Yes we woman folks knew those of us who lived in the neighborhood that they were living together in that relation, and that the little girl that was born to the ~~the~~ Business was Lawrence Child.

She has never to my knowledge had anything to do with but the one man, since her husband died and among her acquaintances she was known as Lawrence's housekeeper, while we all knew in reason that she was living in a relation akin to that of wife among her acquaintances it was not thought particularly wrong so long as she confined herself to one man, and I never knew or heard of her having anything to do with other men.

Mr Parker always called me Manning and he said to me repeatedly that he did not want Amanda to ever marry again and I heard her as repeatedly promise not to do so, and she has kept her promise, I heard her say she was tired living with a man that she never intended to marry.

When she would draw her pension money Lawrence was always complaining that she would not buy him shoes, and when Amanda told him in my house and in my presence that she was tired of him and would not live with him any more, and he said to her that if she did not continue to live with him, he would see that she never got any more pension, and I said how can you stop her pension, she is not married to you, and if she is tired living with you go long and let her alone.

Q How long after Parker's death before this woman had her baby.
