion.

I agree with you entirely, Gentlemen, that the "noblest reward" an Individual can receive is the approbation of his countrymen: when that can be obtained without improper sacrifices.

In the late conflict in which our country was involved, difficult duties were certainly assigned me; to the faithful performance of which my best exertions were directed; but, for the happy results which attended them, I owe every thing to the wisdom of the councils under which I acted, & the good conduct of those who acted with me.

I beg, gentlemen, that you will present to the citizens of Washington the assurance of my respect.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your most obedient serv't,

ANDREW JACKSON

DEGRADATION OF FRANCE.

The Saratoga, Capt. Anderton, arrived at N. York, left Nantz on the 8th Oct. Capt. A. informs, that no French vessels were permitted to leave France without a passport from Paris, signed by Lord Wellington! This is the cup of French humiliation filled to overflowing.—Had the arms of England been as successful in the U. States as in France, she would, with the assistance of the infamous Hartford Convention, have reduced this country to the same disgraceful state of colonial servitude. No American vessels would have been allowed to leave the U. S until her papers had been endorsed by Sir George Prevost, or by that accomplished officer and gentleman Admiral Cockburn.

When the British and Allied armies began their crusade against France, they declared that the only object of their hostility was Napoleon; that they had no design against the nation, or people, of France; that as soon as they obtained possession of his person, they would withdraw their troops, and leave the French "to manage their own concerns in their own way." So far from fulfilling these promises, they still remain in France, eating out the substance of the people, and grinding down every class of citizens, royalists as well as republicans, with the most oppressive exactions.

In the late war against this country, the British told the same story. "We do not war against the people of America, (said they) it is only against their rulers, their government—against JAMES MADISON. Depose MADISON, and we will immediately make peace." Had not their arms been arrested at Plattsburgh, New-Orleans, Baltimore, &c. &c. they would have trampled on America as they do on France; nor would the federalists have found more favor with them than the republicans. The London Courier, the official ministerial paper of England, has thrown aside the mask, and now openly declares itself "equally averse to the pure Royalists of France as to the pure Jacobins;" meaning, by the term jacobin, the republicans of France. NELSON, during his lifetime, was known to have expressed himself as follows:—"I hate a Frenchman? they are equally objects of my detestation, whether royalists or republicans." The treatment now experienced by France from England and the Allies, proves that this malignant feeling is common to them all. The Prussian General Blucher, in a late letter to his Sovereign, speaking of France, says, "this detested NATION"—Mark, reader—this detested "Nation"—Not the detested Napoleon—the detested Republicans—the detested Jacobins—but the detested Nation. We hope the people of the U. States will profit by this salutary lesson; that they will become what WASHINGTON so arduously laboured to make them, an UNITED people; that they will cherish national feeling, and establish a national character; that when injured or insulted by Briton, Frenchman, Jew or Infidel, they will unite in chastising the offender, & in advancing the glory of the AMERICAN REPUBLIC.

Boston Patriot.

TRIPOLI, AUGUST 31, 1815.

Stephen Cathalan, Esq. Consul of the U. S. of America, at Marseilles.

SIR,

On the 6th inst. Com. Decatur appeared off Tripoli, with a squadron of 5 sail, and after three days negociation, we concluded all differences with this regency, by making the Bashaw pay $25.000, the full value of the prizes of the Abællino, that were taken in this port by the English brig Paulina, and obtaining the release of ten slaves, as a remuneration for the detention of the privateer, in this port, by the English brig, after I had demanded 24 hours start of her.

The American colors were again hoisted on the 9th inst. on the consular house, and saluted with 21 guns by the Bashaw, while a full band of music played the President's March and Yankee Doodle. We have thus obtained ample satisfaction, and the Bashaw has been punished for his want of energy and firmness in supporting his neutral rights, and protecting a friendly power who sought protection in his port.

Commodore Bainbridge appeared off Tripoli on the 26th, with a squadron of four sail, but hearing from me of recent disturbances at Tunis, immediately sailed for that place. He has more than 20 sail under his command in the Mediterranean, half of which will continue here, to keep the barbarians in awe and protect our commerce.

At Tunis we compelled them to pay to the concern of Captain Wyer, 46.000 dollars for the two prizes taken from them.

With sentiments of regard, &c.

(Signed) RICHD. B JONES.

GEN. SIR GEORGE PREVOST.

