

raw material for the production of aluminum would the Uihlein's have been in.

MR. SMITH: I object to that as generally incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial: second, as not in any wise covered by any charge in the complaint.

THE EXAMINER: Now, Mr. Emery, were you negotiating with the government of British Guiana in this section opposite that which you are describing now for the purpose of acquiring that land, that bauxite ore deposits, for the same purpose that you spoke of this morning?

A I was.

THE EXAMINER: I will let you answer the question, then.

MR. SMITH: We may have an exception?

THE EXAMINER: Yes. Go ahead.

A In my opinion they would have had sufficient ore in order to embark in quite a comprehensive program for the manufacture of aluminum.

BY MR. WHITELEY:

Q And state whether or not that answer takes into consideration the other deposit that you have already acquired title to .

A It takes into consideration the other deposit.

THE EXAMINER: Does this map show the Christianburg place?

THE WITNESS: Let me see it.
