

I might say that owing to the fact that the parts of the world in which bauxite is found is very large. That there is still a possibility of such a deposit being unearthed. I mean in my opinion it has not all been found.

Q My question was restricted to the known deposits?

A I gather that, but I did not want the statement to be quite as sweeping as it appeared.

Q You meant to restrict your answer to the known deposits, did you?

A I did, yes.

Q How do you know whether the Uihlein or the Republic Carbon Company carried on any negotiations for the acquisition of the water power rights in connection with this matter of going into the production of aluminum?

MR. SMITH: I object to that, first, as generally incompetent and irrelevant, and second, as not included in the complaint.

THE EXAMINER: Go on.

MR. SMITH: Will you allow us an exception.

THE EXAMINER: Yes.

A I was not present at any such negotiations.
