

My dear Susan I received your note yesterday containing the cambric and edging for your chemise, but the girls think they could not possibly finish the ruffling, put it on and send them to you in time to be washed, then again we find such difficulty in getting a safe conveyance that we all think we had better send the chemise by Sam who we expect down to-day, let you take them with you plain and trim them when you return home.

I am rejoiced that you are going to Bedford, I had hoped to see you before you went, Uncle Charles intended up to Needwood and I proposed asking him to come this way and take me to see you, but he has deferred his visit until after Julie Paca's marriage which I believe takes place next Wednesday, you will then be gone. Uncle Charles and Aunt Mary spent the day yesterday with me, they are both quite well. Do write to me, give me your direction and I will certainly answer your letters.

All unite in best love to you, Mary and Kate.

I received a note from you some days ago with one to Price which I sent to him immediately —

Since I wrote this note Marianna Paca has been in to invite us to be present at Julie's marriage, at old Mye church on Wednesday morning, if the girls can get a conveyance I wish them to go, it is to be very private. Now Marianna ~~to~~ feels parting with Julie very very much —
