My Dearest sister

I must confess that when two letters came from you, and you did not even send your love to me. that I felt hurt. I am not now even a little angry with you I have no cause; and when I reflect that you, and I, are the only ones left of our branch of the family I can tell you that I hope that anger will never be felt by me towards you. I feel deeply the anxious concern you take in all things where I am concerned. I have given up the daily to Anna's management and I shall not stop till I get employment of some kind for my self. I hope and trust that I now see fully the error of not doing even should there is my dear sister more said of me than is true, a great deal more. I hope and trust
