

8. How long should the ground after a crop, lay under clover planted, to recover without manure, the exhaustion occasions thereby?

9. When you manure land of a given quality, be pleased to state the strength by the rule in the 7.th Query, and the kind of manure and number of loads to the acre?

10. What quantity of tobacco, relatively to given quantities of wheat and corn will an acre produce?

11. How much tobacco ought a good hand to produce in addition to raising a sufficiency of corn for the consumption of the farm & laying the same good down to wheat?

12. Is it best to manure to make tobacco the chief crop, & grain the auxiliary crop, or to reverse the proposition?

13. Is it best to make hills for the plants, or merely to check the ground out by the plough?

14. How many plants to the acre do you put on, and state the strength of the land? and is the quality of the tobacco better, when the plants attain a large or small size, allowing that they have time fully to mature? Do small plants or those planted thick, mature sooner than those