The place fixed upon, offers many facilities of convenience and comfort. A Spring of water, of the very first quality, affording an ample supply for all purposes, is within a few yards of the ground, which is high and sloping, with an excellent shade. Vessels of large size may come to Dover Bridge, within 1 mile and those of less size within less than half a mile of the camp, to which there are fine roads leading in several directions, and good pasturage and accommodations for horses which will be well attended to very conveniently. All the members of our church, and the public generally, who can make it convenient to have tents, or attend the said meeting, are invited to do so. Several Ministers from a distance are expected to be present.

I shall therefore content myself with giving a simple narration of facts as they occurred.

NOTIS TO THE PUBLIC.

I DO NOT set my hand and pen to inform the public to beware of such a man as Harry Holiday for any man that, will act in the way that he has. By a widow is no more than a villon Gentleman of the public I inquire what is the consequence of altering a nother person Hog in there mark as he has don or gave his overseer orders to do it and it was done Jentleman is not this beneath the dignity of any Jentleman I would compare it to for any and he is liable to be presented and after the widow son in law had fond the hog in his field he then denied of haven the mark, and desired him to be done and that he did give orders for it to robe a widow is a mean low life scandalous vilon and there fore I do say that no honesty is in him as the public ought to beware of him

Sometime in the latter part of March last whilst the snow was on the ground, I rode through the pasture where my hogs were kept, and observing a hog passing through the snow, which I thought did not resemble my breed, upon my return to the house I enquired of Mr. Cloudberry Kirby (my overseer) whether there was not a stray hog among mine, describing the one I had seen, and desired him to examine particularly among them and as he did, without my being present, or having said any thing more on the subject.—About the middle of May a young man by the name of Harwood Hopkins, came to my house, with my overseer, Mr. Kirby, and said there was one of his hogs among mine, which had left his house sometime in April, after the snow. I told him at once it there was a hog of his with nine that he might take it away upon paying a reasonable compensation for the corn it had eaten, and requested him to get the opinion of some disinterested neighbour as to the quantity it had consumed; I then observed to my overseer, that I was surprised he should have made so great a mistake in making the hogs, and that he had done it without my knowledge; he replied that he had mentioned to me his intention to mark my hogs that had been incorrectly marked. The next day Hopkins came and stated the quantity of corn as judged of by a neighbour to be two or two and a half bushels; said his mother had no money to pay for it at that time, I stated to him that she might pay when convenient, and desired him to take the hog away.

HENRY HOLLYDAY. I hereby certify that I have carefully read over at his request the statement made by Mr. Hollyday; and find it correct, and true, to the best of my knowledge, and belief. I further certify that Harwood Hopkins, the person mentioned in the statement, asked me if Mr. Hollyday had not directed me to mark the before mentioned hog, and I expressly told him Mr. Hollyday had not directed me to mark it; but that I marked it myself, always believing it to be his hog, and I still believe it was on the farm when I came there about the first of the year and continued on it until taken away.
