

The Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil,

A MONTHLY AGRICULTURAL JOURNAL,

Of 64 closely printed pages, numerous illustrated.

TERMS, (payable in advance.)

Single Subscribers	• • • • •	$3 00 per annum
Two	• or 2 copies •	5 00 "
Five	• " 5 " •	10 00 "

NEW-YORK: MYRON FINCH, Publisher.

9 SPRUCE STREET.

Every Subscriber to The Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil, is earnestly desired to aid in extending its circulation, and also to contribute any thing to its pages that will interest its readers.

Gray's Steam Print.

New-York, June 13th 1853.

Mr. Col Jno. Gilphman Centerville Md-

In The Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil, Dr.

For Subscription 3 Year 1 from July, 1851, to July, 1854, $ 9. 00

RECEIVED PAYMENT,

O. F. Parker

for the PUBLISHER.

"I have long been familiar with that periodical [The Plough, the Loom, and the Anvil,] and considering it one of the most useful, valuable, and practical publications in this country, I most heartily wish it success under its new auspices."—Hon. Henry Clay, in a Letter to the Publisher.

"Mr. CAREY conducts this part of the work, [the Politico-Economical Department,] and is pouring a flood of light over the combined interests of Agriculture, Manufactures, and the Mechanic Arts."—Hon. Truman Smith, U. S. Senator from Connecticut.