

POETRY.

THE BRIDE.

A Ballad, written by Charles Jeffreys. Oh! take her, but be faithful still, And may the bridal vow Be sacred held in after years, De sacred breath'd as now.

STANZAS.

BY BARRY CORNWALL.

The night is closing round, mother! The shadows are thick and deep! All around me they cling like an iron ring; And I cannot—cannot sleep!

THE ALBATROSS.

The following beautiful lines are taken from the last number of the Knickerbocker: 'Tis said the Albatross never rests—[Buffon.] Where fathomless waves in magnificence toss, Homeless and high soars the wild Albatross—

SPRING FASHIONS.

Millinery and Mantua Making.

MRS. RIDGWAY

RETURNS her grateful acknowledgments, to the ladies of Talbot and the adjacent counties, but more particularly to those of Easton, for the very liberal encouragement she has received from them since she commenced the above business in Easton, and takes pleasure in announcing to them her return from Baltimore in the last Steam Boat, with a general assortment of Millinery and fancy articles, which she is disposed to sell on the most accommodating terms for cash.

She would also state, that having received a polite invitation from Mrs. Fenby (one of the most fashionable Milliners in Baltimore) immediately on her return from Philadelphia, to view her assortment of spring fashions; that she availed herself thereof, and obtained all her most fashionable patterns. She also visited Mrs. Broadbent at her elegant fashion-able store and viewed her new patterns, and will receive by next packet a pattern bonnet of the latest fashion. She therefore respectfully invites her customers, and the ladies generally to call and view them, at her new stand on Washington Street, a few doors below Dover.
