Memorial and Personal.—The remains of Henry Oder, father of the editor hereof, lie on the summit of the Blue Ridge, at Linden, in Manassas gap, Va., whence the family removed ten or twelve years ago. A recent suggestion by a distant member took shape and has been perfected in a memorial designed partly to show that though in most instances far removed from the grave, the final resting-place of the dead parent has neither been abandoned nor forgotten. Accordingly the work was placed in the hands of J. B. Williams, of this place—but we will let "Contributor," writing from Linden, Va., Aug. 25, to the Front Royal (Va.) Sentinel tell the story:

The surviving children of the late Henry Oder have recently erected a very pretty monument over his remains at this place. It is an Italian marble structure of unpretentious design, consisting of base, sub-base, die, plinth and pyramidal shaft—the height, taken altogether, 8 feet 8 inches. The sub-base bears upon its western face in raised block letters the name, "Oder," while the die, neatly moulded and paneled by the artist's chisel, carries on its eastern face the inscription:

To the memory of Henry Oder this monument is erected by his children.

The dates of birth and death appear respectively on the southern and northern sides of the die.

The grave and monument are enclosed by a substantial iron fence and are within the bounds of the lot set apart by our Methodist friends as the site of their proposed new church.

The builder of the monument, Mr. John B. Williams, of Frostburg, Md., was here August 11th to 13th to superintend its erection, but it not arriving in time he was compelled to return home and leave it for others to complete, but he had prepared his work with such precision that those whom he left to erect it had no difficulty. Mr. Williams may well be proud of his work, for it shows the builder is a master in his line.

The gentleman to whom Mr. Williams left the completion of his work was E. J. Hotchkiss, father of Dr. George E. Hotchkiss, a popular young physician of Barton, this county. "Contributor's" letter leads the JOURNAL to believe that the family owes him very many obligations.

Schools.—The public schools opened Monday with a fair attendance.

A racket was raised at No. 1 by the assignment of Miss Jessie G. Macbeth to charge of a grade below her estimate of her deserts. Notice was given to the principal that she would abdicate unless permitted to fix her own status. Prof. Doub would not give way. Then the examiner was appealed to, and he requested Miss Venie Fuller as a favor to him to go down that Miss Macbeth might rise. Miss Fuller very courageously declined. The place was declared vacant by Prof. Doub, and Miss Estelle Jeffries was subsequently appointed to fill it.

Miss Lillie Wasmuth takes the place of Miss Estelle Jeffries at Borden Mines.

Miss May McCulloh opened last Monday a private school in the building formerly occupied by Dr. T. J. Grahame. Miss May is popular, capable, enterprising; she will succeed in pleasing her patrons and advancing her pupils.

A Pleasant Hop.—A number of young men gave a very enjoyable hop at Moat's Opera House Thursday evening of last week. The following ladies were present:

Misses Lavinia Heintz, Ella Heintz, Annie Raley, Mary Raley, Laura Raley, Martha Jandorf, Dora King, Lizzie Gerlach, Sallie Bear, Hannah Bear, Jennie Spitznos, Laura Spitznos, Mrs. J. L. Heintz, Mrs. Thomas G. Dillon, of this place; Misses Rose Greenwade, of Keyser, and Fannie Burkhart, of Piedmont.

The gentlemen:

Messrs. J. L. Heintz, N. T. Hocking, John Pfeiffer, Thomas G. Dillon, Henry Jandorf, Julius Jandorf, William Davis, George Rieder, Richard Wildermam, Moses Keller, Owen Price, Duncan Shaffer, Charles Wright, Moses Bear, William Kalmyes, of this place, and Messrs. Harry Kelso, of Cumberland, and Ezra Deal, of Pennsylvania.

Near midnight a bountiful collation of substantials and delicacies was served, and those who enjoyed it report that it was elegant. The caterer was Charles Reichenbach.

Journalistic.—J. Brooke McGann has resigned his position on the Cumberland Times to accept one in the business department of the Baltimore Morning Herald. Mr. McGann is a capable, deserving worker, and the JOURNAL predicts for him success and promotion.

The Cumberland Independent has passed into the hands of Robert Macdonald, lately associated with the News. Mr. M. is a newspaper man of considerable experience. The JOURNAL groups itself among those numerous friends of the Independent's new editor who believe as well as hope that he will achieve signal success.

MINING JOURNAL.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

FROSTBURG, MD., SEPTEMBER 15, 1888.

LOCALS IN MINION.

Publications.—"Isadore's Goat" is a charming story opening Our Little Ones for September. "The Singing Mice" is a poem with a moral. "The Helpful Boy" is interesting to both boys and girls. "Nissie at the Lake," "Ever so many Hats," "Frisky" and "The Yoked Kittens" are entertaining stories, and combine with pretty poems and charming illustrations to complete an exceptionally fine number of this little magazine. Russell Publishing Co., 36 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

Trifet's Monthly Galaxy of Music for September is upon our table. Both vocal and instrumental selections are good. Among the former we notice "By the Sad Sea Waves," "The Clang of the Wooden Shoon," "In the Gloaming," etc. Among the instrumental pieces are "Blue Bells of Scotland," (variations) "Corn Flower Waltzes," "Funeral March," Violet Waltz," and others. 10 cents a number; $1 a year. F. Trifet, Publisher, 408 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

The question: "What Makes Baby Cry so?" is discussed by Dr. Patton in the September number of Babyhood, and if it is not finally solved, at least several valuable suggestions are offered to perplexed mothers. "The Right and Wrong Use of Drugs," by Dr. Crandall, is an equally interesting article. It discriminates clearly between drugs that may be safely used in the home treatment of the minor ailments of children and those which are only safe in the physician's hands. An editorial paragraph enters a vigorous protest against the dissemination of a certain class of pseudo-medical literature professing to teach "painless child-birth" through the avoidance of "bone-forming foods." The dangerous consequence of following this pernicious advice are pointed out. Other medical topics discussed are: "A Confirmed Habit of Stumbling," "Night-sweats after Confinement," "Worms," "Removing a Birth Mark," etc., etc. An unusually large number of illustrated "Nursery Helps and Novelties"—including a hammock for indoors, a medicine pocket, a combination of bath-tub and cot-bed, a novel crib—as well as interesting letters on "Helping Nature Curl the Hair," "A Wasting Baby," The Injustice of Haste," etc., etc., go to make up a number of Babyhood which ought to be found in every well-regulated nursery. 15 cents a number; $1.50 a year. Babyhood Publishing Co., 5 Beekman St., New York.

A BIG MISTAKE CORRECTED!

SOME persons have reported and others believed that I intend removing from here.

In order to set everyone right I would emphatically say

THIS IS A MISTAKE!

I am here to stay, and have just returned from the eastern markets with the largest most fashionable, and cheapest stock of

CLOTHING, GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS, CARPETS, OILCLOTHS TRUNKS, SATCHELS, HATS AND CAPS,

Ever brought to a single establishment in our county. Moreover, as I am cramped for room to store all my goods, I will sell every article at about 6 per cent. profit—at least for the next thirty days.

I have not time nor space to put all on paper; therefore, I have mentioned but a few articles in order that you may appreciate and realize that all should come—not wait, but come at once and examine goods and prices. No one in want of goods, will leave my store without buying, but you should come right along before the rush begins and the assortment is broken.

☞All persons coming by rail buying goods of me will have their fare paid both ways.

Don't forget that my place is opposite C. F. Nickel's furniture store—the first clothing store as you come from the depot. Thankful for past favors, I am respectfully,
