Lap Dogs At Atlantic City

Dispatch to The American.
ntic City, N. J., March 29.—Sudden rs, early and often, have dimmed easures of the post-lenten visitors, y itting parties are once more the isitors gather in the hotel ex- before the open fireplaces and delights of the Easter season over edlework. Knitting is having a gue with both the old and young. idens crochet silken neckties for weethearts, while their mothers mothers crochet socks and shawls. dery seems quite out of fashion. arties also help to pass away the Auction bridge is the game most r.

vidence of the immense crowds thered here for over Sunday is the postoffice authorities. They n increase of 15 per cent. over unt of mail handled last Easter. sub ute carriers and clerks were pressed into service to equal the regular midsummer force. The parcel post, of course, helped to swell the mail to a degree. The post brought Easter hats, Easter dinners, flowers, candies, clothing, jewelry, etc. Over a half million pieces of mail matter were handled during the Easter rush.

Building permits have been issued by the city for $269,000 worth of new structures to be erected by the Pier Realty and Holding Company on the new pier that is being constructed at the foot of New Jersey avenue. The permit calls for a theater, amusement building and 12 stores. The theater and amusement hall will cost $200,000, and the remainder will be spent for the construction of the stores. Some of the work is to be completed by June 1. The pier will add another attraction to the long list of new ones planned for the approaching season.

Once more the dog has come into his own. Canines have made themselves scarce on the Walk for the last few years, but women have taken up the toy lap dog variety and carry the little pets with them on their Boardwalk strolls. There are a few dogs on leashes, but the lap dog is the prime favorite.

Mrs. Thomas J. Ewell entertained at the Marlborough-Blenheim, Thursday, in honor of Miss Emily Scull. Covers were laid for six. The favors were corsage bouquets of violets.

Senator W. H. Jackson, who always spends a part of every year here, avoided the Easter rush and arrived at the Traymore on Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Jackson, W. H. Jackson, Jr., and Miss E. S. Jackson.

Mrs. Charles M. Lanahan and Miss Anne Snowden Cary have joined relatives at the Brighton, where the following Southerners are making their seashore home: E. J. Cook, Mrs. Samuel Hazlett, Miss Kate Hazlett, Miss Ellen Hazlett, Robert W. Hazlett, W. Ernest Jenkins.

Rev. P. C. Gavan, chancellor of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, is spending a week at the Traymore.

Mrs. A. J. Lawler and family have returned to Baltimore, after spending the Easter season at the Dennis. The Lawlers will spend the summer season here.

Baltimoreans at the Dennis this week include F. L. Paschal, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Crane, Mrs. Bartlett Richards, Mrs. De Forest Richard, Bartlett Richards, Miss Elise Richards, Langley Richards, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen Lee.

At Haddon Hall are Joel T. Bossiter, Richard B. Tippett, Miss Natalie Tippett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Royal Tippett, O. W. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Reeder.

Miss Helen B. Bridges and Mrs. J. S. Bridges, who were here for Easter, returned to Baltimore on Monday. Mrs. Edna Hook Green, who has been here for ten days, also returned home early in the week.

J. E. Solter and E. Hyatt Wight are among the Baltimoreans spending the week-end at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mrs. Alexander Gordon and Miss Gordon are prolonging their stay at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Children as Old-age Insurance.

[From the Christian Herald.]

A professor of an important university said the other day that "no man whose wages amount to less than $600 a year should have children." We would be compelled to dissent from the premises that would lead to such a wrong conclusion—that society should regulate the number of babies born to the size of the purse. Such a rule would take out of society the best that America has had or is likely to have. It would have made impossible a Lincoln, whose father did not have an income of $600 a year, nor $600 worth of property all told. To limit cradles to the homes that have an income of more than $600 would be the worst possible economy, for such children as a rule grow up to be the support of the parents of humble incomes and keep them in comfort and often in luxury in their old age. There are tens of thousands who can say: "Six hundred dollars is above my average income, and yet the best of life was the children God gave to us, and the same children now are our financial endowment, surer than any savings bank, and they are carrying us to the journey's end as we carried them in our arms at the beginning of the road."

Not How Tall, but How Short.

[From the Kansas City Star.]

Some time ago the cashier of a bank in a small Missouri town was reported missing and an examination of his books revealed a large sum of money missing from the bank's vault. The officials immediately sent to Kansas City for a detective. When he arrived he sought the president of the bank to secure a description of the missing cashier.

"How tall was your cashier?" he asked.

"Goodness knows," was the reply, "but he was $5,000 short."

Bouloz and the Critic.

[From the Westminster Gazette.]

A good story has been unearthed of Buloz of the Revue des deux Mondes and his contributor, the literary critic Armand de Pontmartin. The contributor had some private means and a country house, and he invited his editor to visit him, thinking thus to dazzle his eyes and induce him to pay a higher rate a page. Buloz accepted the invitation and appeared to be much impressed. He particularly admired a magnificent avenue of chestnuts. But the nature of the impression was not all what the journalist had expected. "Wonderful! Wonderful!" Buloz exclaimed. "But I am puzzled." "At what!" "At the idea that a rich writer who possesses such an avenue of chestnuts should expect a poor newspaper proprietor pay him for his contributions."

Empress Dowager on the Republic.

[From the Peking Daily News.]

Since the formation of a republican form of government the retired Empress Dowager has not hesitated to exert her influence for its welfare. In her recent interview with Mr. Tan Chu, a Living Buddha of Mongolia, the Empress-Dowager is reported to have said: "The establishment of a republic in China is the beginning of bright days and unity for all the people of the country. The people of Tibet and Mongolia, not knowing the significance of the wonderful change, have taken steps to cut themselves loose from the republic. They cannot do a thing which is more dangerous to themselves as well as to China." The Living Buddha was therefore strongly urged by the Empress-Dowager to use his best efforts to bring Mongolia peacefully into the fold of the republic.

Five Days' Snowfall in Australia.

Many people in England have an idea that Australia is a land where snow is never heard of. It may interest them to know that there was last month a marvelous fall of snow throughout the Kosciusko district of the Australian Alps.

It commenced on a Saturday afternoon, and on the following Wednesday had not ceased for even five minutes, with the result that the whole country is covered to an average depth of two feet. The trees were laden down with the flakes and crashes were heard on all sides as great mountain giants succumbed to the weight of snow on their boughs. The roof of the Kosciusko Hotel was covered with over a foot of snow.

Cat Attacked by Birds.

An incident of keen interest to lovers of natural history has occurred in the garden of Mrs. Culpin, of 6 Beech avenue, Petersburg.

Tired with its first attempts at flight, a fledgling blackbird alighted on the garden walk and was unable to go up to the wall, where its parents, with much concern, were observing it. At this juncture the household cat appeared on the scene and began to steal stealthily toward fledgling.

The parent birds started screamin him, and that having no deterrent e one of the birds flew on to the cat's and began to peck vigorously at it, ing at the cat's eyes. The other p bird joined in the fray and, alightin the cat's back, tore beakfuls of fur o it. The cat beat a hasty retreat.
