THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

Chick Sales Passes

Los Angeles—Chick Sale, screen, stage and radio comedian and author of the million-copy seller, "The Specialist", died of pneumonia.

Late Season Plague

Lincoln, Neb. — Grasshoppers are preying on newly sowed winter wheat for the first time in memory, reports O. S. Bare, extension service entomogist.

Where Was It?

Raleigh, N. C.—While with the A. E. F. in France in 1918 J. K. Coggin mailed a postcard to his niece. The girl received the card this week.

Cost Of Progress

San Francisco—The San Francisco bridge, costliest in the world, will be opened today. Its price was $77,200,000, 24 killed, 1,157 injured.

Copying Nature

Pittsfield, Mass.—Just like the real thing a 5-million volt bolt of man-made lightning split a tree trunk at a demonstration here.

Business Better

Washington — The business upturn from the summer of 1935 to October, 1936, was the greatest in the last ten years, reports the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Free Haircuts, Maybe

Salt Lake City—Needing victims to be shaved, etc., by candidates for a barber's license the State Board of Barbers drew upon almost all the State House employees. No casualties were reported.

Want Their Sugar

Paris—While following the custom of serving afternoon tea to his help the owner of a paper factory cut out the sugar because of its high price. Result: the help went on strike.

Just Cautious

Washington—President Roosevelt admits that he's naturally conservative. He "guessed" on August 2 that he would get 340 electoral votes and tucked the guess in his safe. He got 163 more votes than that.

Bucking The Courts

Washington — Sixty farm leaders meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace urged President Roosevelt to defy the Supreme Court and re-enact most of his crop control program.

Choker Collars

Chicago—Dr. H. L. Smith of the Mayo Clinic blames many attacks of dizziness and fainting usually charged to epileptic fits upon tight collars which cut down the blood supply to the brain. A case of tight fits causing fits.

All Set To Chew

San Diego—Edwin A. Egley bit down into a plug of tobacco, hit a nail, lost a couple of teeth. The tobacco firm reimbursed him with five artificial teeth and a six months supply of eating tobacco.

Radio Priest Quits

Detroit—Admitting that his National Union was thoroughly discredited by President Roosevelt's tremendous popular vote, radio priest Father Coughlin announced his withdrawal from politics and broadcasting.

Couldn't Take It

New York—A marble stair landing collapsed under the weight of Miss Antoinette Tripodi, 17 scaling 200 pounds, and dropped her through. In her fall she crashed 25 feet through two lower landings to be stopped by a concrete first floor.

Quick Packing

New York—Mrs. Mabel Borgmeyer doesn't consider herself much of a traveler despite 62 crossings of the Atlantic, says her husband goes oftener. Preparations for a trip consist merely of sprinkling a lot of mothballs around the apartment.

Love's Little Helpers

Denver—Giving a sales' talk to owners of dude ranches, Lee Herman, secretary of the association declared that what Eastern girls wanted was moonlight on babbling brooks, handsome cowboys and all the props that stimulate romance.

Dates Wrong

New Rochelle, N. Y.—With the town all set to celebrate in 1938 the 250th anniversary of the Huegnot landing here in 1688 the Historical Society bobs up with the news that the celebration will be a year slow. The landing was in 1687.

Bubble Glass

St. Gobain, France—Bernard Long, head of the famous glass works laboratory here, announces a new type of glass long sought. Filled with an enormous quantity of tiny gas bubbles, the glass can be drilled, filed, sawed. Also groves, notches or slots can be cut in it accurately and nails driven in without damage.

Activities Of Woman's Club Are Outlined

Children's Aid, Civic Improvement And Welfare Aid Discussed

At the regular monthly meeting of the Centreville Woman's Club with Mrs. Oliver C. Jones, as Chairman, a number of important features of the work were discussed.

Among these were the announcement of Mrs. E. Hall Covell, Temporary Chairman of the Maryland Children's Aid Committee, that a county-wide meeting of the society would be held on November 16 in Centreville.

The Civic Improvement committee reported that their fall clean-up of the shrubbery and plantings to the entrance of Centreville had been completed.

Other features were the announcement of Mrs. Howard W. Ryland, County Chairman of the National Red Cross, that the annual roll call would begin on November 11 and continue through November 26.

