EASTON:

Tuesday Morning, April 2.

STATE LOANS.

Subscription books were yesterday morning opened at the Bank of Baltimore, for the stock authorised by the General Assembly of Maryland, and we have the satisfaction to state that proposals were immediately made for nearly the whole amount; for that portion of the stock irredeemable for thirty years, a premium of ten per cent. is offered, and par for the $100,000 redeemable at the pleasure of the State; the whole bearing an interest of five per cent. The books will continue this day, to give an equal chance to all disposed to invest their funds. Balt. Pat.

THE SMALL POX.

The Commissioners of Easton feeling confident that there is no case of the Small Pox either within or near the town of Easton, feel it their duty to publish the following Report of the Physicians, with this assurance, that if any case of the Small Pox should happen to occur, the Commissioners will immediately give notice thereof in the newspapers.

REPORT OF THE PHYSICIANS.

We, the Physicians of Easton, being called on by the Commissioners of the town to make a report on the subject of Small Pox, beg leave to state, that the contagion of that disease was brought from Baltimore some time in December last, and broke out in a black family living on Mr. John Edmondson's farm within two miles of Easton towards the last of that month, the first case being not very severe, it was not considered of that character, until three other cases took place, when two or three of the physicians were called on to visit the family, who pronounced the four cases to be the genuine Small-Pox! A general alarm was immediately excited in the town and its vicinity, when vaccination was resorted to, more especially by that class of people, who never think of guarding against danger until it is near at hand. It is probable, this terrible disease would have been stopped, if a coloured child in the suburbs of the town had not been exposed to its contagion by its mother having frequently visited this black family. It has now been several weeks since this coloured child has been dead, and we are confident, that the Small-Pox has not, since this fatal case, appeared near the town or in the county; neither is there any reason to suppose that it will appear, unless it should be again brought from Baltimore, as the Commissioners have taken effectual measures to prevent its spreading from any other source.

The physicians feel much gratification in having it in their power on this occasion to bear testimony to, and to proclaim to the public their certain confidence in the efficacy of vaccination as a preventive against the Small Pox. In the two families just mentioned, the contagion has been carried in the clothes of the mothers of the children. In the first instance, the mother who had been vaccinated eighteen years ago, went to Baltimore in December last, and without a doubt on our minds, brought the contagion from that city in her clothes, and communicated the contagion to her youngest child who had the disease about the last of December. This child unquestionably communicated it to three others, all of whom recovered, while the mother who had been vaccinated eighteen, and the two children ten years ago, remained perfectly secure and well. In the other family, the father and mother had been vaccinated some eight or ten years ago, and the two children during the alarm, which had been created from the black family on Mr. Edmondson's farm, the youngest an infant at the breast, received the vaccine disease, but the eldest unfortunately did not take it, and thus become liable to the contagion of Small Pox brought in the clothes of the mother, and its death was the consequence. If such facts as these will not remove every shadow of doubt as to the preventive effects of vaccination against Small Pox contagion, what will? If there is a man incredulous after this plain unvarnished tale, demonstation is a thing of nothing, and doubts and difficulties will be forever arising in his mind!! We might go further, and contrast the efficacy of vaccination with innoculation as a preventive of the small pox contagion, and the experience of some of us would be found to be altogether in favour of vaccination, having known more than one instance of patients having had the small pox a second time, but never having known small pox to succeed genuine vaccination.

Could the people every where be properly impressed with the necessity and importance of general vaccination, they would not, nay ought not to hesitate in taking effectual methods to spread the blessings of vaccination, and to prevent the evils of small pox. Those who are not able to pay physicians ought to know, that we are never unwilling to perform acts of humanity without fee or reward, and we therefore invite them to come forward and be vaccinated gratis.

WASHINGTON, March 27.

A long and very impressive message was yesterday transmitted to Congress, the object of which is to express the views of the President in favor of that system of defence of the seaboard, the execution of which has been generally suspended by the refusal of Congress, at the last session, to make the appropriations for carrying it on. The object immediately recommended to the attention of Congress, is the fortifications on the Gulph of Mexico; but the observations of the President apply equally to the general system of fortification. The subject is of much importance, and the Message takes comprehensive, profound, and liberal views of it. Nat. Int.

