POETRY.

I AM WEARY.

I am weary—I am weary,
My heart is dull and cold,
And nothing looks so beautiful
As in the days of old.

I used to love the birds, the flowers,
The silvery stream, the air,
Which, murm'ring through the leafy trees,
Made gentle music there.

I used to love the shining stars,
And think were I to die,
To which of those bright worlds above
Would my freed spirit fly?

The bird's song—is it now less sweet?
Less pure the blessed air?
Less brightly shine the stars above?
Or are the flowers less fair?

No :—changeless all;—but then bright hope
Illumined my onward way—
Too beautiful to last, its light
But dazzled to betray.

I am weary—I am weary,
And now within my breast
There dwells but one—one only wish—
It is to be at rest.

THE CHRISTIAN MARTYR.

BY PROFESSOR LONGFELLOW.

"A look of triumph beamed from his eye, and his countenance shone like that of an angel With his own hands he divested himself of his outer garments, and gazing round upon the breathless and sympathizing crowd, exclaimed

"My friends, I come not hither as a thief or a murderer, but it is for the gospel's sake!"

"A cord was then fastened round his waist, and he was drawn up into the air. At the same moment the burning torch of the executioner was applied to the faggots beneath, and the thick volumes of smoke concealed the matyr from the horror-stricken crowd. One stifled groan arose from that vast multitude, like the moan of the sea; and all was hushed again, save the crackling of the faggots, and at intervals the funeral knell, that smote the very soul. The quivering flames darted upward and around, and an agonizing cry broke from the murky cloud,

"My God! My God! forsake me not, that I forsake not thee!'

"The wind lifted the reddening smoke, like a veil, and the form of the martyr was seen to fall into the fire beneath, that glowed like a furnace seven times heated. In a moment it rose again, its garments all in flame; and again the faint half-somothered cry of agony was heard,

"'My God! My God! forsake me not, that I forsake not thee!

"Once more the quivering body descended into the flames; and once more it was lifted into the air, a blackened burning cinder. Again and again this hellish mockery of baptism was repeated; till the martyr, with a despairing, suffocating voice, exclaimed:

"'O God! I cannot die."

"The chief executioner came forward, and either in mercy to the dying man, or through fear of the populace threw a noose over his neck and strangled the almost lifeless victim. At the same moment the cord which held the body was loosed, and it fell into the fire to rise no more. And thus was consummated the martyrdom of the Baptism of Fire."

The Meteors of November 13, 1833.—Silliman's Journal for July, contains an ingenious article from ALEXANDER C. TWINING, of West Point, Civil Engineer, who coincides with Professor Olmsted, of Yale College, in his leading positions on this subject, as put forth in an able dissertation contained in two former numbers of the same journal, viz. that the Meteors derived their existence from a cause beyond the region of the earth's atmosphere; that they were impelled or projected with immense velocity; that they became luminous by entering into the atmosphere, and were consumed or dissipated by their motion through it. But Mr. Twining goes further, and from data tolerably satisfactory, calculates the velocity of a particular meteor when it entered the atmosphere, its height when it became luminous as seen from the earth's surface, and also when it became extinct. His conclusions are, that this particular meteor, and probably all the meteors, entered the atmosphere with a velocity not less, but perhaps greater, than fourteen miles in a second, that they became luminous many miles from the earth—in this case over 80 miles; and became extinct high above the surface, in this case nearly thirty miles. He also hints that they had an orbit of revolution around the sun, interior to the orbit of the earth; that if they have an orbit, they must also have a period, and ought again to encounter the earth, at some future time, or even to have encountered it in time past, in the same part of its orbit—that is, at the same season of the year. He then refers to the facts, that the meteors of 1799, seen by Humboldt at Cumana, and by Ellicott in the vicinity of the United States, and those of 1832, seen at Mocha and in Switzerland, and on the Atlantic, appeared at the same annual period with those of 1833—that is, the 12th and the 13th of November, and adds;

"This twice repeated coincidence, in the month and day of the month, as it has been remarked already, would make further doubt respecting the celestial origin of the meteors irrational, but for a limitation not to be neglected, namely, the necessity of ascertaining, before we adopt an hypothesis in full, that it will certainly explain all the phenomena. The whole question has, by this time, reduced itself to an astronomical problem, resting upon several conditions. We shall state the conditions, without knowing whether they can be fulfilled or not. * * * * It is required so to arrange a system, or cloud, of meteoric bodies in an orbit around the sun, that it shall, at stated periods, encounter the earth; and that the disturbing force of the latter shall draw a part of them only from their orbit; and give to them such motions as to account—

1st. For the appearance of the meteors, in small numbers, early in the evening of Nov. 12th;

2d. For the stationary situation of the radiant, for two hours at least, on the morning of the 13th, and its observed position in the heavens;

3d. For the change of declination, relatively to a change of latitude, while the position in right ascension was unvaried;

4th. For a relative velocity of the meteors, of from about 14 to 20 miles a second;

5th. For an Eastward motion of the whole meteoric shower, equal to the velocity of the earth's rotation, for a part of the time at least of its duration, as observed in different years and places by Humboldt, Captain Parker, and Captain Briggs;

6th. For a duration of the meteoric shower, less than a day, at the utmost."

