

Cyl. 37

MR. WHITELEY: Counsel may see the connection some of these days.

BY MR. WHITELEY:

Q Where were these deposits situated that you were asked to investigate?

MR. SMITH: I object to that as incompetent and irrelevant generally, and second, as being in nowise a matter that is embraced in this complaint and we call the Examiner's attention to the fact that we are now talking about negotiations in 1913.

THE EXAMINER: It is rather antiquated, but I will let you go on.

MR. SMITH: The complaint says within two years.

MR. WHITELEY: I will say that I am asking these questions to show the experience of the witness, Mr. Neilsen, being the bauxite expert of the Aluminum Company of America or was at the time, as testified to by Mr. Gibbons. I trust the matter is now made plain to counsel.

MR. SMITH: It is not made plain at all.

THE EXAMINER: I am taking the witness here as an expert on bauxite, Mr. Whiteley. If you are going to qualify him further you will know that I am taking him as what he said, as being fully qualified.

MR. WHITELEY: I merely wanted to follow along
