EASTON:

Tuesday Morning, April 19.

Highly important from Europe.

BLOODY COMMENCEMENT OF THE WAR IN POLAND—CHANGE OF THE MINISTRY IN FRANCE—PROGRESS OF REFORM IN ENGLAND.

The packet ship Hibernia, at New York from Liverpool, in the short passage of twenty-four days, brings advices to the 21st March, nearly one month later than our previous dates. From the New York Commercial and Post, but chiefly from the former, we extract the highly interesting intelligence which follows.—Bal. Am.

The advices relative to flour and bread stuffs are favourable. Particulars in another column.

From Poland, it will be seen that the Russians have reached the Vistula, and thrown some squadrons of troops, and a large corps of Cossacks across the river, after much severe fighting. There seems to have been a succession of battles from the 17th to the 25th of February, inclusive, in the neighborhood of Warsaw, and within view of that capital, by the aid of Telescopes. The details of these engagements, as they reach us through the German papers, are desultory and inconclusive. Enough, however, has transpired to warrant the statement that the battles were fierce and bloody, and the Poles have fought with a degree of courage and perseverance hardly to have been expected under their circumstances. In the early part of these engagements, while contending with the Russian advance, the Poles were evidently successful.—It is believed that the victor of the Balkin miscalculated the strength and valor of the foe he was to meet; forgeting that 'a despised foe can sometimes give a bloody battle,' found, before he was aware of his situation, that the laurels of the Imperial regions flushed with the triumphs of Ottoman conquest, had been somewhat tarnished. But the main battle was fought before Praga, on the 24th and 25th, in which the Russians, after an obstinate and very bloody conflict, were notorious. An account of the engagements of these two days will be found under the Frankfort date of March 9, written evidently, by a Russian. But immediately following that article we have inserted another, from the Warsaw State Gazette, under the date of Feb. 28. Taking both accounts in connexion, there can be no doubt that the Poles were routed, if not overthrown. Hostilities were renewed on the 26th ult. on which day, and on the 27th, there was much hard fighting with considerable loss on both sides. The Poles behaved as gallantly as in the previous affair, but being unequal in number to their adversaries, they were at length compelled to give way. Determined, however, to make their retreat in as good order as possible, they set fire to Praga, in order to interrupt for a time the advance of the Russians. Praga was thus destroyed.

Subsequently to those dates, it is very difficult to ascertain what was the situation of affairs. Early on the 8th of March, intelligence was received in Paris by express, announcing that on the 28th the municipal authorities of Warsaw, finding themselves no longer protected by their brave army, and being unable, from the nature of the city, to prevent the entry of the Russians, held a meeting, at which it was resolved to surrender at discretion. They waited upon the Russian Commander, to signify their submission; and the Russian troops immediately entered the capital. This event is announced by the celebrated correspondent of the Morning Chronicle, in the following empassioned strain:

PARIS, March 8, 1831, 3 o'clock, P. M.

Warsaw has capitulated! Praga has been destroyed by fire! and the Polish Revolution has been terminated. I had sent you a long letter before I received this intelligence. In that letter I had hoped against hopes, expressed my doubts, and prayed for a success which I almost despaired of. But, alas! alas! couriers have since arrived with the afflicting intelligence that Warsaw has capitulated and Praga has been burned by fire. France will hear it with horror. England will learn it with sadness. Liberty is arrested in her march; but the arm which arrests her progress is but impotent. Russian Barbarians may burn cities, ravish women, rip up their helpless victims, and plant for a while the standard of despotism on the ruins of independence. But all this will not avail; and, in spite of these momentary triumphs, the Poles shall yet be Free!

And yet, notwithstanding the positive terms of these accounts, it would seem that the Polish capital had not fallen, so late as the second of March, and it is added, that General Diebitsch has been obliged to alter his plans; and that he will not again try his fortune by attacking Warsaw, but intends to surround and reduce it by famine. There is moreover, among the somewhat confused German accounts which will be found below, an account of a thanksgiving in Warsaw, for the results of their operations, thus far: so that Warsaw clearly HAD NOT FALLEN, although the brave but unfortunate Poles, after their principal officers had fallen at Praga were driven back across the Vistula, and the Russian commander was preparing forthwith to invest the capital.

The Polish official accounts admit a loss of 9000 men put hors du-combat, in these engagements, and that the wounded in the hospitals amount to 3,600. In regard to their preceding battles, the most authentic and trustworthy reports state the casualties of the Poles in the different engagements at Dorbe, Liff, and Millosnow, to be about 600 killed, 1,400 wounded, 250 missing, and one six-pounder. That of the Russians in the same affairs, 800 killed, 1700 wounded and 300 missing. The temporary advantages gained by General Dwerniki over General Geismor at Plok, and a few days later at Narawics on the left bank, did not prevent the Russians from pursuing their forward movements. They were, in fact, simple affairs of Cossacks, in which these savages lost a considerable number of men, and upon the two occasions seven small cannon of the calibre of one and two pounds.

