Red Rover is now in Easton, and will remain here until the 20th inst, at which time he will commence his season. For stands, time of standing, pedigree, certificates, progeny, &c. see hand bills and Turf Register. J. M. FAULKNER. March 19 (G)

Dr. SCUDDER'S

CELEBRATED EYE WATER
For inflammation and weakness of the Eyes.

THE great advantages of this infallible remedy, places it as a general appendage to every family, and a constant valetudinem to the traveller. This Eye Water is prepared with the greatest care, and has never been known to fail in effecting a speedy and safe Restoration of the diseased organs. It is useless to attach any certificates by way of praise or recommendation, the reputation and immense sale that has attended Dr. Scudder's Eye Water, being the fairest proof of its utility and beneficial tendency. It has been the means of preserving sight to many of the afflicted, from the helpless infant to the aged parent. Numerous letters have been received flattering remarks relative to this Eye Water—and the cures effected by it, have been set forth as Wonderful beyond precedent. Dr. Scudder confidently recommends it as a safe and valuable remedy—and he trusts that his reputation and experience as an Oculist will weigh against the gross impositions which are daily practised on the public by advertisements of different kinds of Eye Water, many of which are unsafe to use. Prepared by Dr. JOHN SCUDDER, Oculist and Inserter of Artificial Human Eyes, City of New York, and to be had of SAMUEL W. SPENCER, Sole Agent for Dr. S. in Easton, &c. Dec 22

PROSPECTUS Of a New Paper to be issued ON SATURDAY, (at noon) IN EACH WEEK CALLED THE GUARDIAN AND TEMPERANCE INTELLIGENCER.

Under the editorial charge of FRANCIS HATHORN DAVIES, no man avours the ADVANCEMENT OF SOUND MORALS, THE ARTS AND SCIENCES, POLITE LITERATURE, &c. &c. LONG established custom requires, that the commencement of every new periodical publication shall be ushered to the world by PROSPECTUS, setting forth in concise form, the objects of which it will treat, and the principles by which its conductors intend to be governed. In obedience to this custom, we now present ourselves to the reading public, and ask of them such patronage as their intelligent sense of our merits may assign to us, and no more. As it is a much more easy to promise, than to perform, we shall confine ourselves to a plain statement of what we have chiefly in view, believing it to be the wisest course not to excite over-great expectations, lest any failure upon our part to sustain them, may draw upon us the ridicule which unfortunately attends arrogant pretensions; leaving it to the public to decide, whether we shall have succeeded in our aim or not. As "The Guardian" will have been established as the immediate auspices of some of the most distinguished advocates of TEMPERANCE, we wish to the advancement of that great cause so essential to the permanency of our republican institutions, and to the public peace and individual prosperity, the PHILANTHROPIC paper will be to extend the influence of its salutary principles. In order to attain this desirable end, it is our wish to make "THE GUARDIAN" the medium of circulation for every description of information relative to this most interesting topic, and for this purpose, a full and due portion of each number to communications, or essays on the subject, coming from any quarter where good wishes to the cause may give rise to them; notices of all meetings held by the friends of the system; of the proceedings of societies throughout the country, and such statistical articles as may be collected, showing the advancement of the cause.

In pursuing this course, the editor is fully aware that a paper devoted to one subject, however excellent, must become tiresome, and limited circulation; he therefore proposes to carry out the plan of a first rate family paper, in addition to the above, which, by its variety, taste, and sound sense exhibited in its contents, selected from the best literary sources, and mingled with the serious the useful with the pleasant will render it acceptable to every reader whose taste is not vitiated by the grossest self-advancement. In order to render this paper valuable as a medium of news, domestic and foreign, so far as a weekly publication can be, notices of passing events, at home and abroad will be given, with notes of all new publications of importance, and such descriptions of fashions and smart meits as may be harmless, and acceptable to the scholar or man of leisure.

The object of "THE GUARDIAN" will be, to refine the taste, enlighten the understanding, and elevate the morals of its readers, to the last of which special attention will be paid. Believing that knowledge and virtue will always go hand in hand, and that in proportion as the love of information and ability to enjoy the rich and ever varying stores of knowledge, which human intellect is constantly eliciting from the workings of nature and of art, and so vice versa, that as our fund of information is enlarged, will our capacity for the exquisite enjoyments that spring from a pure and elevated standard of morals, be expanded, the editor will direct any ability he may possess, to the advancement of the one and the other.

Having thus far hinted at what the editor intends to do, it may be proper for him to say what he will not do. He will not admit, under any plea whatever, SECTARIAN BELLICHOSE, or PARTISAN FOLLIES. He will not admit, knowingly, any thing of a personal character, or calculated to deepen the blush on the cheek of modesty, nor will he permit himself to be dictated to, as to what is advisable, and what is not, but so long as he is accountable for the contents of "THE GUARDIAN," except on the subject of SECTARIAN BELLICHOSE, or PARTISAN FOLLIES, he will not admit, knowingly, any thing of a