An interesting report was made in the House of Representatives on Monday, by Mr. Blackledge, from the committee on the Public Buildings, accompanying a bill making further appropriations for the completion of the Capitol. The committee recommend an appropriation of $120,000; which sum, it is estimated, will be sufficient to finish all the committee rooms, and to complete the large dome over the centre building.—We are glad to find there is at length a prospect of this done being raised within the next season; and we are well pleased that it is to be of wood, because less costly than stone or brick, less tedious in its construction, and less dangerous when constructed. We regret to find that no appropriation is proposed to be made for continuing the graduation and planting of the Capitol Square. What has already been done on that work, within the last year or two, is so great and obvious an improvement, that we hope it will not be wholly overlooked during the present year. The committee also recommend that no appropriation be at present made for building the Portico to the south of the President's House, because of the largeness of the sum which it is proposed to appropriate for the work on the Capitol this session. ib.

Mr. Russell gave notice yesterday in the House of Representatives, that he should, on Thursday, move to go into committee on the report of the Committee of Foreign relations, recommending a recognition of the independent governments of Spanish America. ib.

Mr. RANDOLPH'S ADDRESS.

FROM THE RICHMOND ENQUIRER, OF MARCH 26.

To the Freeholders of Charlotte, Buckingham Prince Edward and Cumberland.

My Friends—for such indeed you have proved yourselves to be through good and through evil report—I throw myself on your indulgence, to which I have never yet appealed in vain. It is now just five years since the state of my health reluctantly compelled me to resist your solicitations (backed by my own wishes) to offer my services to your suffrages. The recurrence of a similar calamity obliges me to retire, for a while, from the field of duty, and if I shall find it impracticable to return by December next, my resignation (already written) will be tendered to the Governor in time to prevent your being unrepresented in the next session of Congress. It would be offered now, but that the approaching close of the session would render a re-election nugatory as to present purposes. The state of my affairs (as is well known to some of you) requires my presence at home—but self preservation imperiously enjoins a suspension of all business whatsoever: and indeed, with all my deficiencies for the station in which your partiality has been pleased to place me, I have never yet postponed your interests to my own.

Should the mild climate of France and the change of air restore my health, you will again find me a candidate for your independent suffrages at the next election (1823.)

I have an especial desire to be in that Congress which will decide (probably by indirection) the character of the Executive government of the confederation for at least four years—perhaps forever:—since now, for the first time since the institution of this government, we have presented to the people the army-candidate for the Presidency in the person of him, who judging from present appearance will receive the support of the Bank of the United States also. This is an union of the purse and the sword with a vengeance—one, which even the sagacity of Patrick Henry never anticipated in this shape at least. Let the people look to it; or they are lost forever. They will fall into that gulf which under the artificial military and paper systems of Europe, divides Dives from Lazarus, and grows daily and hourly broader, deeper and more appalling. To this state of things, we are rapidly approaching under an administration, the head of which sits an incubus upon the state, while the lieutenants of this new mayor of the palace are already contending for the succession, and their retainers and adherents are with difficulty kept from coming to blows, even on the floor of Congress. We are arrived at that pitch of degeneracy when the mere lust of power, the retention of place and patronage, can prevail not only over every consideration of public duty, but stifle the suggestions of personal honour, which even the ministers of the decayed governments of Europe have not yet learnt entirely to disregard. Should God spare me, you shall be informed how it has come to pass that, after settling the Florida question at the expence of a vast sacrifice of territory "south of 66 and a half of North latitude;" we are yet embroiled with Spain—and, in passing, it may be as well to recollect that the command of the Red River and the Arkansaw (the gates of New Orleans) will have to be contested not with the imbecile and puny government of Spain, but with a young and rising and therefore ambitious Republic.

Should it however be HIS WILL that we never meet again—be that will done on Earth as it is in Heaven—Amen.

