

with two cones. He could hardly drag one foot before the other. - Can say exactly, but at the time he was confined to his bed or house as I have stated it was for six or eight months. In passing I would inquire of his wife about him and she would say he was still confined to his house.

Nearly every time I meet him now he seems to be dragging along, but I don't know what the matter is now, as I don't meet him often.

In 1892 I made an affidavit for him in this case, - but have no interest in it.

My answers are correctly recorded in this deposition.
