Publications .- Last evening a lady Monthly;" and as we found the October number of this publication on our desk Wednesday morning, we gave it a more careful examination than usual to see what makes it so popular. It is certainly wery beautifully gotten up, and the handsome illustrations are not chosen alone for beauty, and to merely "fill up," but are made for a purpose, either to instruct or amuse. But even greater than its artistic merit is its helpfulness; and after going through its numerous departments, we can well see what it must be in the household; for it has information and amusement for every member of the family. If you are undecided what to take the coming year, send 20 cents for a specimen copy of Demorest's Monthly and let it speak for itselt. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th such LOW PRICES as these? Street, New York.

What is precocity? How am I to tell whether my child is forward or backward in his mental calibre? Especially in the case of an only child. this question is often an exceedingly interesting one to parents. I Babyhood for October is an article by Dr. C. L. Dana giving a very complete statement of the average child's capabilities from earliest infancy up, showing a standard by which one may judge pretty correctly, and be guided accordingly. Precocity may require to be held in check, just as the backward child needs to be encouraged and helped.

The October number of Our Little Ones is upon our table. In these cool autumn days when the children must stay indoors this little magazine becomes a very welcome visitor. The stories will please the older ones, and its pretty illustrations will be sure to amuse the little folks. Russell Publishing Co., 36 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.
