Dear Mr. Emory:

Thank you for your letter of March 5 with a revised genealogy of the Emory family. It is very useful, indeed, to have the corrections in the record of this family which you have been able to make. We shall be pleased to add this manuscript to our permanent collection on the Emory family.

With reference to possible publication, it would not be wise to reprint so much of what has already been made available in the past through our Magazine. The cardinal rule of our Magazine is to publish original material. Once printed in the Magazine, information is always available in libraries, more than one hundred of which maintain complete files in different parts of the country.

We would suggest that you set forth in a short article the corrections you have made in the paper published in 1928, and let us print them in an early issue.

Cordially yours,

James W. Foster
