

New York

May 2-1919

Re: Adolph Jassy + R.E. Headley

I had an interview with the above at Mr. Jassy's office yesterday and told them we were not willing to go into the Headley deal. That if he was willing to give us options on his properties in Venezuela and time to prospect them that I was going down and would do it, but that we did not care to retain his services on his trip to London.

He says he expects to sail on the next trip of the Baltic some time this E. If you are in N.Y. in the future I would advise you looking might be a good idea to offer part of his expenses while he is in New York say $300 - or 400 - it would make him friendly to us. Make it a straight cash transaction with no strings. Headley is a peculiar combination of cordedness and ego the flattery of his ability will run a long way. It is difficult