Representatives from the Centreville Club were also invited to attend the State-wide meeting of the Eastern Shore Federation of Women's Clubs at Salisbury on November 12. Those who will attend are Mrs. Oliver C. Jones, a member of the State Board; Mrs. A. Sydney Gadd, Jr., Mrs. E. Hall Covell, Mrs. Vachel A. Downes, Mrs. W. Ray Tabler, Mrs. Franklin D. Day, Mrs. Howard W. Ryland and Mrs. Wilson Harris.

An appeal from the recreation aids, Veterans Administration Facility, Perry Point, for magazines, playing cards, games and silk scraps was received. A similiar appeal came from Miss Eleanor Shannahan, Chairman of occupational Therapy, Eastern Shore State Hospital. Mrs. Herman Meredith is in charge of receiving these articles. All donations should be left at the Little Theatre on the afternoon of December 2.

A bake will be held for the benefit of the club during the month of November. The club also decided to send a donation of $10 to Emergency Hospital, toward the enlargement of the children's ward.

Delegates Named To Inter-State Meeting

John W. Smith and Wallace Walraven, of Sudlersville, and Herbert Carter and Merton R. Shawn, of Centreville, have been named by their respective locals as delegates to a meeting of the Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative in Philadelphia next Wednesday and Thursday.

J. William Keith, who has been re-elected as a Director, will also be in attendance at the sessions.

A new and more unified organization of dairymen in the Philadelphia milk shed is expected to be accomplished. A new producer's marketing agreement also is to be worked out.

First Stockholders Meeting

The first meeting of the stockholders of the Queen Anne's Record and Observer Publishing Company for the purpose of electing Directors for the ensuing year and to transact other important business will be held in the Queen Anne's Record Building on Lawyers' Row, Centreville, on Monday, November 23rd at two o'clock. Immediately following the stockholders meeting there will be held the first annual meeting of Directors for the election of officers and for attending to such other matters as may come before the Board.

As stated last week, any citizen of Queen Anne's County is invited to subscribe to the stock and thereby participate in the earnings and management of this newspaper. Such persons should communicate at once with either William R. Horney or Sterling G. Harris.

All Subscriptions Honored

The new publishing company will honor all previous subscriptions to the Queen Anne's Record or to the Centreville Observer. The new paper will be sent subscribers for the balance of the unexpired terms of either paper. If a reader took both old papers we will combine the unexpired terms of each paper and send the paper for that period. Moreover, we will extend all subscriptions for four months without charge since the subscription price of the new paper will be only one dollar. The "Fifty Year Club" of the Centreville Observer, comprising those who have subscribed to the paper for fifty years and were entitled to receive it free for the balance of their lifetime, will remain on our mailing lists. We are proud to have them as readers of the new paper.

Every home in Queen Anne's County will want the new paper. It will contain all the home news and all the advertising.

Guaranteed Price For Soy Beans Offered County Farmers For 1937

Allied Mills, Inc., Arranging To Purchase Over Half Million Bushels On Delmarva Peninsula. Oliver C. Jones Named As Agent

The Allied Mills, Inc., a nationally known firm announced this week their plans for securing the cooperation of Eastern Shore farmers in the production of soy beans. This well known company will contract with farmers here to grow them. It agrees to pay the market price for the beans and guarantees not less than ninety cents per bushel for all beans grown in 1937.

Soy beans are not a new crop to Queen Anne's farmers. This year over 15,000 acres were grown in this county. These were principally the Wilson variety or other hay crop varieties. These are not recommended for high yields of beans. The Allied Mills will supply a new seed variety adaptable to local soil and climate. Such a variety should produce from 18 to 30 bushels per acre.

Oliver C. Jones of Centreville has been appointed Agent for the Allied Mills on the Del-Mar-Va peninsula. He will be in full charge of contracting, purchasing and shipping of the beans.

Mr. Jones stated that plans have already been completed for reaching every farmer and land owner in Queen Anne's, Kent, Talbot, Dorchester and Caroline Counties. Complete information will be given all regarding the seeding and harvesting of this type of soy bean.

Soy bean production has become one of the principal crops in the middle west and in sections of the South adjacent to Virginia. A few weeks ago it crashed the gates of the Chicago Board of Trade and its futures now are officially quoted. Soy bean out-put for this season is forecast close to thirty million bushels. At its present rate of increase this crop within a few years may outstrip some of its present rivals and become one of the "big four," exceeded only by corn, wheat and cotton.

