marriage to Wilson and was born and reared in this neighborhood. I do not know the cause of the separation between James Wilson and Agnes Wilson except what I have heard her say which is that he was disagreeable to her. I have never understood that the separation was due to immorality on his part or her part. I do not know whether Agnes Wilson has entered into any marriage with other men since she became separated from Wilson. After she went to Baltimore Wilson lived alone for some time and then Sarah Curtis went to his house to stay but did not live long and was not married to him. She had no children by Wilson. He was married to another woman Annie nicknamed Pinkie Moore some thirty odd years ago and she lived with him as his wife until he died and she has died since he died, she died in Baltimore while on a visit a year or so ago and was buried in Baltimore. Annie bore Wilson no children. I had known Annie just from the time she married James Wilson in Baltimore, and she had previously lived in Baltimore I suppose, know she had never lived down this way anyway.
James Wilson has gone through the marriage ceremony with no other women that I ever heard of. He has lived in this vicinity all of his life and never in Baltimore or Washington. Wilson was the father of at least five outside children and by women he was never married to and Margaret Gross probably was the mother of the whole set but she is dead. She never lived at his house, she was keeping house to herself half a mile from Wilsons house and he called on her whenever he felt like it. One of those children, Annie Wilson, is living in this vicinity now and near our church.
I do not know whether Agnes Wilson has lived with any man in the relation of a wife or housekeeper or mistress since she became separated from James Wilson or has given birth to any children. I am not related to claimant and I have no financial interest in this claim. I was sworn to the