JOHN RANDOLPH, of Roanoke.

On board the steam boat Nautilus, under weigh to the Amity. Saturday, March 16, 1822.

P. S. I did not leave my seat until the fate of the Bankpupt bill (to which my mite was contributed) was ascertained. In case of need I was ready to vote on the 3d reading.

NEW YORK, March 27.

POLICE.

A man arrived a few days since, in a brig from New Orleans, with a large amount, (say $50,000, or more) in gold about him, which he had obtained there & in that quarter, as it is understood in exchange for counterfeit bills of the Bank of the United States, at Philadelphia. He went on board below New Orleans; and the Captain was furnished with a warrant, and a special deputation endorsed to arrest him and send him ashore; This was not done, it appears, and even after his arrival here, so well did he manage, as to get ashore with his gold in belts buckled round his body. He had left his wife and two children aboard, and police officers were stationed there to wait his coming back for them By the treachery of some of the hands, however, who went ashore for the purpose, he was warned of his danger and made off out of the city, as soon as possible. He is a man of about 5 feet 10 inches in height—middle aged—squints very much with one eye, and has a mark of powder grains blown into the skin, on one of his cheek bones. The warrant issued for him in New-Orleans, is in the hands of our police, where his name is entirely familiar, as one of the numerous house of Stephen Burroughs & Co. It is much to be regretted that he could not have been apprehended.

P. S. Since writing the above, it appears that he has in fact been apprehended and is safe in the hands of justice. Yielding to that sort of infatuation which sooner or later is almost sure to lead the steps of guilt into the toils of justice, he remained in town, and Saturday or Sunday night, was taken by the high Constable, secure and thoughtless of harm, in bed. Com. Adv.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 26.

The following appointments have been made by the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

JOHN H. MORREL, re-appointed to be Marshal for the District of Georgia.

JOHN C. WRIGHT, re-appointed to be Attorney for the United States for the District of Ohio.

WILLIAM B. GRIFFITH, appointed to be Attorney of the United States for the District of Mississippi.

MARRIED—On the 19th March by the Rev. Mr. Dorgan, Mr. EDWARD SEARS, to Miss LUCRETIA RUST, all of this county.

MARYLAND PENSIONERS.

The following has been handed to us for publication, as the oath to be taken by persons claiming to be placed on the pension list of Maryland under the late act of Assembly on that subject. Those printers authorised to publish the laws of the late session, will annex it thereto by way of instruction for those concerned.

STATE OF MARYLAND COUNTY TO WIT

Be it remembered that on the day of 182 personally appeared before me, the subscriber a Justice of the Peace, in and for County, (or Judge of the Judicial district, or Notary Public, as the case may be,) who made oath on the holy Evangely of Almighty God, that he is the identical person who was placed on the pension list of the state of Maryland, in conformity with a resolution of the state. Sworn to before me.

NOTE. The affidavit must be accompanied with a certificate from the clerk of the county court, of the county where the affidavit is made, that the person before whom it is taken is a Justice of the Peace, or if taken by a Judge out of the state a similar certificate.

To be Rented,

FOR THE ENSUING YEAR,

AND possession given on the first day of January next ensuing, the dwelling House and Store, now in the occupation of Mr. Nicols Layton, situate at the corner of Washington & Dover streets in Easton. This is decidedly the most eligible stand in the Town for a Grocery Store, (and has for a long time been occupied as such) being in a public situation and immediately opposite and contiguous to the Market House. An investment of a very moderate capital, with strict attention and some knowledge of the Grocery business would no doubt ensure to the adventurer a very handsome profit.

For terms apply to Edward Roberts, Esq. the owner or to the subscriber.

Gallant Ranger

WILL stand the ensuing season, commencing on the 3d of April and ending on the 20th June, on Mondays and Tuesdays at the subscriber's stable near Easton, on Thursdays at Wye Mill, and Saturdays at St. Michaels.

