CAMBRIDGE:

MONDAY, JUNE 24, 1839.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

FOR SHERIFF.
JOHN W. DAIL.

FOR THE ASSEMBLY.
GEORGE A. Z. SMITH.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE TAX,
1st District—HENRY W. HICKS.
2d District—HENRY COOK.
" " LEVI D. TRAVERS.
3d District—SOLOMON FOXWELL.

Our friends, in the upper Congressional District, on this shore, evince great confidence in the success of their candidates at the approaching election. There is no doubt that at the previous election last fall, we had a considerable majority in that district, and by unity, industry, and suitable attention, we have every reason to believe that Mr. Thomas will obtain a handsome majority, in the five upper counties.

SOLOMON HUBLEN, Jr. and JAMES CARROLL, Sr., have been nominated by the Democrats of the Baltimore and Anne Arundel district as candidates for Congress. Our friends in that quarter speak in glowing terms of the flattering prospect which awaits them in the ensuing contest in that section With proper exertions, we have but little doubt that our party there will be successful, over the combined forces of federal whiggery.

THE VIRGINIA ELECTION.—Since our last account of the recent result in Virginia, we have seen nothing to change the opinion we then expressed. There is no doubt that there is a majority of Van Buren men elected to the Legislature over the Whigs (so called.)—When you look, however, at the complexion of the different parties—"Conservatives," "impracticable Whigs," &c.—it would seem to be difficult to tell what sort of a U. S. Senator will be elected. We are inclined to think, from all that we can gather, that the Administration party will have a majority of two, on joint ballot, over all opposition.—In the members of Congress, there are 12 Van Buren, 7 Whigs (one of whom is for the subtreasury,) and 2 Conservatives. Upon the whole, the late election in Virginia has evinced the utter futility of the attempt of the Whigs to get possession of the reins in the Old Commonwealth. She is as staunch as any State in the Union, and will give Mr. Van Buren, in the next Presidential election, an overwhelming majority over Clay, Harrison, or any other Whig that may be run.

SAMUEL HARPER, Esq, the former Editor of the Baltimore Republican, has again resumed the duties of the editorial department of that paper. Mr. Harker, when before he had the management of that press, was able, zealous, thoroughgoing, and staunch in his course We are glad to learn that his health which was, at one time, quite precarious, has been measurably restored, and that he will now have sufficient physical vigor to enable him to conduct that press with credit to himself, and usefulness to the great Democratic cause which he advocates.

The 4th of July, the glorious Anniversary of our Independance, will soon be here. We see steps taken in other quarters, properly to celebrate this momentous annual. It has been usual in this place, to mark its arrival with joy and gladness. If our citizens should omit to notice it, by a public celebration, we doubt not, in their private movements and proceedings they will recognize it, as a suitable occasion for the exercise of festivity and rational felicitations.

The growing crops in this quarter, give flattering earnest of fully repaying the farmer for his industrious labor. If no sad disaster should intervene, we are inclined to think, from all we can learn, that the crop of wheat in the County, will be highly respectable.—Corn so far, generally looks well. The prospect of full granaries and ample prices are calculated to gladden the heart of the Agriculturist, whilst, it at the same time, furnishes a cause of gratulation to the citizens at large, who are all identified, more or less, with the prosperity of the tiller of the soil.

The Principles of Democracy.—The principles which characterise the Democratic party, composed as it is, of a majority of the freemen of this State and of the U. States, are based upon the wide extended foundation of "EQUAL RIGHTS" This can never fail to meet the approbation of all unprejudiced person; and the Democratic party will continue to hold a majority so lang as "principles, not men," are allowed to govern the actions of men. The course of Democracy is ever known and rendered visible by the bright light of truth and justice which it spreads in every direction—and by its constant aim to give to the people the utmost freedom that is possible, consistent with the safety of Society. Nothing is more conducive to the happiness of the people than the perfect obedience to their will, of those whom they may have fixed upon to administer the laws, for a certain length of time, and to manage the affairs of Government. The right of instruction is one of the fundamental principles of Democracy, and one which the members of the Democratic party expect those whom they may elevate to distinction to recognize. This is strenuously opposed by some of the opposition, because it gives to the majority the right to rule the minority.

The will of the majority has ever been regarded as the law of the land, by all the Democrats, and, no better principles can be conceived of, upon which to base the action of any party. Democracy is not afraid to trust the people with their own affairs. They may, it is true, be deceived and led astray sometimes by corrupt politicians: but, the people true to themselves, soon rectify every error, and make their injuries recoil upon the heads of those who even attempt to deceive them.—Gettysburg Compiler.

The deaths in the city of Baltimore for the last week were only 29—8 blacks.

Matricide.—We learn by a letter from a friend at Annapolis, that a black man belonging to Edward Harvey, residing near Davidsville, Anne Arundel county, murdered his own mother last Monday, on the farm, near South river. Mr. Harvey had ordered the negro to go to a field to work, and he departed, accompanied by his mother. Shortly after. Mr. H. observed them at a considerable distance, the man running, with the woman following him, and he occasionally stopping and brandishing a sharp knife. When Mr. H. overtook them he dismissed the woman for more help, the man still threatening their lives if they came near him. The woman returned alone, and being the man's mother, she ordered him home, and shaking a stick over his head threatened to flog him. He stabbed her with his knife, and she fell dead at his feet. Mr. Harvey rushed in to disarm him, but the negro grappled with him, and throwing him down, stabbed him four or five times, and beat him on the breast with his fist until life was nearly extinct. The appearance of a neighbor, Mr Harwood, who had a gun in his hand, drove the black fellow from his intended victim, and he endeavored to escape, but was pursued and arrested. Mr. Harvey, it is believed, will recover. The negro, it is said, has been insane for some time, and his master was greatly in fear him.