The following are the charges which are to be preferred against Gen. Sir Geo. Prevost, and which, it is said, have been served on him preparatory to their being investigated by a General Court Martial:

First Charge—For having on or about the 11th of September, 1814, by holding out the expectation of a co-operation of the army under his command, induced Captain Downie, late of his Majesty's ship Confiance, to attack the American squadron on Lake Champlain, when it was highly imprudent to make such attack, without the co-operation from the Land Forces, and for not having afforded that co-operation.

Second Charge—for not having stormed the American works on shore at nearly the same time that the naval action began, as he had given capt. Downie reason to expect.

Third Charge—For having disregarded the signal for co-operation which had previously been agreed upon.

Third Charge—For not having attacked the enemy on shore, either during the said naval action or after it was ended, whereby his majesty's naval squadron under the command of capt. Downie might have been saved.

COUNTERFEITS.

Counterfeit Twenty Dollar notes, purporting to be of the Union Bank of Maryland, so well executed as to deceive even a careful examiner, are now in circulation. The citizens should be on their guard when receiving notes from any stranger, to ascertain that they are genuine, before the person offering to pass them is out of their reach—by a little attention and vigilance the counterfeiters might be detected and punished. Gazette.

Washington City, Nov. 27.

M. PEDERSEN, the Minister from the Court of Denmark to the United States, has arrived in this city.

Portsmouth, Nov. 23.

HONOR TO THE BRAVE.

On Monday last general Ripley, com. Chauncey, and com. Macdonough partook of a public dinner, at the assembly room; to which they were invited by the citizens of this town of both political parties, who were desirous of manifesting, by this mark of respect, their high sence of the eminent services of those distinguished officers Edward Cutts, Esq. presided; and was supported in the duties of the chair by Daniel Webster, Esq. col Upham and major Larkin

Monsieur Le Marois, the French consul; several officers of the navy and army; and a number of citizens of the neighboring towns were present.

New-York, Nov. 9.

The ship Wm. & Jane, Miller, below last night, in 31 days from Cork, will probably bring London papers two or three days later than before received

The ship Minerva Smyth, Allen, which arrived at this port last evening from Liverpool, left that port on the 23d Oct. and brings no later papers than were received by the Huntress.

The following gentlemen came passengens in the Minerva Smyth, viz:—Doctors Wright, Post, and E. Bibby. Messrs Joel Post, W. H. Thompson, James Henderson, George Parish, B. Hounsfield, James Williams John Givan, Thomas Bradison, John Deey Francis Ashley, and Francis Stoughton; the last named gentleman is attached to the Spanish Legation, and is bearer of despatches from the Court of Spain to the Spanish minister resident in the United States.

The following U S. vessels arrived at the navy yard yesterday morning in 16 hours from Newport, R I brigs Flambeaux, Firefly, Saranac and Spark, and schrs Spitfire and Torch.—They will remain at the navy yard during winter

The U S brig of war Enterprize, arr'd at this port last evening, in 2 days from Newport, R I

MR VANDERLYN In the list of passengers in a late arrival from France, is seen the name of Mr Vanderlyn The arrival of this eminent artist is certainly a subject of congratulation, not to the city of N. York only, but to the U States. After an absence of 12 years, devoted to the study of the finest specimens of painting & sculpture in the various cities of Italy, and in Paris, he returns to enrich and embelish his native country by the powers of his pencil. His genius can never slumber here for the want of appropriate subject; it is sincerely desired that it may not be suffered to languish for want of patronage

JAMES WILLIAMS, Esq who arrived in the ship Minerva Smyth, is bearer of despatches from our Charge des Affairs at London.

By this arrival we learn that the October Packet Diana sailed from Falmouth for Halifax and New York on the 17th ultimo.

The following are the passengers in the brig Creterion—Messrs Soissons, Gilez sen Gilez jun. Adolph Lefebere, Etenne Massered, R. Amiebo, De Sersey Varine, Genevier Renello, Fontains, Cezarine, Bardier, Gillet, Pepin, Blane, Charies, Cinot, Hubert, Piot, Germon, Valrillo, Shirey, A. quiniar Fquer, Alombert, De Eesptes, Vulnuevelle Demorre, Debelle LeVendel, Henry; Madame Gilez, Lefebere Varine; Miss Ettenue, and Miss Webre

LATEST OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.—Capt Burnie, of the brig Sir George Beckwith, arrived here last evening, in 15 days from Barbadoes, informs us that the British sloop of war Dauntless had arrived at Barbadoes in a short passage from the East Indies, having stopped at St Helena where she found the Northumberland, Admiral Cockburn — Napoleon Bonaparte had been landed at St Helena, and was in good health. Capt. B. did not bring any Barbadoes papers, but he informs us that they contained the particulars of the landing of Napoleon.

