... ay and Co. and a small addition of Nullifiers united in support of the Bank, that sink of corruption, not because they thought the Bank an interest to the country, or a benefit to the people; no, but to defeat Jackson and the wishes of the people; how like the Feds of old when they traduced Jefferson for the purchase of Lousianna, and wished to go to war for it, and why? to prevent Jefferson from having the credit and honor of uniting it to us and in hopes war would make him and his friends unpopular. And still they are the WHIGS OF THE DAY, witness the deputation sent on to Baltimore to harangue the people in the streets on Sunday, and their meeting in Philadelphia to defend the Bank, and destroy Jackson and his friends. How like the Feds of old, who had their meetings, and shirt tail orations in Annapolis to celebrate the down fall of Bonaparte when we were at war with England because she would then have us single handed to fight. And still they are the WHIGS OF THE DAY; but thanks to a kind providence and a virtuous people, Jackson, like Jefferson, whose ambition is only for the good of his country, has triumphantly succeeded and how similar are they. One destroyed the hopes of the Federalists—the other the hopes of Clay and Co. Let me call your attention to those non descriptive politicians relative to France after France had refused to comply with the treaty. The President made a representation of their conduct to Congress—immediately Clay and Co. began to abuse the President and declared his wish was to go to war and had insulted the honor and dignity of France; their speeches were immediately transmitted to France, which led her to believe we were devided in our opinions and would never demand the money. How like the Feds of old, when England was impressing our Seamen dragging them from their wives and children to make them fight their battles, and when Jefferson remonstrated, and demanded reputation, the Feds, in Congress, openly and vehemently abused the American Government, supported the British nation, and declared they had a right to impress, and without them they could not carry on the war with France, led them to believe we were a divided nation, and war was the result, and still they are the WHIGS OF THE DAY. How much unlike Americans, were those venomous politicians for refusing the supply bill, when France was menacing us, and even sending ships of war on our coast telling us she would not pay the money unless Jackson would make an apology. How like the OLD FEDS and FRIENDS OF ENGLAND who refused to supply the Government with men and money and voted to starve and strip naked the few brave soldiers we had fighting our battles in the last war; and still they are THE WHIGS OF THE DAY. In conclusion allow me to come nearer home. I find the Legislature of our State about to tax the innocent and virtuous people of Baltimore to remunerate some of the owners of the Bank of Maryland who had speculated on the money of the Orphan and widow, and whose houses were destroyed by the Mob. How like the Feds of old who wanted to tax Baltimore to pay Hanson the editor of the Federal Republican who had his property destroyed by a Mob, and they are the Maryland Whigs of the day. Now Mr. Sherwood let me appeal to the honest and virtuous part of the community, let me beg them for the honor, safety and dignity of my beloved country to view impartially the past conduct of the old Federalists, and their new allies. Where is the American but blushes for some of the great men of the nation, to see them oppose every measure of the Goverament, or see them change their opinions and sentiments on all the great leading questions which established the principles of our Government, to see them unite with the OLD FELL DEMONS OF GONE BY DAYS, and for what? to place themselves in power. For a moment view the honest, prudent, and strait forward proceedings of Jefferson see how all his acts have resulted for the benefit of our country, see from what oppression and tyranny he forced us, see the rise and progress of the country, witness what a stand we have taken amidst the powers of Europe. Where then was the thundering eloquence of Clay and Calhoun? on the side of my country, but alas they have fallen, and how low; now behold them destroying the fair fabric they have built. Again, behold Jackson pursuing the honest dictates of a patriotic heart, see him in the evening of his days boldly, and fearlessly, though prudently handing down to posterity that glory for his country for which he unsheathed his youthful sword; see how successful he has been in all his important acts. He has made treaties and peace with all the world, paid off the national debt, and leaves a full treasury, and will retire on the fourth of March full of his country's glory, notwithstanding all the vile abuse of the opposition, yes the opposition composed of a rope of sand unable to last long, and as Judge White justly observes composed of a party of no settled principles, belonging to every political sect, having no common bond of union, save a desire to place themselves in the highest office known to the constitution, and as John Q. Adams so emphatically remarks: "They are so rotten with the corruption of their own elements, that he hails with joy their defeat."

A PLAIN MAN.

Talbot County, March 10th 1836.

*This act has, as will be seen by our paper this morning, been passed by the Legislature, nearly every Whig member voting for, and the Jackson members against it.—ED. WHIG.

From the Richmond Courier and Enq.

The Whig regrets that Mr. Leigh did not resign—because it will be "laid hold of to extend that system of humbug and delusion which is rapidly drawing the country into slavery and consolidation." If the Whig calls the Right of Instruction a humbug, he has for once spoken the truth. Mr. L.'s "resistance" will but extend the excitement, and increase the popular devotion to that fundamental right. Mr. Leigh may change from 1812 to 1836—the Whig may change every hour—but the People of Virginia will not. "Men may change, but principles are eternal."

ANOTHER FALSEHOOD NAILED TO THE COUNTER.—The Patriot of last evening, in noticing the withdrawal of the publishing of the United States laws, from the Charlottesville (Va.) Advocate, says: "The Advocate was, for the last twelve months, the only opposition press throughout the Union, which enjoyed this small patronage at the hands of the Federal Administration." This assertion is not true The Delaware State Journal, the leading opposition paper in Delaware, "has enjoyed" this patronage for the last seven years, and enjoys it at this time and had it not been for "this small patronage," it is believed the Journal would long since have ceased to exist. The Patriot shoud be better acquainted with facts before it undertakes to make charges against the government.—Balt. Rep.

