

Parsonage Feb 23^d 1850

My Dear Sir

I am obliged to avail myself of your kindness & beg the loan of ten dollars for a month or two, when I hope to be able to return it. I make this request reluctantly for it seems almost like imposing upon your goodness. but having exhausted my funds, I find myself in want of some little comforts. To be without other resource at present

Sincerely & affectly
Henry Brown