Most readers will probably be somewhat surprised that Count Diebitsch should have so rapidly advanced upon the Polish capital. But it appears that the troops in the vicinity of the capital have shown a very different spirit from that of the people in the intervening territory. A letter from Frankfort, March 6, says:—

'It is a fact as indisputable as the righteousness of the Polish cause, that the Russians have met with no opposition from the inhabitants in general; that in Augstown, Podalachia, Lublin and other parts where they have establishe themselves, they have not been molested or harrassed by that part of the nation which in a war of this nature was expected to have caused them the greatest mischief. Independent o the large magazines which have fallen into the hands of the Muscovites at Lornza, Stunislauof, Kaluezyn, and other places, they have been readily supplied with provisions and forage by the peasantry, and a remarkable fact may be added, that since the entry of the troops into Acgostowo an active commerce in grain has been carried on.'

Even the common people of Warsaw were for receiving the Russians, but were overruled and awed into submission by the nobles.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman, dated, Mahon, 27th Dec.

'Our squadron here consists of the Brandywine, Java and Constellation Frigates; the Boston and Concord Sloops of War. The Fairfield is at Marseilles, and the Ontario at Smyrna. The Java will soon return home, via Liberia and the West Indies. The crews are all in excellent health and discipline, and the ships in very fine order.

'As we have caused all other nations to lay aside their old ships and build new ones, corresponding with our classes and models, so have we changed their discipline and order. The American Ships of War, wherever they go, give the fashion to those of all other nations. There are none which can compare with them. The new class of sloops for efficiency, are the finest in the world; so are all our new classes of ships.'

THE BANK ROBBER.

We understand, that on Saturday night about 10 o'clock, a man calling himself John Ellis, but whose real name is William John Murray, was arrested by our High Constables, and immediately taken before the Mayor. Before the Mayor's office, he threw away a sum of money, which, it is ascertained, was part of that taken from the New York City Bank, and made a vigorous effort to escape from the officers. We learn, that he is a Scotchman, not long in this country. There are strong reasons for believing, that he is the person who was concerned with Smith in the robbery of the City Bank.

CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL.

In common with our fellow citizens, we have experienced the liveliest pleasure in the increased prosperity of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. It has stood the test of the frosts of winter and the rains of summer, and every successive week shows a material increase of tolls. It is stated to be the only canal in America which has never been interrupted for a single day since it was opened, by the difficulties which usually occur in this kind of navigation. We are informed that nine-tenths of the flour from Port Deposit has this year come to Philadelphia—formerly it all went to Baltimore No diminution of business, except in passengers, is expected from the opposition of the rail road from New Castle to Frenchtown. Merchandize will hardly be twice shipped, when it can go direct through the canal. The time cannot be far distant when a dividend will be made to remunerate the stockholders—they have long suffered patiently, and are entitled to something more than the thanks of the community.

[Phil. Bulletin.

The whole population of the U. States according to the recent Census, is 12 821.181, of this number there are upwards of 2,000,000 slaves.

We understand that the real name of the person convicted of piracy and murder on board the brig Vineyard, under the assumed name of Charles Gibbs, is JAMES JEFFREYS.

From the Philadelphia Chronicle.

A forged check for twelve hundred dollars, with the name of Mr. Samuel Comley, was presented yesterday, by a black man, at the United States Bank. Being questioned, he said that he had been directed to draw the money by a young man who was waiting. He pointed out his employer, who was arrested without difficulty.

SPURIOUS WINE.—A citizen of New York, has stated in the Albany Argus, for the information of merchants in the interior of the state, that—

'There are in New York several distilleries which are engaged at present extensively in brewing spurious wine; and marking the casks in the same manner as the Custom House, excepting the Surveyor's name, for which they have substituted several others; for instance, J. Jackson, T. Underhill, Archibald Mitchell, &c. purporting to be imported into the city of New York and marked accordingly.'

The gale which was felt here so severely from Friday until Sunday, has been experienced with equal violence in New York. Here our harbour is so well sheltered that no damage was done to vessels; but in the latter injury to some extent has been suffered —The chimnies and roofs of several houses in different parts of New York were blown down, as was also the Chain Cable Factory in Attorney street. The vessels injured were chiefly of the smaller class, some of which were sunk at the wharves, and others more or less damaged by coming in contact. The steamboat Nautilus was sunk at Corlear's Hook, and a man was blown from the deck of the steamboat Baltimore, coming down the North River, and drowned. [Bal. Am.

FIRE.—It is with deep regret that we announce the destruction by fire on Saturday last, of the barn and stacks belonging to Maj John Graname, situated in the vicinity of this city. The wind was high when the fire commenced, and it was found impossible to arrest the progress of the flames so long as any thing remained to be consumed. Two valuable stacks of wheat were entirely destroyed, together with the straw in the neighborhood of the barn.

It is not true, as has been reported, that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Escape and arrest.—The quiet monotony of our city was considerably disturbed on Saturday last, by the escape from prison of an individual named JOHN MORELAND, who had been for some time confined, for debts to a very large amount, in the jail of this county. Active and efficient measures were immediately taken for his arrest by our worthy sheriff, and we are gratified that he has been apprehended, and is now in the jail of Lancaster county, Pa.

[Ibid.

Monroe Meeting.—The Central Committee appointed by the citizens of New-Orleans, met on the evening of the 19th ult. at Hewlett's Exchange, in that city, to receive the reports of the different Ward Committees of the city.—The amount of collections reported was $1500. It was resolved to continue them during the week ensuing, and report finally (as to the city collections) on the Saturday following. It was also resolved to give notice that subscriptions would be received from ladies and children, and the names of subscribers published in the newspapers. It will be recollected that the subscription of each individual is limited to one dollar.—N. Y. Com.