Perquisites of Office.—The New York Despatch relates, as a current anecdote in that city, that a year or two ago a country cousin applied to a friend in power for assistance to a berth in the corporation's gift. He was accordingly set to work at one dollar and a half per day; and in a few months called again upon his friend, to inform him he was going out to Harlem to make his first payment on a house and lot he had purchased. "How," said the other—"how is this? Did you not tell me you were poor?" 'Yes." 'And you have saved money, to buy a house on a dollar and a half a day?" The other laughed, and after some hesitation, answered: 'I'll tell you what it is, sir, that was a darned good berth you gave me—I got a dollar and a half from the city—then the contractor gave me two dollars a day to watch the sub-contractors, and they gave me two dollars more not to watch them.'

Whenever you leave unimpaired hereditary freehold to your children, you do but half your duty. Both liberty and property are precarious unless the possessors have sense and spirit to defend them.—Junius.

BALTIMORE MAKET.

From the Republican of June 18.

FLOUR.—The market continues dull, and the demand limited. The favorable prospects of the coming crops, and the tightness of the money market, have caused a further decline in prices. We note sales of Howard street from stores yesterday at $6 a $6.15 1-2. The wagon price is rather unsettled; we quote $5.75 a $5.87 1-2 as within the range.

GRAIN.—Wheat, nominal, $1.25 a $1 35; Rye 95c. to $1.00; Corn, yellow, 93 a 87c; do. white, 83c; Oats 50 a 54c.

MARRIED,

On Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, Mr. George Blades, to Miss Sarah Ann Helsby, both of this county.

DIED,

On Thursday morning last, John W., infant son of Edward P. Lecompte.

IMPROVEMENTS.
IN DENTAL SURGERY.

IT HAS for many years been a great desideratum among European and American Dentists, to manufacture TEETH from incorruptible materials, which should imitate the natural living teeth.

Many have devoted years to unsuccessful experiments, and others have succeeded in manufacturing Teeth of materials similar to the porcelain ware, but generally they have an opaque white appearance, by which they are easily distinguished from the human Teeth.

After long and tedious experiments, the subscriber has succeeded in manufacturing Teeth of materials entirely incorruptible and perfectly in imitation of human Teeth. They have a semi-transparency, and are made of various sizes and shades.

In cases where absorption of the alveolar process, or other causes may render it necessary, he will rest of the same materials attached to the Teeth, artificial gums, which shall imitate the Gum and supply the loss of substance.

It is entirely impossible for these Teeth to change their color, or cause fœtid breath.

He will insert them from one to entire sets in such a manner that they will make articulation of the voice perfect, and materially assist in mastication, and so that they cannot be distinguished from the most beautiful natural living Teeth by the most scrutinizing observer.

He also performs all the various operations in Dental Surgery, according to the late scientific improvements in the art.

The following testimonials from gentlemen whose respectability needs no encomium, are respectfully submitted to the public.

From N. R. Smith, Professor of Surgery in the University of Maryland.

Baltimore, Oct. 28. 1836.

I have examined specimens of incorruptible Composition Teeth, manufactured by Dr. F. H Knapp, an ingenious Dentist of this city. In their form, color, etc., they admirably imitate the natural Teeth. Being completely incorruptible by the agents which affect the Teeth, and also apparently very strong, they must be peculiarly fitted for the purpose for which they are designed.

NATHAN R. SMITH.

From Professor Ducatel.

Having examined some Artificial Teeth prepared by Dr. F. H. Knapp, and learned from him what are the principal ingredients that enter into their composition, and the nature of the materials by which they are colored, I am inclined to think that they will prove, as he epresents them to be, incorruptible. Dr. Knapp having moreover acquired the art of varying the colors of the enamel which covers his Artificial Teeth, is thereby enabled to impart to them a more natural appearance than such Teeth are usually found to possess; a circumstance that will doubtless render them more acceptable to the public.

J. T. DUCATEL, M D
Prof. of Chemistry in the University of Md

From S. K Jennings, Professor of Materia Medica, Therapeutics, &c in the Washington Medical College of Maryland.

Having been favored with an inspection of a considerable number of Incorruptible Artificial Teeth, which were manufactured by Dr. F H. Knapp, I cheertully concur in the opinion expressed in respect to them by Professors N. R. Smith and J. T Ducatel.

SAML. K. JENNINGS.

He has also received the most flattering testimonials in favor of his improved Teeth from Prof. Thomas P. Jones, author of Conversations on Chemistry; Prof F. May, Prof. H. Lindslay, Prof. J. C. Hall, and Prof. Thomas Sewell, Washington D. C. and very many other gentleman of the first standing in this country.

He offers these Teeth for sale to dentists on the most favorable terms. Teeth, Gold Foil, &c. &c. sent per mail when ordered.

TAILORING.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to his friends and the public that he has taken the shop on Race street, Cambridge, one door above the Odd Fellows Lodge, and nearly opposite White & Anderson's store, where he intends carrying on the above business in all its various branches, and he flatters himself that he will be able to give general satisfaction to all those who favor him with their custom. He will warrant all garments made by him to fit, if not he will return similar materials or money at the customers discretion. He also flatters himself from his knowledge of the business that his work will be done in a manner not to be surpassed by any one. He will receive the city fashions regularly, and he will venture to say that he will not promise that which he will not perform, but will be punctual to all those who favor him with their custom, and he hopes that the public will extend to him a liberal share of their patronage.
