The claimant impressed me as a truthful industrious woman, and while verifying the amount paid for the house 1309 Division Street I stopped there on two different days and found her at laundry work. All the details as given by the claimant of her income I verified and am satisfied that she has told the truth.

The question of identity will be found covered by the testimony.

I submit the case for the consideration of the Board of Review.

Very respectfully,

Edward Howard,

Special Examiner.