GALLANT RANGER

Is five years old this spring, a handsome black, full fifteen and a half hands high, is now in high stud condition, and is supposed by the best of judges to be in point of form and strength, equal to any horse on this shore.

Gallant Ranger will be let to mares at 7 dollars the spring's chance, and twenty-five cents to the groom for each mare: to those who pay by the 1st September, a discount of 2 dollars will be made for every mare. Gallant Ranger has proved himself a sure foal-getter

Harriss's Eclipse was by the old imported Fearnought, out of the imported Shakespeare mare.

Fearnought was by Regulus; Regulus by the Godolphin Arabian. Regulus won seven king's plates in one year, and was never beaten.—Mark Anthony was by Spectator, out of the dam of High Flyer, who was by Blank, Regulus, &c. &c. Old Janus was the best bred horse that ever came to America; he was full brother to Blank and Old England—all out of the little Hartley mare, gotten by the Godolphin Arabian.

NOAH LEDENHAM.
april 2 3w

THE NOTED SPOTTED HORSE

DIOMED,

IS now in high stud condition and will be let to mares this season at the moderate price of five dollars the Spring's chance, three dollars the single leap—but if paid within the season four dollars will be received in full for a Spring's chance—and two dollars and a half for a single leap if paid in the course of the season, and eight dollars to ensure a foal, but to avoid disputes no insurance will be made only by a special contract, with the subscriber, and twenty-five cents to the groom in each case.

DIOMED

Is twelve years old this Spring, and was got by Littleberry H. Jones' young Spotted Diomed of Botetourt county, state of Virginia, whose dam was got by the noted Horse Hamlet, Hamlet by Bodridge's Fearnot. Fearnot came out of one of the best breed of mares in the state of Virginia—Diomed will stand at the Subscribers stable generally—and at other stands as occasion may require—Season to commence on the 1st of April and end on the 20th of June following.

BENJAMIN BENNY.
april 2 3w

Young Top Gallant,

THAT well known horse, of excellent strain sixteen hands high, five years old rising six, in high stud condition, will cover this spring in Talbot, at five dollars the season and twenty-five cents to the groom, payable the first day of October next; but four dollars and twenty-five cents paid by the 20th day of August next will discharge the claim. Eight dollars to ensure a colt; but six dollars paid by the first day of March next will discharge the debt. —This horse having covered the two preceding seasons, his colts will bear examination, they are handsome, well quartered and compact.—His pedigree is half-blood running strain, from the full-bred turf horse TOP GALLANT, whose racing powers were not excelled by any Turf Horse; the other half of him is Narraganset and Chickasaw or Canadian, the best strain to breed from for country service, they are good for Geer, and under saddle will rack pace and trot naturally.—He will stand at Easton every Monday and Tuesday, at the Chapel on Wednesday, and at the Trappe every Saturday—Season commencing the 30th March, and ending the 30th June, 1822.

GREENBURY GOLDSBOROUGH.
april 2 3w

YOUNG TOM,

A CHESNUT Sorrel handsomely marked with white—Six years old this Spring, is in fine condition, and will be let to Mares the ensuing season at the moderate price of Four Dollars the spring's chance, two dollars the single leap, and eight dollars to ensure a foal; twenty-five cents in each case to the groom—the season to commence the 27th of March and end the 26th of June, money payable the first of September.

Young Tom

Was got by Old Tom, (whose progeny are universally admired on the Western Shore of this State as first rate saddle Horses) out of a half-blooded Canadian Mare—It is deemed unnecessary to give a further description of him as the slightest examination cannot fail to convince a judge of horses that he possesses in an eminent degree the three grand requisites for either saddle or harness, strength, activity and invincible spirit. He will be at Easton on Tuesday the 2d April, at the stable of Edward N. Hambleton on Wednesday the 3d, at Mr. James Covey's or in that neighborhood on Thursday the 4th, and in the neighborhood of Potts's or Bennett's Mill on Friday the 5th—which stands he will attend once a fortnight throughout the season; the residue of his time at the subscriber's stable. TOM has proved himself a sure foal-getter, and his colts are much admired for form and action.