The Eastern Shore farmer may well ask, why all the fuss over soy beans? It is a flash in the pan? Part of the answer he knows himself if he buys dairy feed. Companies, such as the Allied Mills, extract the oil from the beans and put the soy bean meal and soy bean cake into cattle feed. A ton of beans yields about thirty gallons of oil and some sixteen hundred pounds of meal. The oil is used as a substitute for cotton seed oil and coconut oil. Its uses in industry are growing rapidly there being to date more than 1400 products made from it. As a food for man and animal the soy bean has characteristic features; being low in sugar without starch and high in protein values. It is used extensively as veg-

Good Will Firemen Start Remodeling

Work of remodeling the home of the Good Will Fire Department was begun this week. Partitions have been removed for the purpose of supplying ample space for the new Fire Truck which will arrive on or before January 1st. The meeting room of the company is also being enlarged and other necessary changes for the convenience of the members are being made. Norman P. Walters, local contractor is in charge of the work.

LIBRARY SEEKS AID

Members of the Centreville Library Board went before the County Commissioners Tuesday seeking financial aid for the Library. It is understood that the Commissioners agreed to make some provision for the library in their next levy, but it was not learned how much. In the Library delegation were Robert T. Newell, Spencer C. Hammond, W. Ray Tabler, Abe Epstein, Miss Keating and Mrs. W. Hopper Gibson.

BISHOP OPERATED ON

Mr. Earle R. Bishop, one of Queen Anne's leading farmers and business men, was operated upon for an ulcerated stomach in Johns Hopkins Hospital on Monday. Late reports indicated he is resting as comfortably as could be expected.

FLASH!

Centreville High School Soccer team yesterday won the soccer championship of Kent and Queen Anne's counties when they played the Rock Hall High School team and won with a score of 2 to 0. The game was played at Rock Hall.

Scoring was done by Chance in the last half minute of the game. The Rock Hall girls defeated Stevensville High School for the championship of the two counties in Field Ball, by the decisive score of 10 to 2.

Legion Post Pays Tribute

Ceremonies Held At Courtyard Memorial

Members of the Jeff Davis Post American Legion, headed by Commander F. Bennett Carter, the sons of the Legion, with Jack Smith as Captain, and the Centreville Boy Scouts headed by Dr. J. W. Crowl, assembled at the War Memorial in Court House Square Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock to hold their annual Armistice Day service. Upon the completion of the impressive ceremonies, a firing squad from Company K., Maryland National Guard fired a volley in respect to the soldier dead. J. Hall Barton sounded taps.

Shortly after the ceremonies the entire group left for Cambridge where they took part in the Armistice Day program arranged by the Dorchester Post. All of the organizations were in the parade.

Preliminary to the Armistice Day celebration in Cambridge a parade was held Tuesday afternoon in which a representative from every county on the Shore entered as a Princess. Miss Dorothy Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Keith, represented the Jeff Davis Post. Miss Mildred Hayman of Pocomoke City, was chosen as the Queen, and was crowned at special ceremonies held at the Fair Grounds Tuesday evening, after which a Coronation Ball was held.

WYE MILLS P. T. A. TO MEET

The Parent-Teachers Association of Wye Mills school will meet at the school house for the purpose of reorganizing on November 16th. An attractive program has been arranged.

Stiff Jail Terms Given Four For Manslaughter

Circuit Court Ends November Term Tuesday. No Civil Cases Here

After a five-day sitting in which no civil cases from Queen Anne's county were presented for trial and during which four Negroes were convicted for manslaughter in the criminal side of the docket, the November term of Circuit Court adjourned late Tuesday afternoon.

The only civil case was a motion for a new trial in the case revolving about the will of Morris Acker of Port Deposit which was declared invalid at the Caroline sitting of Circuit Court. Decision on the motion was reserved by the Court.

Just before pronouncing sentence on those convicted, Judge Thomas J. Keating served notice that the Court would punish severely those whose motor vehicle violations and other serious offenses were shown to be traceable to dance halls and beer saloons.

Two of the manslaughter convictions resulted from automobile fatalities. John Harris, convicted by a jury in connection with the death of William E. Reese at Grasonville, was sentenced to four years in the House of Correction. Marion Clark Wilford, driver of the car which killed Len Gould, also a Negro, at Brown's Corner, was sentenced to three years in the same institution.

Mary Rochester, convicted of manslaughter in the death of John Robinson at Church Hill, was sentenced to five years in the Maryland State Penitentiary. The woman was alleged to have put lye or other poison in medicine administered to Robinson.

Gertrude Butler, 16-year old girl, was sentenced to three years in the House of Correction for killing Josiah Wilson, Negro, with a single thrust of a tencent knife in a midnight altercation at a dance near Union School.