MR. KENDALL.—The Washington Globe of yesterday says:—"We are gratified to state after several weeks of severe indisposition the Postmaster General has so far recovered as to be able partially to resume the duties of his department."

MAGISTRATES COURTS.

This very important alteration in the judicial system of the State, so often agitated in the Legislature, and so frequently called for by petitions from particular sections, has been very deliberately considered, and has finally passed both branches. It is to go into operation some time in May, if we mistake not, and we presume will be ordered to be published in all the country papers. The city of Baltimore is exempt from its operation—having a system of her own before the Legislature.—Annap. Rep.

A FRESH SUPPLY OF GARDEN SEEDS JUST RECEIVED BY T. H. DAWSON & SON.

March 12 3t

A NEW FEATURE.

THE repeated solicitations of many substantial friends, and the belief that the improved state of public taste will fully justify the alteration, have induced the publisher of the Gentleman's Vade Mecum to change one of the least attractive features in the present manner of conducting that periodical. It is well known that he is about commencing, on an improved plan, a monthly work called the Modern Acting Drama, which it was proposed should contain the Plays, &c. which appear in the Vade Mecum, accompanied by suitable embellishments—believing that this publication will in itself fully supply the demand for Dramatic literature, he proposes, in lieu of a republication of the same Plays, Farces, &c. in the Vade Mecum, to substitute the Popular Novels of the old English writers, such as SMOLLETT, FIELDING, RICHARDSON, GOLDSMITH, &c. Beginning with the Life and adventures of Joseph Andrews, and his friend John Adams. No novels of the present day have had such general celebrity, and created so exciting an interest, and though they be found in every Gentleman's library in our Atlantic cities, they are comparatively unknown to the great mass of the lovers of polite literature. Cooke's splendid London edition of these works has been selected to copy from. It is adorned with numerous Engravings; all of which will be carefully copied by a first rate artist of this city, and given in succession with the novels. In order to avoid any difficulty with his present subscribers, the publisher will furnish every one of them that may desire it, the numbers for a year of the Modern Acting Drama, for one dollar additional to the subscription price of the Vade Mecum. It is true that this will scarcely defray the cost of the paper and printing of the former work, but it will enable the publisher to strengthen the attraction of the Vade Mecum, and afford to those attached to Dramatic literature an opportunity of gratifying their taste at a trifling expense.

Renewed effort will be made to render the other departments of the Vade Mecum more attractive than heretofore. Arrangements have been made to procure the earliest Sporting Intelligence, and all information relative to the Affairs of the Turf. Engravings of celebrated Winning Horses will be given every month—and other new and pleasing embellishments are in active preparation. A new series of Portraits of the most beautiful Military Uniforms in the use among the principal Volunteers Corps of Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Baltimore, and elsewhere are about to be commenced. A review of the Prevailing Gentleman's Fashions will be regularly published every quarter. An Epitome of Passing Events, and notices of the prominent Dramatic attractions will as heretofore continue to form a conspicuous and entertaining portion of this journal. Besides which, a considerable space will be allowed for Tales, Poetry, Anecdotes, Legerdemain, Statistics, Agriculture, Fishing, Fowling, Domestic Economy, Valuable Receipts &c.; and re-publication of the most popular ENGLISH AND AMERICAN SPORTING AND NATIONAL SONGS—SET TO MUSIC.

The GENTLEMAN'S VADE MECUM, or SPORTING AND DRAMATIC COMPANION, is published every Saturday, on fine extra-imperial quarto paper, of a superior quality, each number forming eight pages of the largest class, at $3 per annum. Orders from abroad, postage paid, will be promptly attended to, and the paper carefully packed, to prevent it from rubbing by mail. As the number of agents will be limited to principle cities, or such other places where a considerable subscription may be obtained, we request those who propose to patronise the work, to transmit by mail at once to the publisher.—Small notes of solvent banks of the different States, taken at par.

 New subscribers, by enclosing a five dollar note, can be supplied with the Gentleman's Vade Mecum from the commencement of the present volume, and also the Modern Acting Drama for one year—or instead of the latter, they may order the Salmagundi, and News of the Day—the three are entirely distinct works, their contents forming no part of each other.

 A five dollar note will pay for two copies of the Vade Mecum for one year—or two copies of the Modern Acting Drama—or three copies of the Salmagundi, for the same peried.

The subscriber flatters himself from his experience in his line of business, and his personal attention to the same, that he will be able to give general satisfaction to those who may see proper to give him a trial. He has also on hand

New Watches, Watch Chains,
Seals and Keys, Watch Guards,
Silver Thimbles, Silver Ever Pointed Pencils,
Silver Scissor-hooks, Silver Shields,
Plain Gold Rings, Razors, & Razor Straps,
Shaving and Tooth Brushes, Penknives,
Scissors, Percussion Caps, and a variety of other useful articles, all of which he offers at a small advance for cash. He invites his customers and the public in general, to give him a call, view his assortment, and he thinks there is no doubt but they will be induced to purchase.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his customers and the public generally, for the very liberal encouragement he has received at their hands, and still hopes by strict and personal attention to business to receive a portion of the public patronage.

The public's humble servant,

JAMES BENNY.
