DEPOSITION

Case of Anna Young, No. 392,714

On this 1 day of March, 1898, at Philadelphia, County of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania, before me,

J. J. Lloyd, Special Examiner of the Pension Office, personally appeared

Anna Young, who, being by me first duly sworn to answer truly all interrogatories propounded to her during this Special Examination of aforesaid pension claim, deposes and says the only physician

I have known of treating her was, I have heard that a woman named Lavinia Young, came here from Philadelphia and claimed to be the wife of soldier; I have seen her and never heard of her before my husband's death. Soldier worked anywhere long; his business was that of cook and restaurant waiter; soldier admitted to me that he had lived with two other women and had two children by a woman (name unknown) who lived in this city on Mott St. but I can't tell the number; the children are now grown up and are in the business of blacking boots on Euter Street, near Baltimore; their names are John and Walter Young, but he told me he was never married to this woman or any other. Soldier was fully one-half disabled each year from early morning till his death.

I fully understand my rights and privileges during this examination, I will have Mr. Lloyd look after my interest if he is
