MINING JOURNAL.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

J. B. ODER.....PROPRIETOR.

Frostburg, Md., November 3, 1888.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL ITEMS

Personal.—Miss Annie Pearson, of Bedford, Pa., is visiting the family of John Hart.

Mrs. George A. Wingert has returned to her home, Asheville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Greene, of New York, spent a few days last and this week at the family homestead, Borden mine. Mr. Greene is treasurer of the Borden mining company, the oldest and among the staunchest of our list of strong coal corporations.

Speaking of "floppers," G. Robert Cooper, former attache of the JOURNAL was, when here, an ardent republican. He is now stumping Baltimore city for the democratic ticket.

John Davis, formerly mining boss of Borden mine, has been appointed to succeed the late David Griffiths as boss of the old Consolidation mine. He will fill the bill perfectly; in fact, he would give complete satisfaction in a higher position.

Charles A. Smeltz, of Youngstown, Ohio, is here on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smeltz. He looks well and prospers deservedly.

The Cumberland Times of last Saturday says "Dr. J. M. Porter, of Frostburg, was in the city to-day."

The Elk Garden (W. Va.) correspondent of the Cumberland Times says "Mrs. Kight has returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Frostburg."

Brevities.—The art classes of Frostburg are quite busy on a study of still life. It is a "Harvey" ham, boiled and skun, and garnished with cloves, with here and there an island of pepper, recumbent on Reichenbach's inside lunch counter.

Henry Jandorf has secured the agency for the simplest and best Copying Book we have seen. "Requires no press, brush, moisture pad or water," and is dirt cheap.

Company D was engaged yesterday in draping the armory in mourning on account of the death of W. T. Hamilton, ex-governor and commander-in-chief of the Maryland militia.

Titus A. Brick was in town the other day to give the JOURNAL some election pointers from an independent standpoint, but he got on a high old lonesome before he reached these headquarters, and the JOURNAL is now unable to wager anything on either side.

For some time the two brightest planets, Jupiter and Venus, have been approaching each other in the western sky. Monday evening they will conjoin and Jupiter pass to the westward. The new moon is in the same neighborhood, and, astrologically speaking, the conjunction of three benign bodies is auspicious particularly for one of the vice-presidential nominees.

The Merits of Vestibuled Trains.—The chief merit claimed for the Vestibule appliance is that it effectually prevents telescoping of cars in case of collision, and the second great advantage lies in the fact that the new device entirely overcomes the swaying motion imparted to ordinary trains when rounding curves at high speed. The Limited Express running via B. & O. R. R. between Philadelphia and Chicago is composed entirely of Vestibuled Cars, the Baggage Cars, Day Coaches, Dining Car and Pullman Sleepers all being fitted with Pullman's Patent Vestibules.

All cars in the train are heated by steam drawn from the locomotive. Porters are in attendance in the Day Coaches, as well as in the Sleepers, to look after the wants of passengers. The entire train runs through without change between Philadelphia and Chicago via Washington and Baltimore, and no extra fare is exacted from passengers holding tickets of any class.

The B. & O. Vestibuled Limited leaves Cumberland at 3:05 p. m., daily, for Chicago, and at 1:10 p. m., daily, for Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Election.—A newspaper item states that—

Secretary of State LeCompte Saturday sent to the different clerks of court in the counties copies of the registration and election laws of 1888 for distribution at the various polling places on election day. The circular accompanying the pamphlets states they were printed at the suggestion of Gov. Jackson "in consequence of the many changes and for the information of the judges and other election officers.

These copies should be in the hands of the judges quick as possible, so that before Tuesday they could familiarize themselves with their duties.

Teachers' Institute.—The Frostburg Teachers' Institute held its regular meeting Friday evening, Oct. 26. The official report is appended:

The roll was called and the following teachers answered:

Misses Lee, Fuller, Dando, Jeffries, Thomas, Bath, Maurey, Wilderman, Taylor, Porter, King, McAllister, Baker, Shearer, Farridy, Williams, and Messrs. Daub, DeWitt, Purnell, Stotler and Browning.

After disposing of the programme the Institute adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

E. A. BROWNING, Secretary.

Married.—In St. Michael's church, this place, by Rev. D. C. DeWulf, with a nuptial Mass, Tuesday, October 30, 1888, at 7:30 a. m., Mr. PETER FRANCIS CARROLL and Miss JANE AGNES RAFFERTY, both of Frostburg.

The Sick.—Edward Price, lately hurt by a fall of coal, is going about again.

Joseph Knode is improving every day.

J. J. Keller is also on the mend.

Religious.—During the visit of Cardinal Gibbons to this county he confirmed 1,100.

Rev. J. M. Nourse, of Alexandria, Va., will preach in the Presbyterian church to-morrow, 4th inst., morning and evening at the usual hours.

Out of the County.—At Piedmont Monday morning the Sims House took fire from a defective flue, and considerable loss ensued through the inconsiderate action of a generous but excited crowd. The B. & O. fire department put an end to the flames in short order. The Sims House is known all over the United States as one of the best country hotels on the continent. Capt. J. P. A. Eutler's name as a host is a household word far and wide, and his numberless friends everywhere, while regretting the inconvenience to which he has been subjected, will be glad to learn that his loss is partially indemnified by insurance.

"Pleased to Make Correction."—The inteligent correspondent of the Cumberland News at Barton writes:

The Frostburg JOURNAL says:

At Barton the Young Men's Christian Improvement Association and Literary Bureau of General Information has succumbed.

For once in its life the JOURNAL has been misinformed, and we know it will be pleased to make correction to the effect that the B. I. Associaiton has remodeled its room with new carpet, new wall paper, ceiling kalsomined, with beautiful centre piece, by our home artist, A. S. Small. There is an increase of membership; the finances are in good shape. Every paper in the county is furnished free of charge, thus cultivating a literary taste in our young men in a nice comfortable room, free from the evil, vulgar and profane influences of the saloon, with its downward and degrading tendencies.

The correspondent correctly guages the JOURNAL's desire to be accurate; also its pleasure to learn that the B. I. Association still affords with increased attractiveness the literary entertainment of the young. Its purpose and tendency are good, and it should not only not be permitted to go down, but held up as an effective example for adoption by other places in this county.

But, concluding as it begun, the JOURNAL is more than gratified that its constant and consistent wish to be just is patent to a Barton gentleman of evidently sound discrimination. He appears to know the JOURNAL as well as if he had gone through it with a lantern.

A BIG MISTAKE CORRECTED!

SOME persons have reported and others believed that I intend removing from here.

In order to set everyone right I would emphatically say

THIS IS A MISTAKE!

I am here to stay, and have just returned from the eastern markets with the largest most fashionable, and cheapest stock of

CLOTHING,
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
CARPETS, OILCLOTHS TRUNKS, SATCHELS, HATS AND CAPS,

Ever brought to a single establishment in our county. Moreover, as I am cramped for room to store all my goods, I will sell every article at about 6 per cent. profit—at least for the next thirty days.

I have not time nor space to put all on paper; therefore, I have mentioned but a few articles in order that you may appreciate and realize that all should come—not wait, but come at once and examine goods and prices. No one in want of goods, will leave my store without buying, but you should come right along before the rush begins and the assortment is broken.

☞All persons coming by rail buying goods of me will have their fare paid both ways.

Don't forget that my place is opposite C. F. Nickel's furniture store—the first clothing store as you come from the depot. Thanking for past favors, I am respectfully,
May 12 M. WINELAND.