The largest ships of war in the world are now owned by the United States. The New Orleans, and the Chippewa, now in Lake Ontario, are 16 feet longer than the British ship Lord Nelson They are proportionably wide, but not so deep as the largest ships in the English navy. Our 74's would appear like frigates along side of these huge ships, which have been named in honor of two of the greatest victories yet achieved by the American land forces.

A splendid dinner was yesterday given to Gen. A. JACKSON, at Crawford's hotel in Georgetown, at which were present, by invitation, many of the principal officers of government The dinner was worthy of the occasion; the guests numerous and respectable A particular account of it may be expected hereafter.

A dinner is also to be given to him at M'Laughlin's hotel, in Alexandria, on Monday next, for which extensive invitations have been given, and great preparations made.

The citizens of Washington have preferred giving him an evening's entertainment, to avoid the monotony of an endless routine of dinners. A ball and supper, in honor of Gen. Jackson, are to take place at M'Keowin's hotel on Thursday week, being the first convenient day after the meeting of Congress. It is expected to be as fully attended, owing to the occasion and the concourse of stengers then at this place, as any similar entertainment in the city has ever been

Nat. Intelligencer.

Letters from France state, that the emigration is greater from that country than ever was known Every vessel that quits a French port for America, is loaded with artisans, manufacturers and people of property. The silk weavers, quitting their native country, are more numerous than any other description of people.

On the 8th of October the people of Soissons (France) suffered dreadfully by the explosion of a large powder magazine. One quarter of the city, including the beautiful cathedral, has been nearly destroyed, and many inhabitants have been buried in the ruins

A general order has been issued in England, to hold in readiness all the effective men belonging to regiments in India, for embarkation by the next ship, with a proportion of officers for each battalion.

A London paper states, that the court martial for the trial of sir George Prevost will derange the military establishment in Canada; a general officer was under orders to proceed from England to take the temporary command of that province.

THE EPERVIER. A naval officer has furnished the Boston Palladium with the following list of officers, &c on board this vessel—Lieut. Com Shubrick, Lieut Barnwell, Lieut Drury, Sailing Master Wright, Midshipmen Coulter and Hunter, and several others Passengers, Capt Lewis, Lieuts Neall and Yarnell. The Americans released at Algiers were also on board

Major Gen GAINES passed thro' this place last week for Fort Hawkins—Part of the 4th reg from Charleston, for the Creek Nation, reached Milledgeville last evening

APPOINTMENT.

Gen. Thomas H Cushing, late of the U S army, is appointed Collector of the port of New London, vice Gen J. Huntington, resigned.

We despise the petty malice of the royal faction in France, as exhibited in the extract of a letter from Bordeaux to the editors of the "Boston Patriot," dated September 2d, against our countrymen. They must necessarily hate us, because we are freemen, and wear the eagle But we are truly distressed that Mr. SASPORTAS, of this city, who was held in esteem by all who knew him should be the victim of their cowardice and cruelty. If France is never to be saved but by the efforts of assassins—her day of eclipse will not soon pass away. Southern Patriot.

Paul's Patent Columbian Oil

Is recommended to the public as an almost infallible cure for the present prevailing disorder, the INFLUENZA Some years ago when it raged in Baltimore to that degree, that neither age or sex escaped its dreadful visitation, but when the Columbian Oil was taken in time, it immediately arrested the disorder, and the patient recovered It is also a certain preventative The patient will take twenty-five drops, morning, noon, and night, and in the intervals of the day five drops (say every two hours) on a little sugar. The Oil is also good for a number of other complaints, as is exemplified in bills accompanying the Oil, which is sold at Easton by my agent Dr. THOMAS H DAWSON—also by WILLIAM W. MOORE.

FOR SALE,

A valuable tract of about one thousand acres of timbered LAND, situate in Dorchester county, between two navigable creeks, the one emptying into Nanticoke river, and the other running into Fishing bay.

This property would be a desirable acquisition to a person conducting the ship building business, as the shore of the Nanticoke is remarkably well situated for that purpose, and the Land affords an abundance of suitable oak timber, as well as a great quantity of good pine; the latter of which would make it an object of great importance to the owner of a saw mill.

A more particular description is thought unnecessary, as any person inclined to make the purchase, it is presumed would first view the premises

The subscriber is inclined to sell the above property at a low rate, and to make the terms accommodating to the purchaser.
