QUEEN ANNE

Queen Anne, Nov. 5—Rev. Ernest C. Hallman, Superintendent of the Dover District of the Methodist Conference, preached in Hillsboro M. E. Church on Sunday morning from the text, "And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye annoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow: and if not, let fire come out of the bramble and devour the cedars of Lebanon." Rev Hallman is a forceful and very interesting speaker, and the congregation was much edified by his sermon, in which he stressed the desirability of the "bramble virtues" of truth, and straightforwardness, and honesty, etc Mrs. Hallman accompanied her husband.

The supper held in the Hillsboro Church House on Thursday evening of last week was a great success netting over seventy dollars to its sponsors, the Hillsboro Ladies Aid Society. Mrs. Frank Fleming is president of the society.

The Ladies Aid Society of Ruthsburg (Ebenezer) M. E. Church held a public supper on Wednesday evening of this week in the now vacant apartment over Mr. Palmer Pippin's store The ladies charged only twenty-five cents for their truly delicious supper.

Mrs. Harry Knotts is spending some with her parents, Mr. and Mrs Clay Hobbs, of Denton.

The Queen Anne's Community Club has been invited to attend the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Caroline county, which will be held in Hillsboro on Thursday of this week. Luncheon will be served by the Hillsboro Club. A forum will be held at the morning session, beginning at ten o'clock. The list of speakers for the day includes, Miss Estelle T. Moore, State chairman of citizenship; Mrs. John Paul Troy, of Baltimore, State chairman of club institutes; Mrs. Frank M. Hoadley of Chevy Chase, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Harry L. Harcum, of Salisbury, president of the Eastern Shore Federation of Women's Clubs. Hallowe'en was celebrated doubly and in a few cases trebly, here this year. Uncertain of the proper day some of the youngsters started on Friday evening. On Saturday evening about twenty-five of the local boys and girls, joined by a large number from the sister town across the river had a grand time moving porch and lawn furniture, soaping windows and cars, etc. Practically no real damage was done by the merry-makers, and the citizens took the pranks in good part also. But when a few continued their antics on Sunday evening, several of the townspeople protested that it was a little too much for their good nature. Anyway, the children had a good time. It might be a good thing to have a Hallowe'en party next year giving them something to do without getting into mischief.

Miss Eleanor Flowers, of St. Mary's Seminary, spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Flowers.

Crabbing Season Ends In Maryland

Maryland's 1936 crabbing season ended last Saturday, in conference with an agreement betyeen Maryland and Virginia to close the season one month earlier than usual.

Conservation commissions of the two states agreed last winter, at a meeing in Annapolis, to take steps protecting the fast-decreasing Chesapeake Bay crab supply. Under the plan, Virginia crabbers are prevented from taking sponge crabs and the Maryland season ends October 31 instead of November 30, as in previous years.

Watermen believe the law should result in a marked increase in the crab supply next season and from year to year, provided the regulation is strictly enforced.

Maryland crabbers indicated in Criefield they believed the season just ended was one of the best noted in five years. Crabs arrived late, they said, but once on hand, many watermen reported clearing as much as $75 per week at the height of the summer season.
