

He lived together when her husband was sick and lived together when he died and have been living together every since until now.