Washington, D.C., but one I was raised in Washington and came up here before the war, but went back there occasionally.

I saw him in Washington several years before his death when he was walking. There was nothing said about his being married and I never heard at all that he was married.

I know he made his home there in that alley, mostly with an old colored woman, but I don't know whether she is living and I can't think of her name. She was a widow.

Admiral Fore's children are nieces of Commodore Cunningham. They are in Washington, and they are Mrs. Blow.
They married Naval officers.
I think some of them are there. There is a Mr. Fore there too a nephew of Commodore Cunningham.

My daughter Elen. Lasker is with a Mr. Peterson in Washington, D.C., on Rhode Island Ave.
I fully understand the questions asked and the answers have been correctly recorded.