Noble Sentiments.—Lord Erskine was distinguished through life, for his independence of principle, for his integrity, and for his scrupulous adherence to truth. He once explained the rule of his conduct, which ought to be generally known and adopted. It ought to be deeply engraven on every heart. He said: It was the first command and counsel of my youth, always to do what my conscience told me to be a duty and to leave the consequences to God. I shall carry with me the memory, and I trust the practice of this paternal lesson to the grave. I have hitherto followed it, and have no reason to complain that my obedience to it has been even a temporal sacrifice. I have found it on the contrary, the road to prosperity and wealth, and I shall point it out as such to my children.

Mr. & Mrs. Hamilton's

BOARDING SCHOOL

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

THIS Institution is situated in the most healthful and pleasant part of the city, corner of Saratoga and Courtland sts. Baltimore.

After having conducted an extensive Boarding school for young ladies, for several years in North Carolina and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton removed to this city in 1831, and opened a Seminary for young Ladies, upon a scientific plan, which has received an almost unprecedented patronage.

Mr. & Mrs. H. have liberally provided their school with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction. Their philosophical apparatus is equal to any other that can be found in private Seminaries in this country, and their chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their cabinet of minerals though small yet contains upwards of 700 specimens. Their Seminary is also furnished with an Armillary Sphere, Cary's, Wilson's and Gardner's Globes, several Pianos and a harp. Mr. & Mrs. H. beg leave to remark, that the instruments they possess, are the best they could procure in this country or in England.

The Library contains upwards of 1500 volumes of the best authors, as connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have general access.

In all the departments the most competent teachers have been engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals.

The course of instruction in this institution, is carried on in a regular and continued system of academic studies embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches necessary to a complete course of female education.

Parents and guardians who wish for more particular information, can obtain a prospectus of the seminary by applying to the editor.

WALDIE'S
CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

BUBBLES FROM THE BRUNNENS OF NASSAU.

A description of the fashionable watering places in Germany, by and old man, will form the commencement of the fourth volume of Waldie's Library.

This will be followed, at an early day, by the Memoirs of Henry Masers de la Tude, who was confined for thirty-five years in the different State Prisons in France, now first translated into English.

The works published in the current volume, now on the point of completion, are the following:—

Kruitzner, or the German's Tale, a novel, by the author of Canterbury Tales.

Memoirs of Sir James Campbell, of Ardkinglass, written by himself: a very piquant book, containing anecdotes of most of the distinguished individuals of the last sixty years.

Good Sir Walter; a Tale, by the author of Family Portraits.

The Broken Heart; a dramatic sketch, from the Italian.

Rome in the Nineteenth Century; in a series of letters written during a residence in that city, by a Lady.

The Deaf and Dumb Page: a Tale.

Anecdotes of the Court of Louis the XIV. by the Duke of St. Simon.

The Black Watch; an historical novel, by the author of the Dominie's Legacy; &c. &c. One of the best novels, say the London Magazines, of the present day

Tudor's new book of Travels in Mexico and Cuba.

Allan Cunningham's Biographical and Critical History of Literature for the last fifty years.

Helen, a Novel, by Maria Edgeworth.

Journal of a West India Proprietor, kept during a residence in the Island of Jamaica, by the late Matthew G. Lewis, Esq. M. P. author of tne Monk, &c.

The Curate's Tale, or Practical Joking; from a new work entitled Nights of the Round Table.

The Three Westminster Boys, or Cowper, Lord Chancellor Thurlow, and Warren Hastings, contrasted; from the same.

A Narrative of the Shipwreck of the Antelope at Pelew, in 1783, and a brief but accurate account of Prince Le Boo.

All the above, cost in the "Library" but $2,50!!!

Office No. 207 Chesnut street, below 7th.

Subscriptions to Waldie's Select Circulating Library, which is published every week, at $5 per annum, thankfully received by

A RUNAWAY

WAS Committed to the Jail of Baltimore City and County, on the 8th day of August, 1834, by Abraham De Grofft, Esq a Justice of the Peace, in and for Baltimore county, as a runaway, a dark mulatto Woman, who calls herself HARRIET ADDISON, says she was born free, and was raised by her aunt, Judy Nelson, who lived in Hyatstown, eight miles from New Market, Maryland. Said mulatto womman is about 25 years of age, 5 feet 4¾ inches high, has a small scar on the left of her nose, small mole near the corner of her right eye, and one over her left eye, scar on the middle finger of her left hand. Had on when committed, a blue calico frock, linen apron, yellow cotton handkerchief on her neck, light striped handkerchief on her head, and pair of old stuff shoes. She has a child with her called Mary Jane, about 6 years old, a bright mulatto.

The owner (if any) of the above described mulatto woman is requested to come forward, prove property, pay charges and take her away; otherwise she will be discharged according law.