Annie L. Thompson, Negro, convicted of larceny of $20 from Dr. Charles E. Snyder of Stevensville, was given nine months in the House of Correction.

Colin Daffin of Talbot County was fined $100 after conviction by a jury of

WATER STREET PROPERTY SOLD

The Elizabeth J. Keating property on Water Street in Centreville was purchased Tuesday afternoon by G. Edward Furbush and Elsie B. Furbush of Chestertown. The property houses the mercantile establishments of Barton Brothers, Burke's drug store and the Bishop-Ashley shop. The bid was $8,340.00.

The corner property now occupied by Perkins & Pippin and by Mrs. Barney was offered for sale but was withdrawn by Solicitor Thomas J. Keating, Jr., when the bid ran only to $7,400.00.

FAMED FLYER VISITS

Miss Amelia Earhart, noted flyer, and her husband, Mr. George Putnam, were visitors to the Eastern Shore last Sunday. They were enroute from Washington to Atlantic City in a car and stopped at Ingleside to inquire their way to a Delaware River ferry. Residents of Ingleside were quick to recognize the distinguished visitors and supply the information.

QUEEN ANNE LAD INJURED

While at play last Saturday, Sonny Gibson of Queen Anne stuck a nail in his right wrist. The youngster was given a shot of lockjaw serum and is now able to be back in school.

Officers Catch Runaway Here

Anne Arundel Prisoner Found At Queenstown

William Scott, 48-year old storekeeper of Anne Arundel county, who drifted ashore on Kent Island after a dramatic escape from Anne Arundel authorities after receiving a prison sentence and who rowed and drifted for twenty-four hours in an open boat, was arrested at Queenstown about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning by State Patrolman Albert F. Anderson and Constable Wrightson Beecher and lodged in Centreville jail.

Scott convicted Monday evening of selling or giving obscene literature to minors and allowed to return home, seized a shotgun fired once and escaped to the woods. He said when interviewed that he contemplated suicide but was unable to remove the first shell from the gun.

He took a rowboat below Shadyside, rowed and drifted to the Bay and headed for Annapolis. Before reaching there he tossed the gun overboard the gun, shells and deeds to his property.

Scott asserted that when within sight of the radio towers at Annapolis he was blown into the channel by the rising wind. After two hours battling to reach Annapolis he allowed himself to drift to the Eastern Shore on which he had never before set foot.

He was hailed by the Matapeake ferry, two firefighters and other craft but eventually made land ten miles below Stevensville where two men plowing with a tractor helped him ashore, gave him lunch and started him to Stevensville. From there he bought a ticket for Centreville, got off the train at Queenstown and put up for the night at Harry Bishop's inn. It was here that the officers apprehended him.

Shipping Creek Farm Bought

P. G. Sedley, St. Louis, Is New Owner

Another ancient Kent Island farm passed into the hands of new owners when the Shipping Creek farm, sometimes known as the J. Lemuel Bryan farm, three miles south of Matapeake, was bought by Parke G. Sedley of St. Louis from the Stevensville Bank. Mr. Sedley, who is president of the Carter Carburetor Company of St. Louis will take possession about January 1, 1937. The transaction was consummated through the Eastern Shore Estates Company of Centreville.

The farm just sold consists of 183 acres on both sides of the highway with considerable waterfrontage on Shipping Creek. It includes one of the oldest structures on Kent Island, or Maryland for that matter, a brick home of the English cottage type, one and a half stories high and believed to date back to the 17th century when that type of construction was favored on Kent Island. The farm is at present tenanted by H. T. Harris.

Shipping Creek the first port of entry established in Maryland, antedating St. Mary's or Baltimore. The Shipping Creek farm is within a short distance of the site where Claiborne made the first settlement in Maryland in 1631.

While a number of Queen Anne's waterfront farms have been sold in the past fifteen years, purchasers hitherto have come from the East, chiefly from New York and Southern New England. Mr. Sedley is believed to be the first from the further bank of the Mississippi. His plans for his new property are not known but it is understood that he will make improvements.

Bootsey Found In Caroline County

Bootsey, pet Persian cat that has been lost for nearly a month, has been found, and its owner, little Miss Jean Valliant, and its playmate, Tootsey are happy again.

The finding of the cat was made possible through an article published last week in this newspaper which was read by Mr. William B. Collier, near Baltimore Corner in Caroline county. The cat had come to the filling station operated by Mr. Collier, a week ago, and upon reading the article, Mr. Collier called Mr. Valliant.

Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Valliant and Miss Jean went to the home of Mr. Collier and brought the cat home.

Bootsey strayed or was taken from their home three weeks ago, and although search was made everywhere in the neighborhood they had not been able to find him. Mr. Collier called Mr. Valliant by telephone Sunday night.

The cat had been at the home of Mr. Collier about a week and it is believed it had been taken away and was trying to find its way back when it came to the filling station. Anyway Bootsey and Tootsey are now reunited.

THEATRE AT QUEENSTOWN

Queenstown is to have a new motion picture theatre. Work started at Community Hall Monday morning and plans have been made for the opening on Thanksgiving night. Mr. Thomas Marsalis is among the sponsors.

Game Display Adds Color Note To Poultry Show

Dr. Gabrielson To Talk On Wildfowl. Affair Starts Wednesday

Featured by the most outstanding game exhibit to be displayed in Maryland and on the Delmarva peninsula in many years, the presence of Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the Biological Survey in Washington, and other noted figures in wild life circles, as well as the choice of Queen Anne's flocks in the poultry exhibit, the Seventh Annual Queen Anne's County Poultry and Game Show to be held at the Centreville Armory next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday looms up as the most significant event of its type to be held on the Eastern Shore.

Dr. Gabrielson's talk, which will be open to as many of the public as can be accommodated, will be on 'Ducks, Now or Never," the burning question for wildfowl sportsmen at this time. He will speak after the banquet of the Upper Eastern Shore Conservation Association at Hotel Centreville next Thursday evening, the banquet beginning at 7 o'clock, and extra seats are to be provided for those who wish to hear the speech but who will not attend the banquet.

Others who will be at the banquet are E Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden of the Maryland Conservation Department, Swepson Earle, liason officer of the United States Bureau of Fisheries and former Commissioner of Conservation in Maryland, Fred Orsinger director of the aquarium at Washington, the Delaware State Fish and Game Commissioner with its Chief Warden, Clarence Foster, Colonel Albanus Phillips of Cambridge, Frank Bentz, representing the Maryland Conservation Commissioners and others. John P. Corcoran president of the Upper Eastern Shore Conservation Association will preside at the dinner and Mr. LeCompte will introduce Dr. Gabrielson.

The game show will include an exhibit of game fish by the United States Bureau of Fisheries, sponsored jointly by the Bureau and the Maryland Conservation Department, a wild turkey display in natural habitat by the Maryland Conservation Department and a showing of game birds by the Pioneer Point Game Preserve of Mrs. Helena S. Raskob.

The fish exhibit will be supervised by Fred Orsinger. The wild turkey exhibit will display ten birds in a setting prepared by Clarence E. Woodward, landscape supervisor at Pioneer Point Farms. The game bird display of Pioneer Point will show seven varieties of pheasants, as well as the young of these species.

In connection with the Show two dinner meetings will be held and motion pictures of wild life will be shown at the Centreville Opera House Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Thursday afternoon. The motion picture show will be free to the public. The afternoon performance is for Queen Anne's county school children at which Swepson Earle, liason officer for the Bureau of Fisheries and former Conservation Commissioner of Maryland, will make a brief nature talk.

The dinner meetings will be those of the Poultry and Game Association at St. Paul's Parish House on Wednesday evening and that of the Upper Eastern Shore Conservation Association at Hotel Centreville Thursday evening.

Dr. Morley A. Judd of the University of Maryland and Len Rawnsley of Bedford, Indiana, widely known poultry judge, will be the speakers at the Poultry banquet.

Entries in the Poultry Show will be confined to chickens and turkeys. Mr. Rawnsley is to judge the chicken entries and Wade H. Rice, Poultry Specialist of the University of Maryland will judge the turkeys.

MISS BARTLETT IN HOSPITAL

Miss Frances Bartlett, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Asbury Bartlett, of Centreville, was taken to Emegency Hospital, Easton, last Wednesday night, where she underwent an operation on Thursday morning to have her appendix removed. The operation was a success and the popular young girl will return to her home in a few days.

TABLER AT KENT DINNER

Ray Tabler, vice-commander for the North Eastern Shore of the Maryland department of the American Legion, was a guest of Frank N. Jarman Post of Chestertown at their Armistice Day dinner Tuesday evening.

Abner says—

Nowadays a good wife thinks she's done her duty if she helps her husband with the housework.
