

Company in the matter?

A The Demerara Bauxite Company appealed the case.

MR. SMITH: I object to that as incompetent and irrelevant for the same reason. Are we going to have now the trial in the appellate court described by this witness?

MR. WHITELEY: I think we can connect the facts, Mr. Examiner.

THE EXAMINER: I am going to let you answer, Mr. Emery.

MR. SMITH: Will your Honor grant us an exception?

THE EXAMINER: Yes.

THE WITNESS: They appealed the case to the West Indian Court of Appeals.

BY MR. WHITELEY:

Q Where was that court located?

A The Court sits in British Guiana, at Trinidad, Barbados, on various occasions.

Q When was this case tried?

A It was tried in British Guiana.

Q Can you tell us about when the decision was rendered in the West Indian Court of Appeals?

A I could not give you that date without referring to the records of the court, I mean the public record of the court. I think it was about six months later.

Q Have you, Mr. Emery, the official record of the court containing these proceedings?
